WESTON WAS

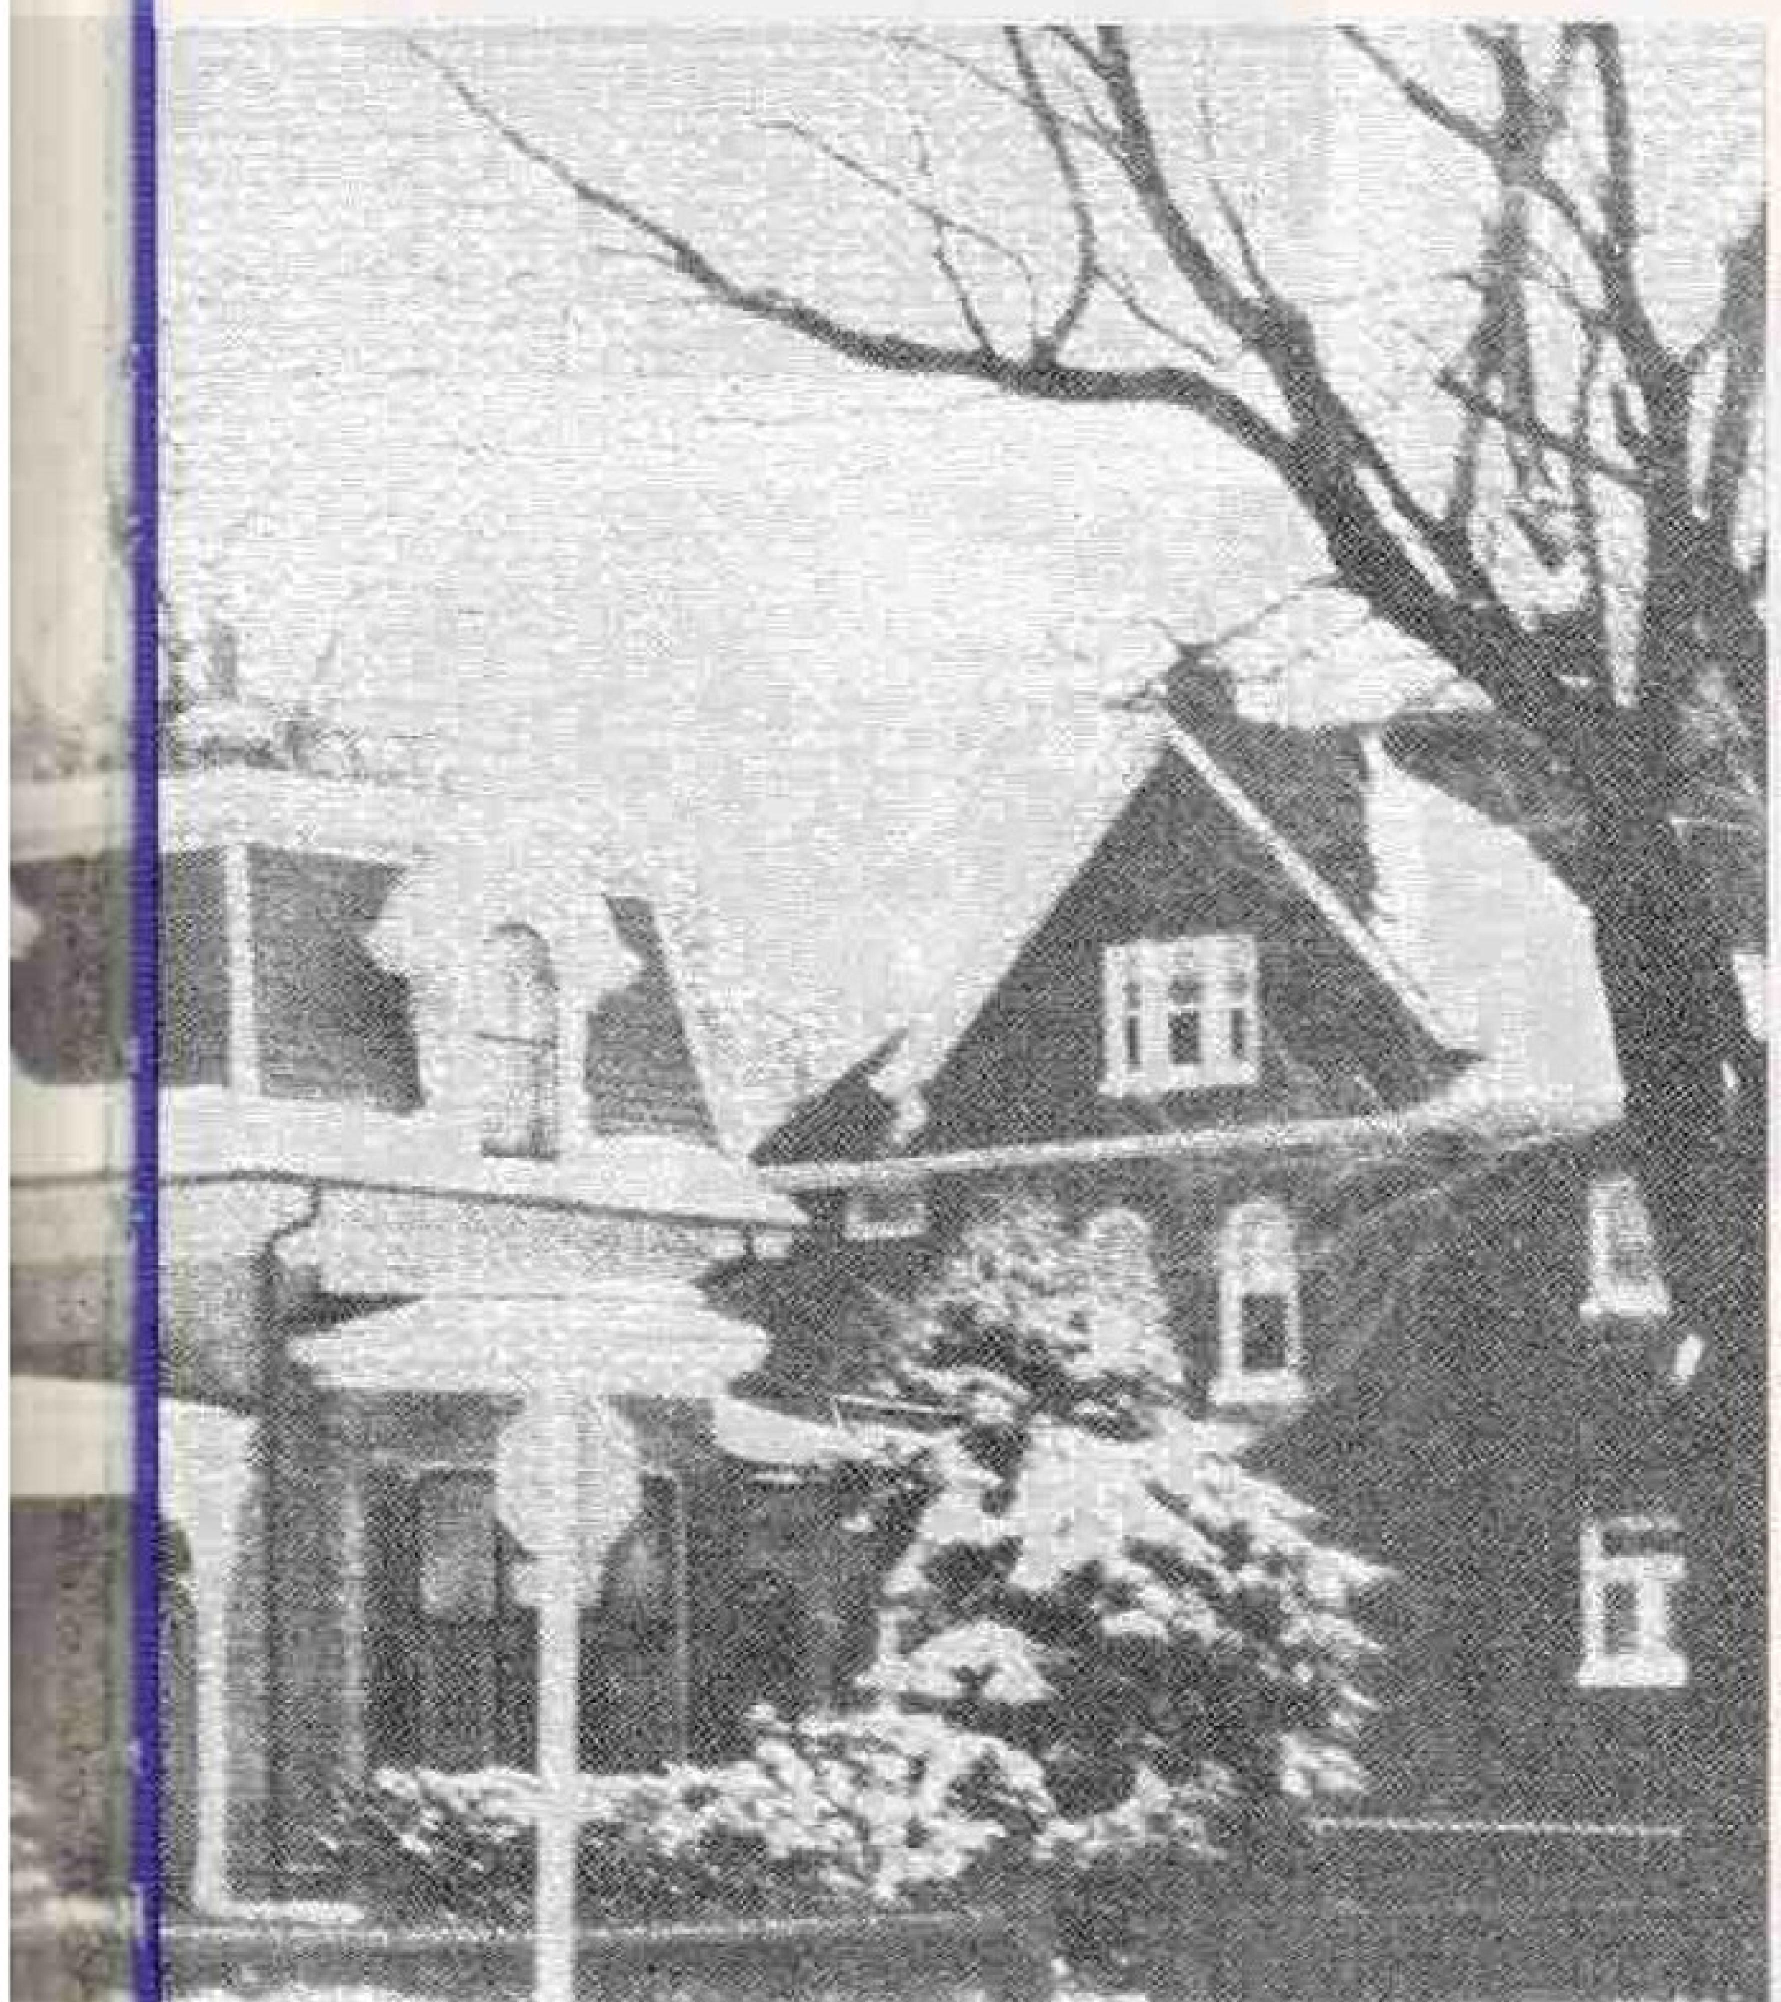

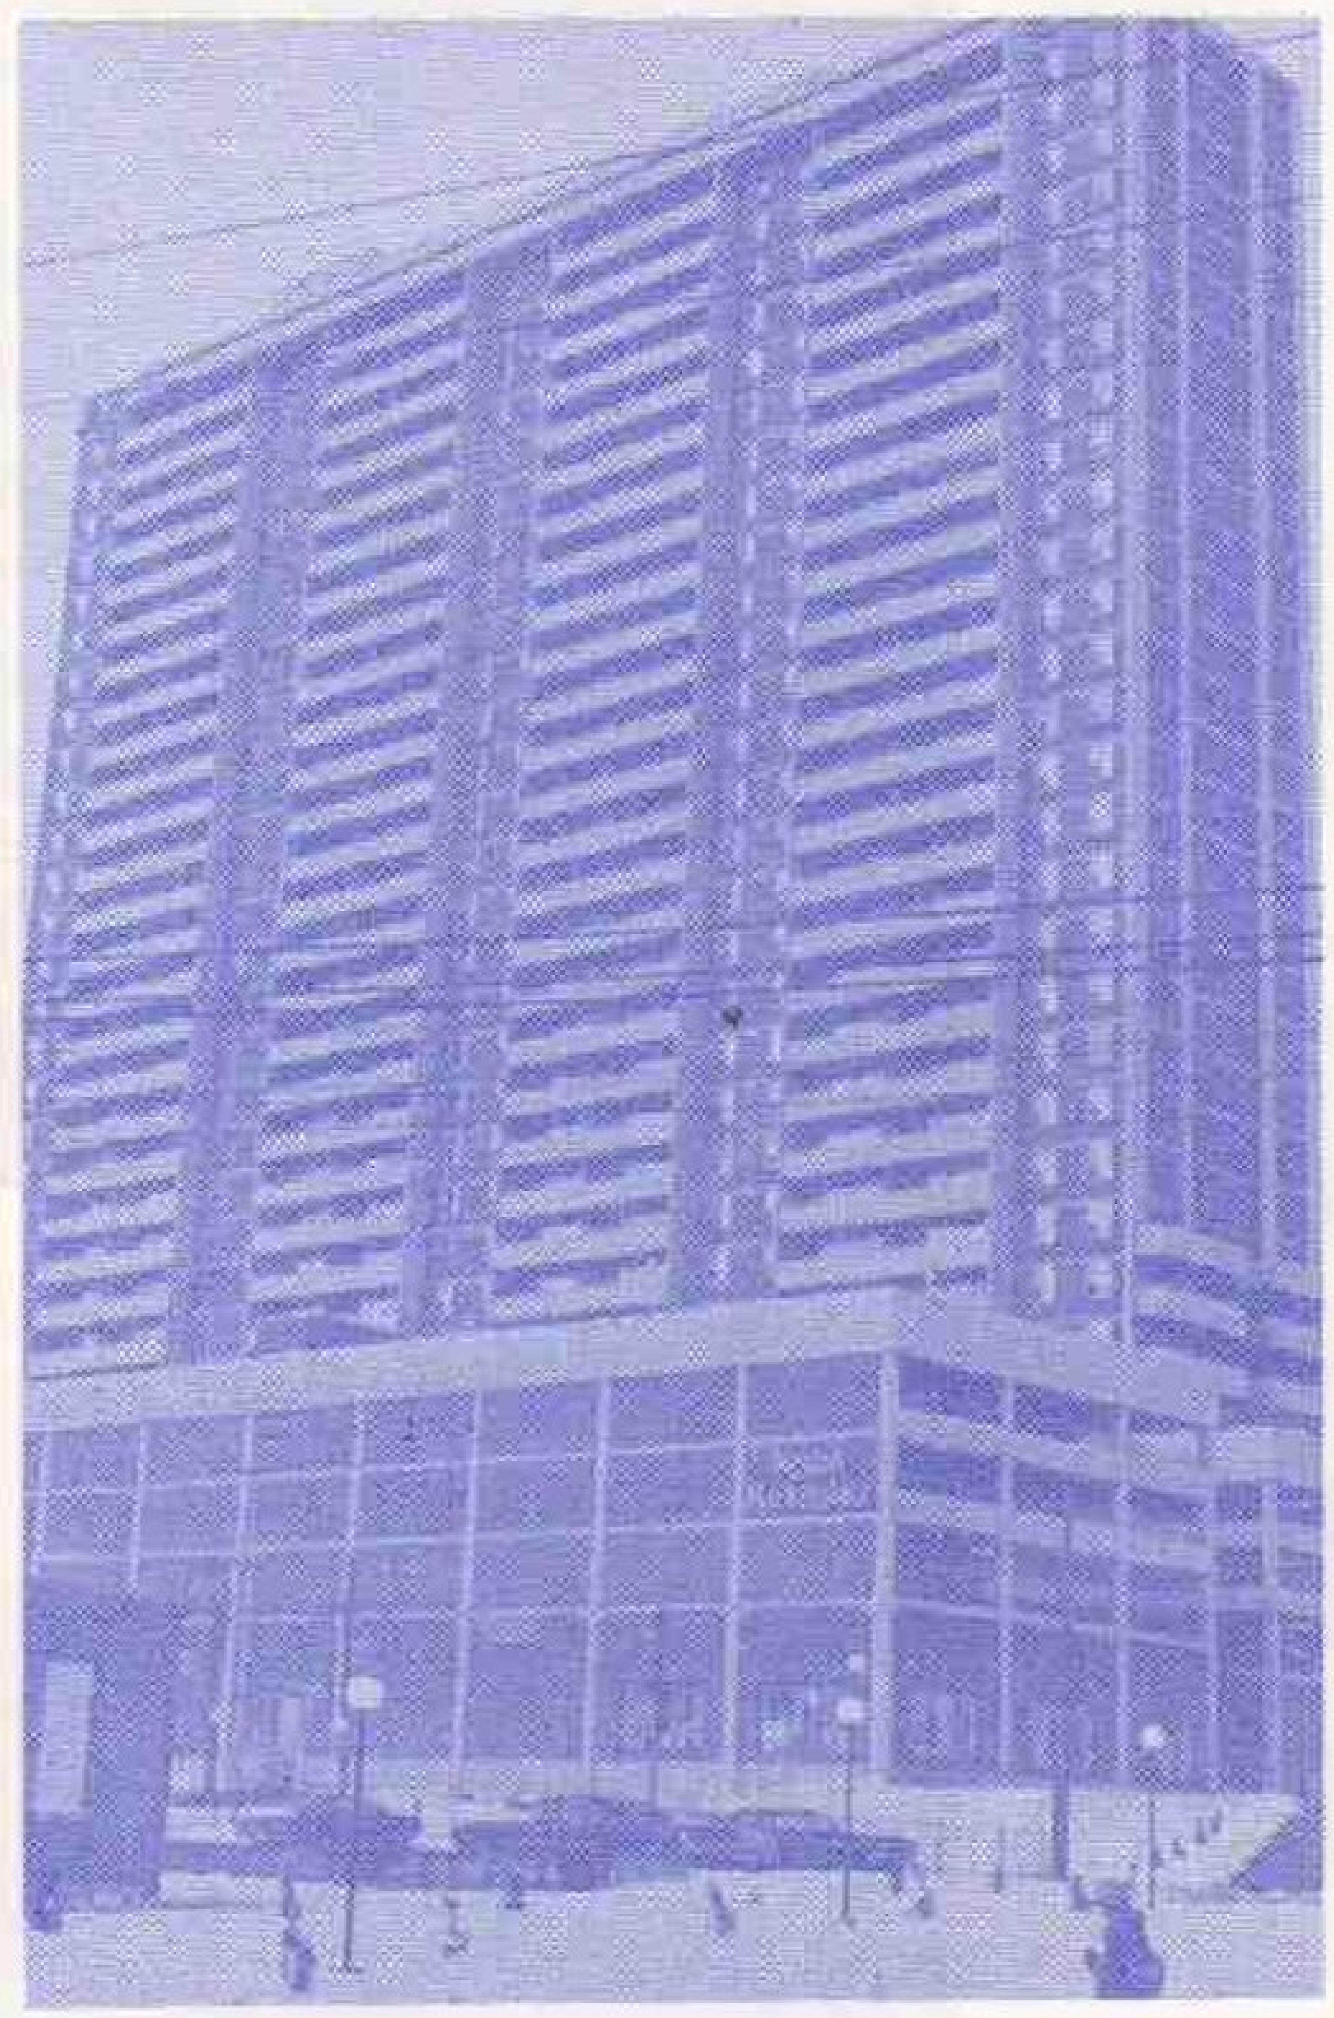

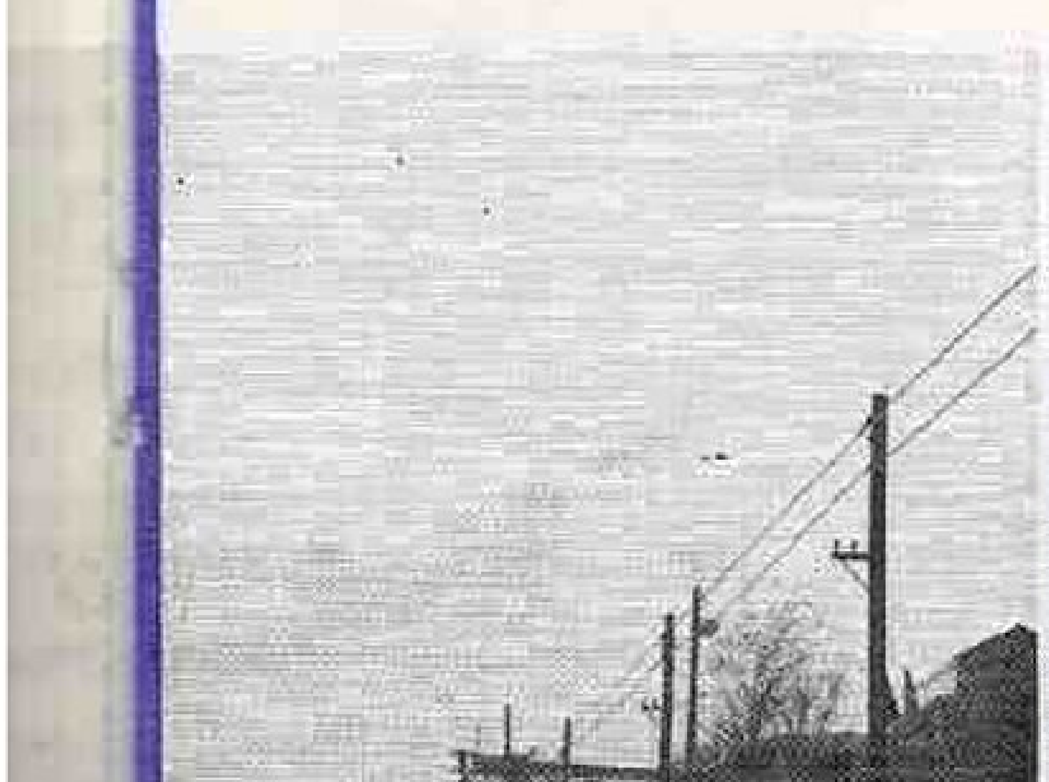

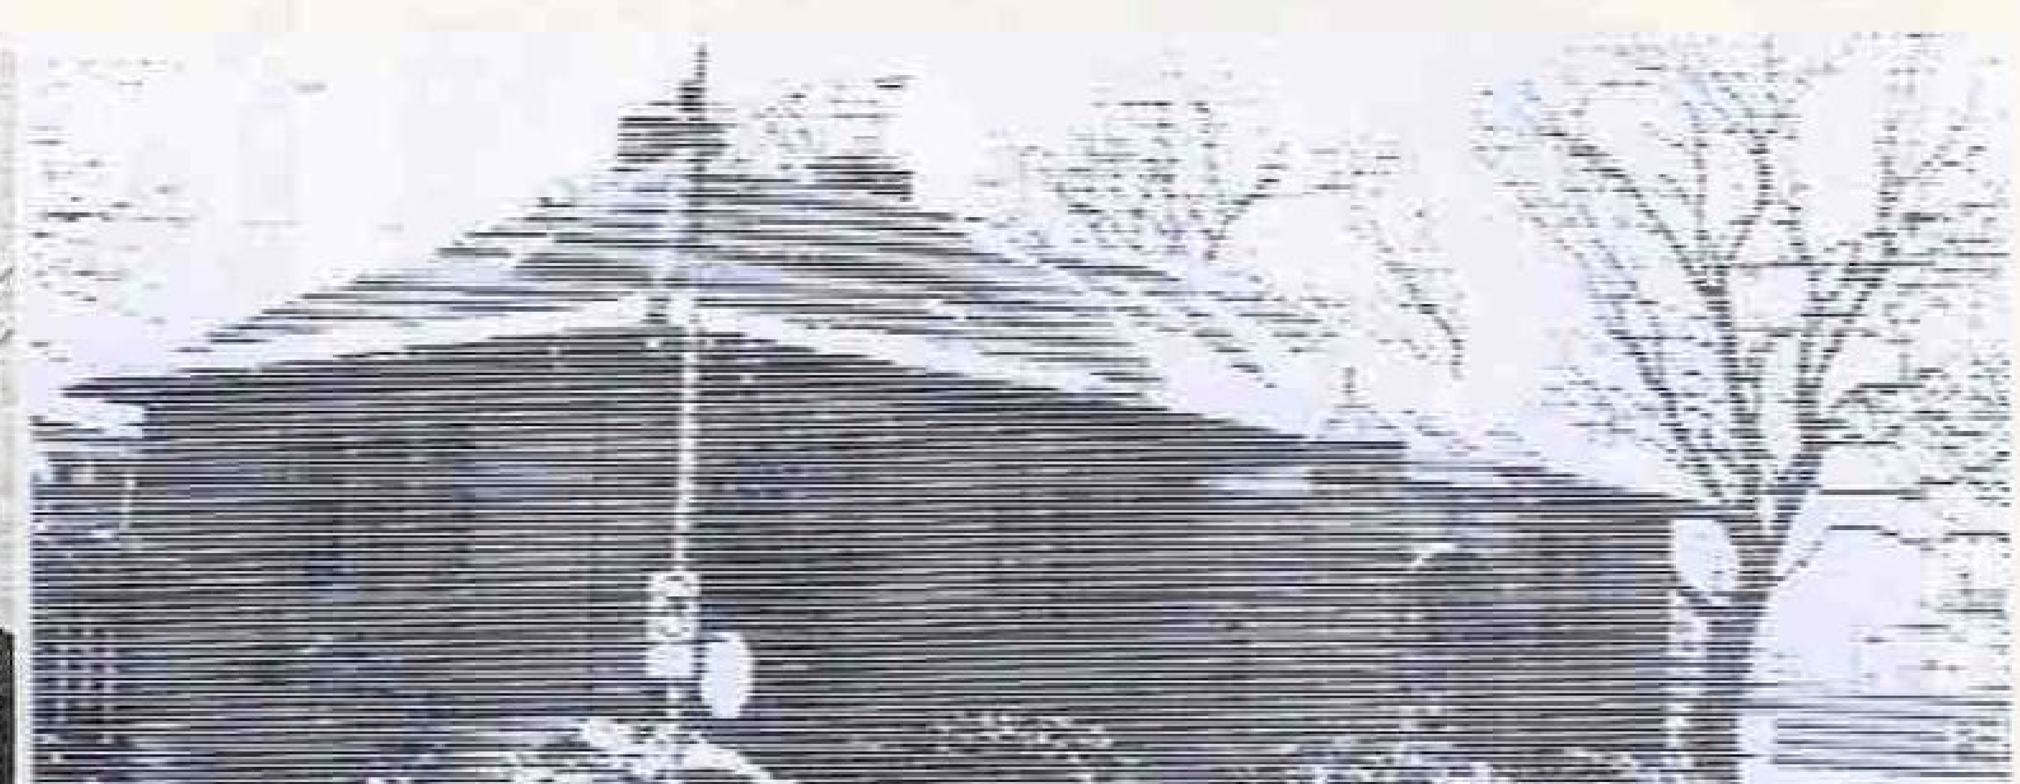

AND STILL IS . . .

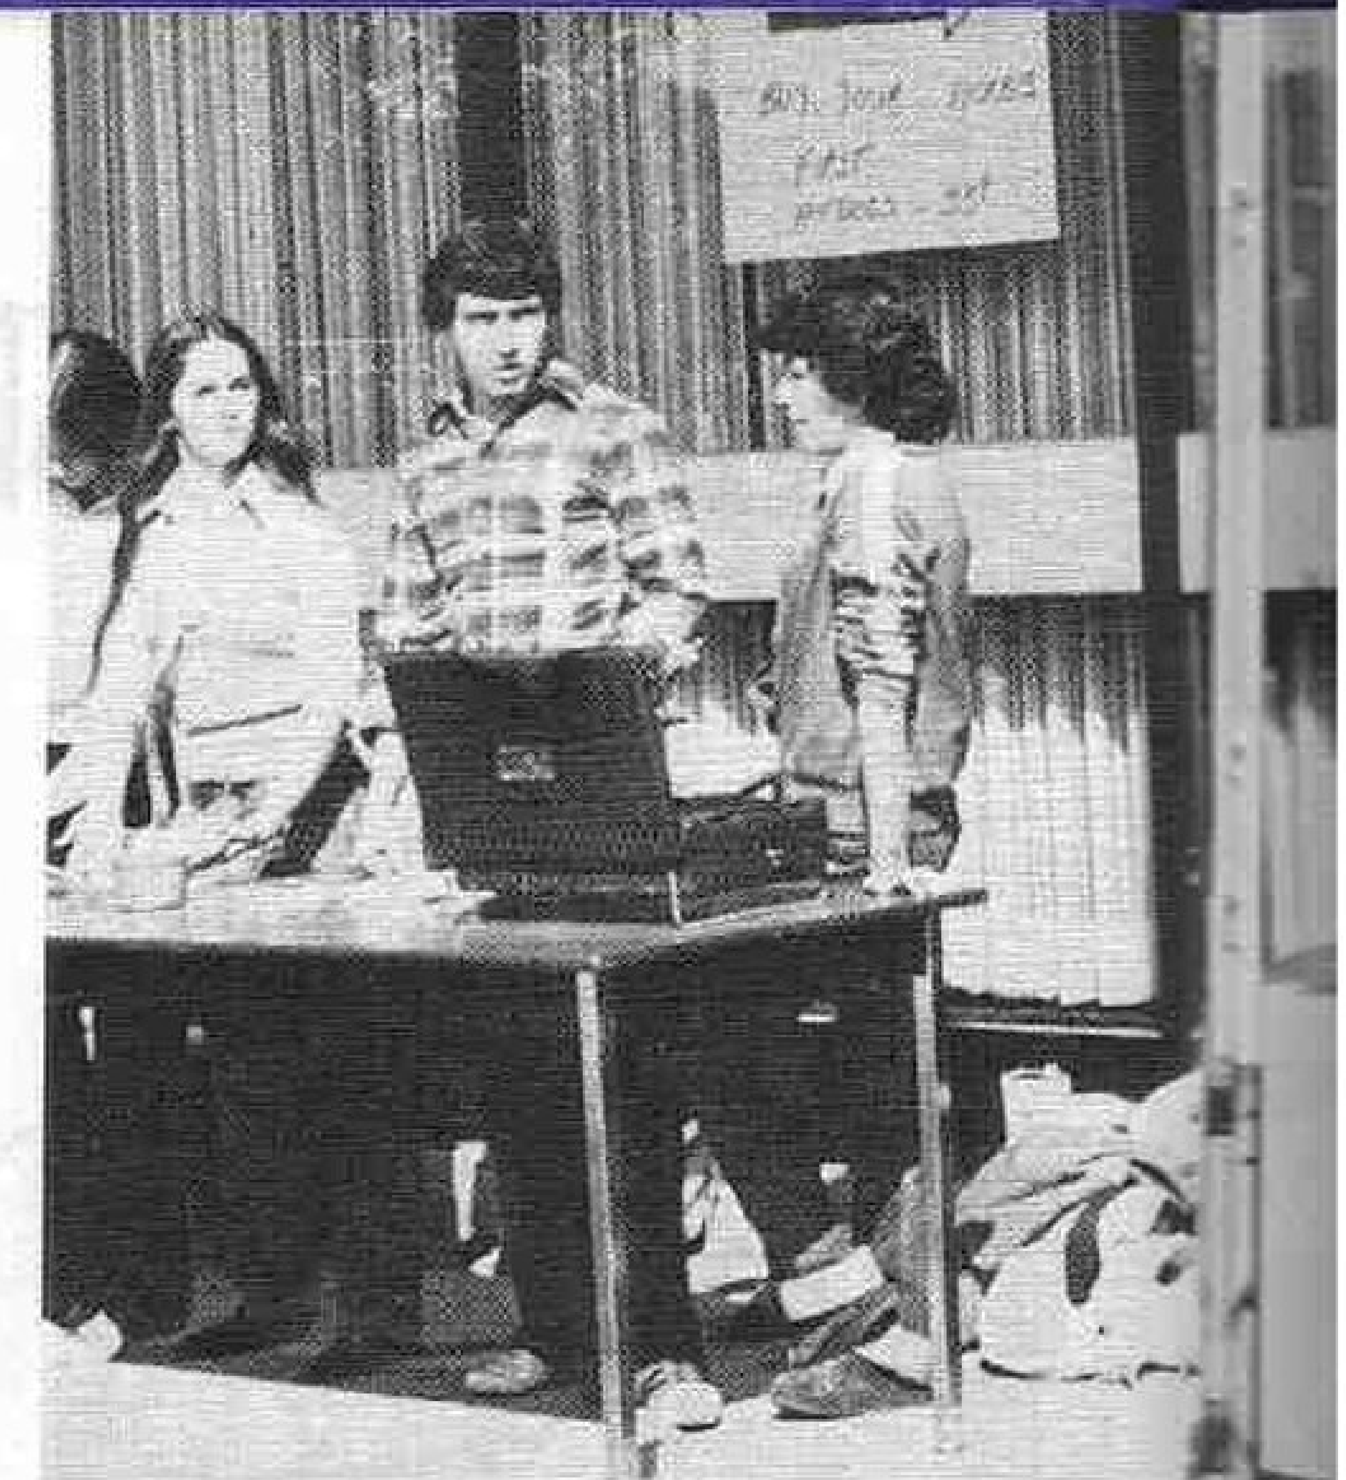

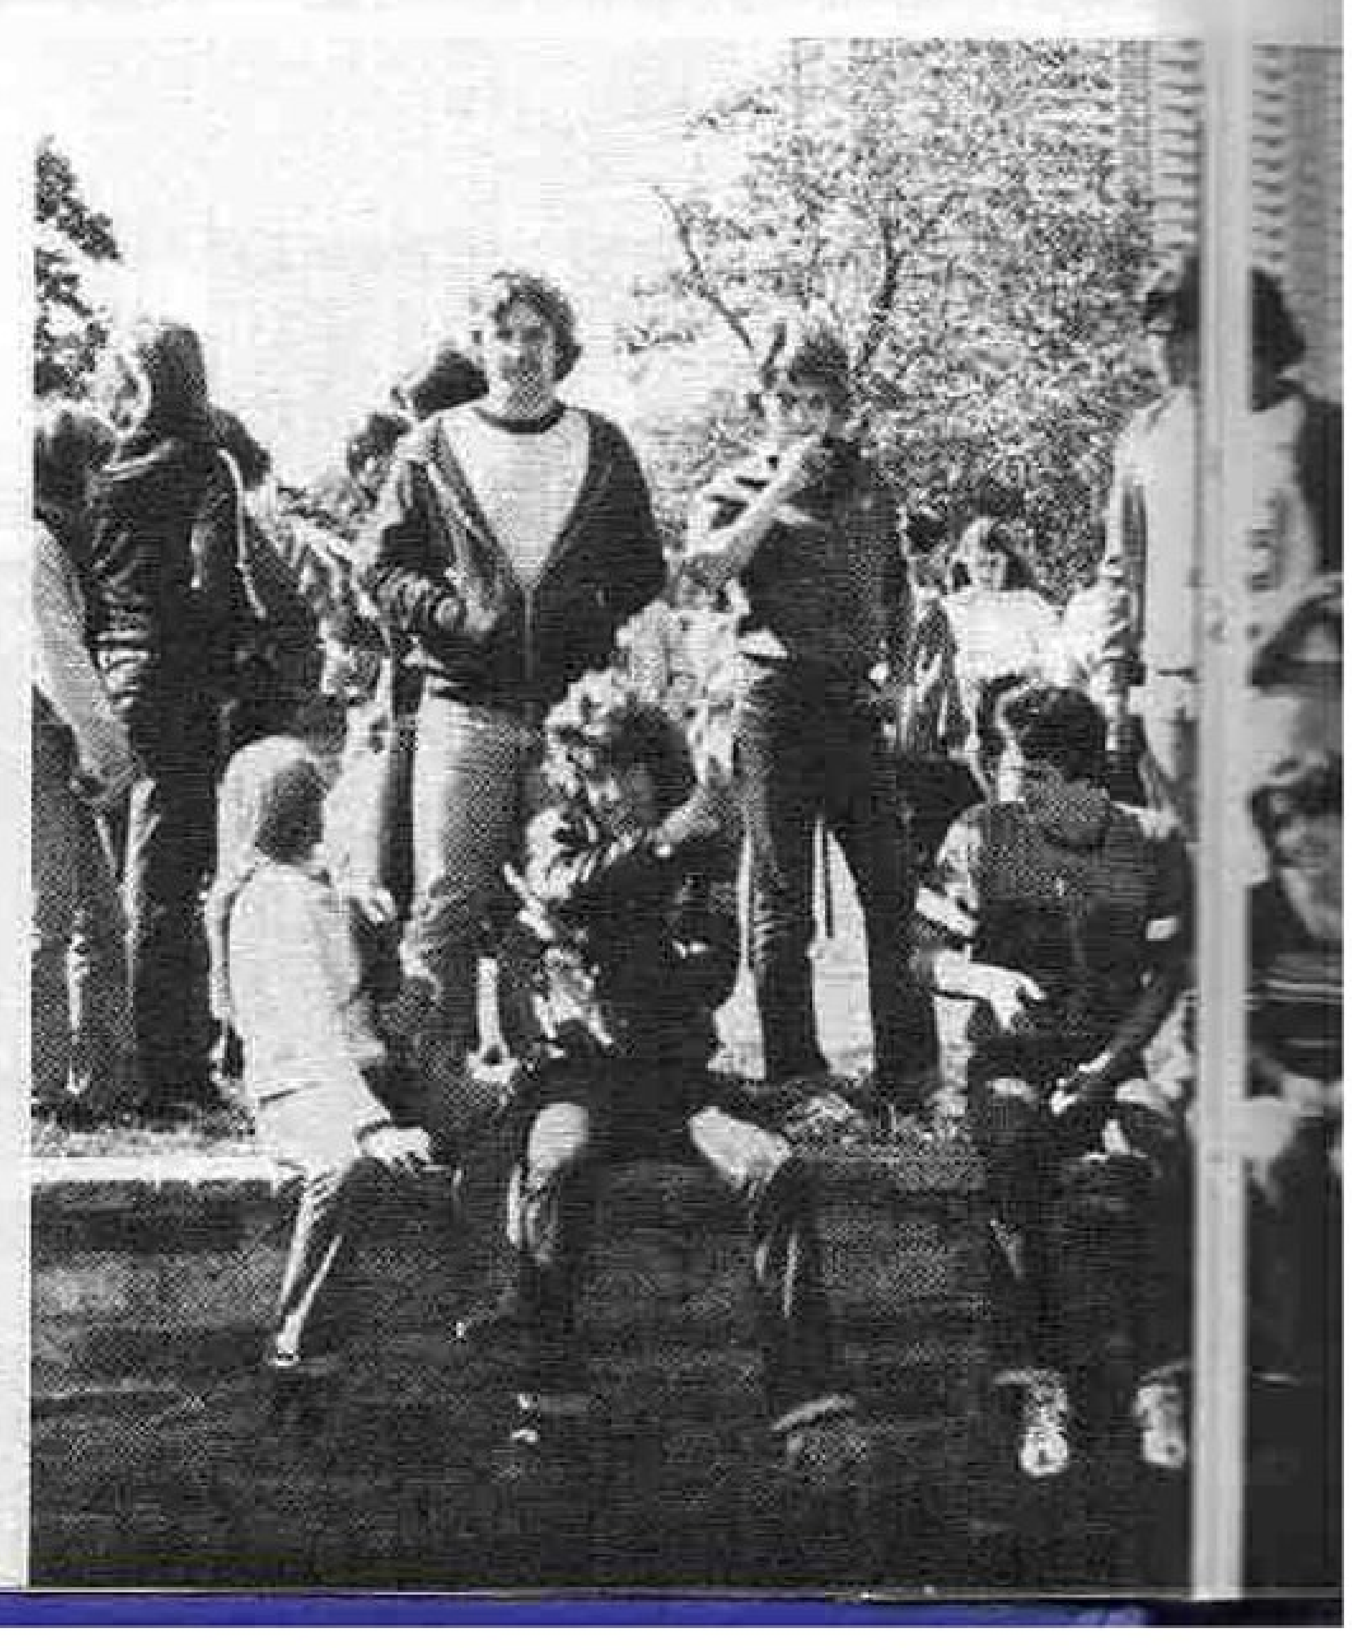

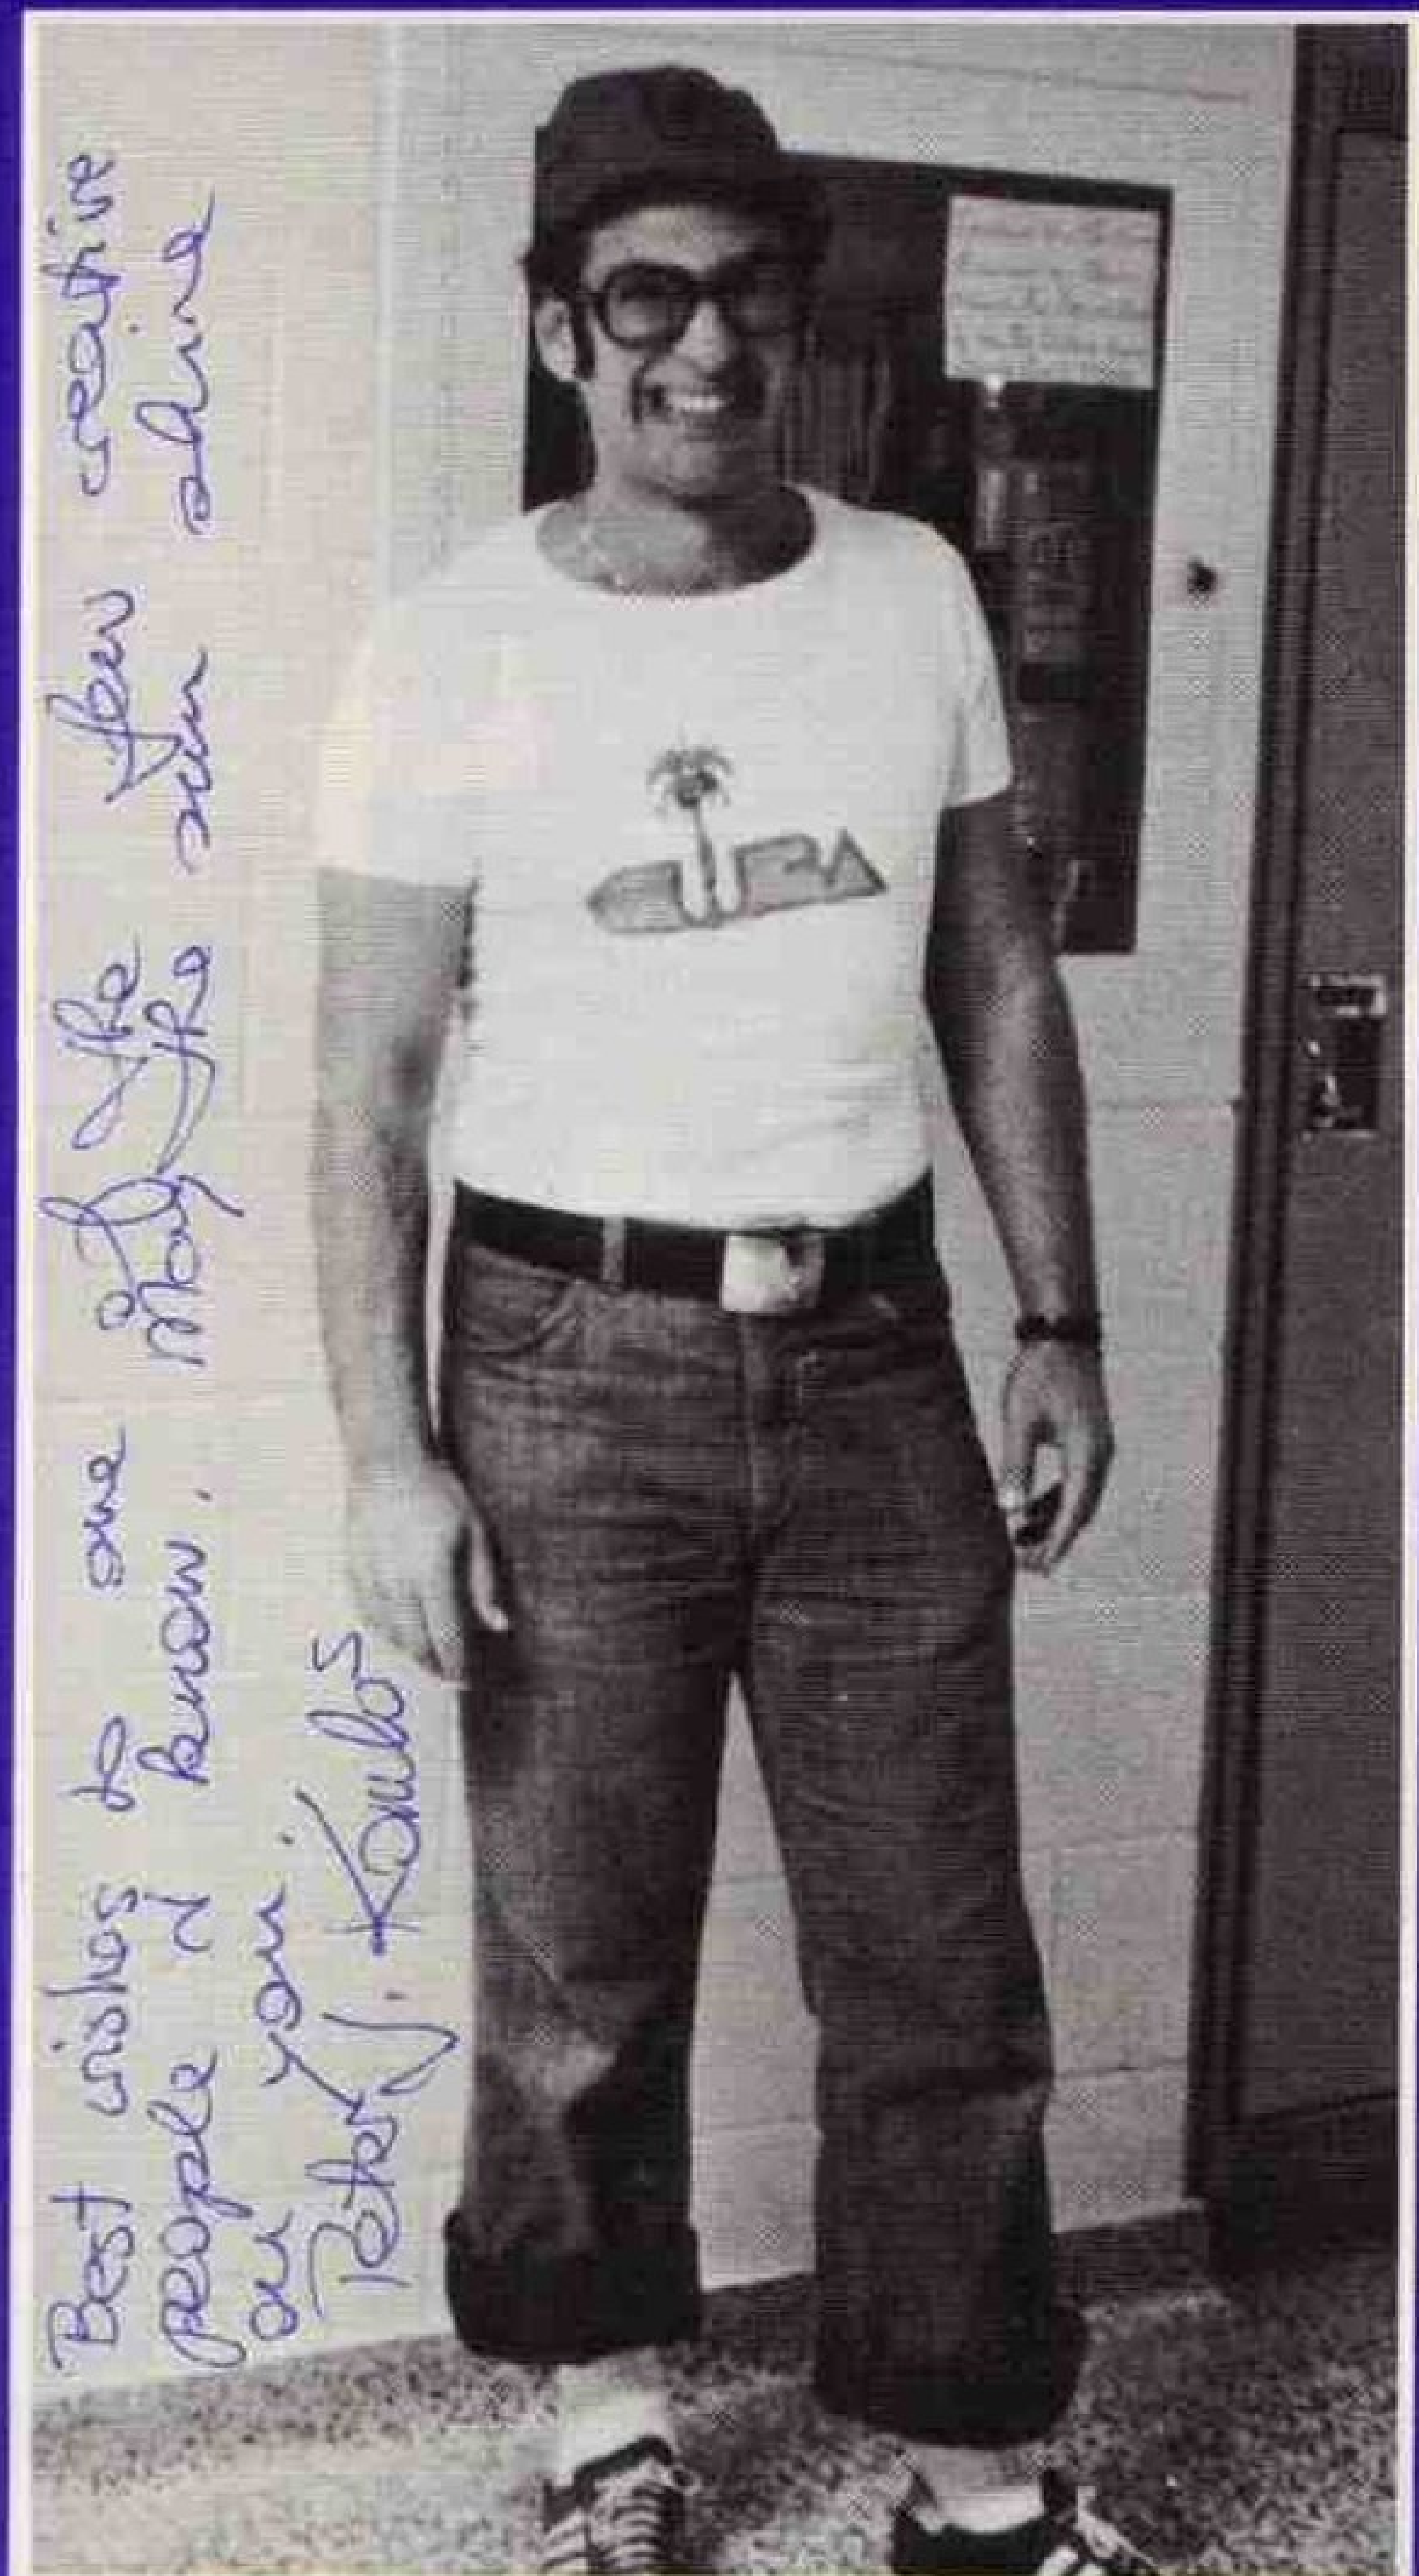

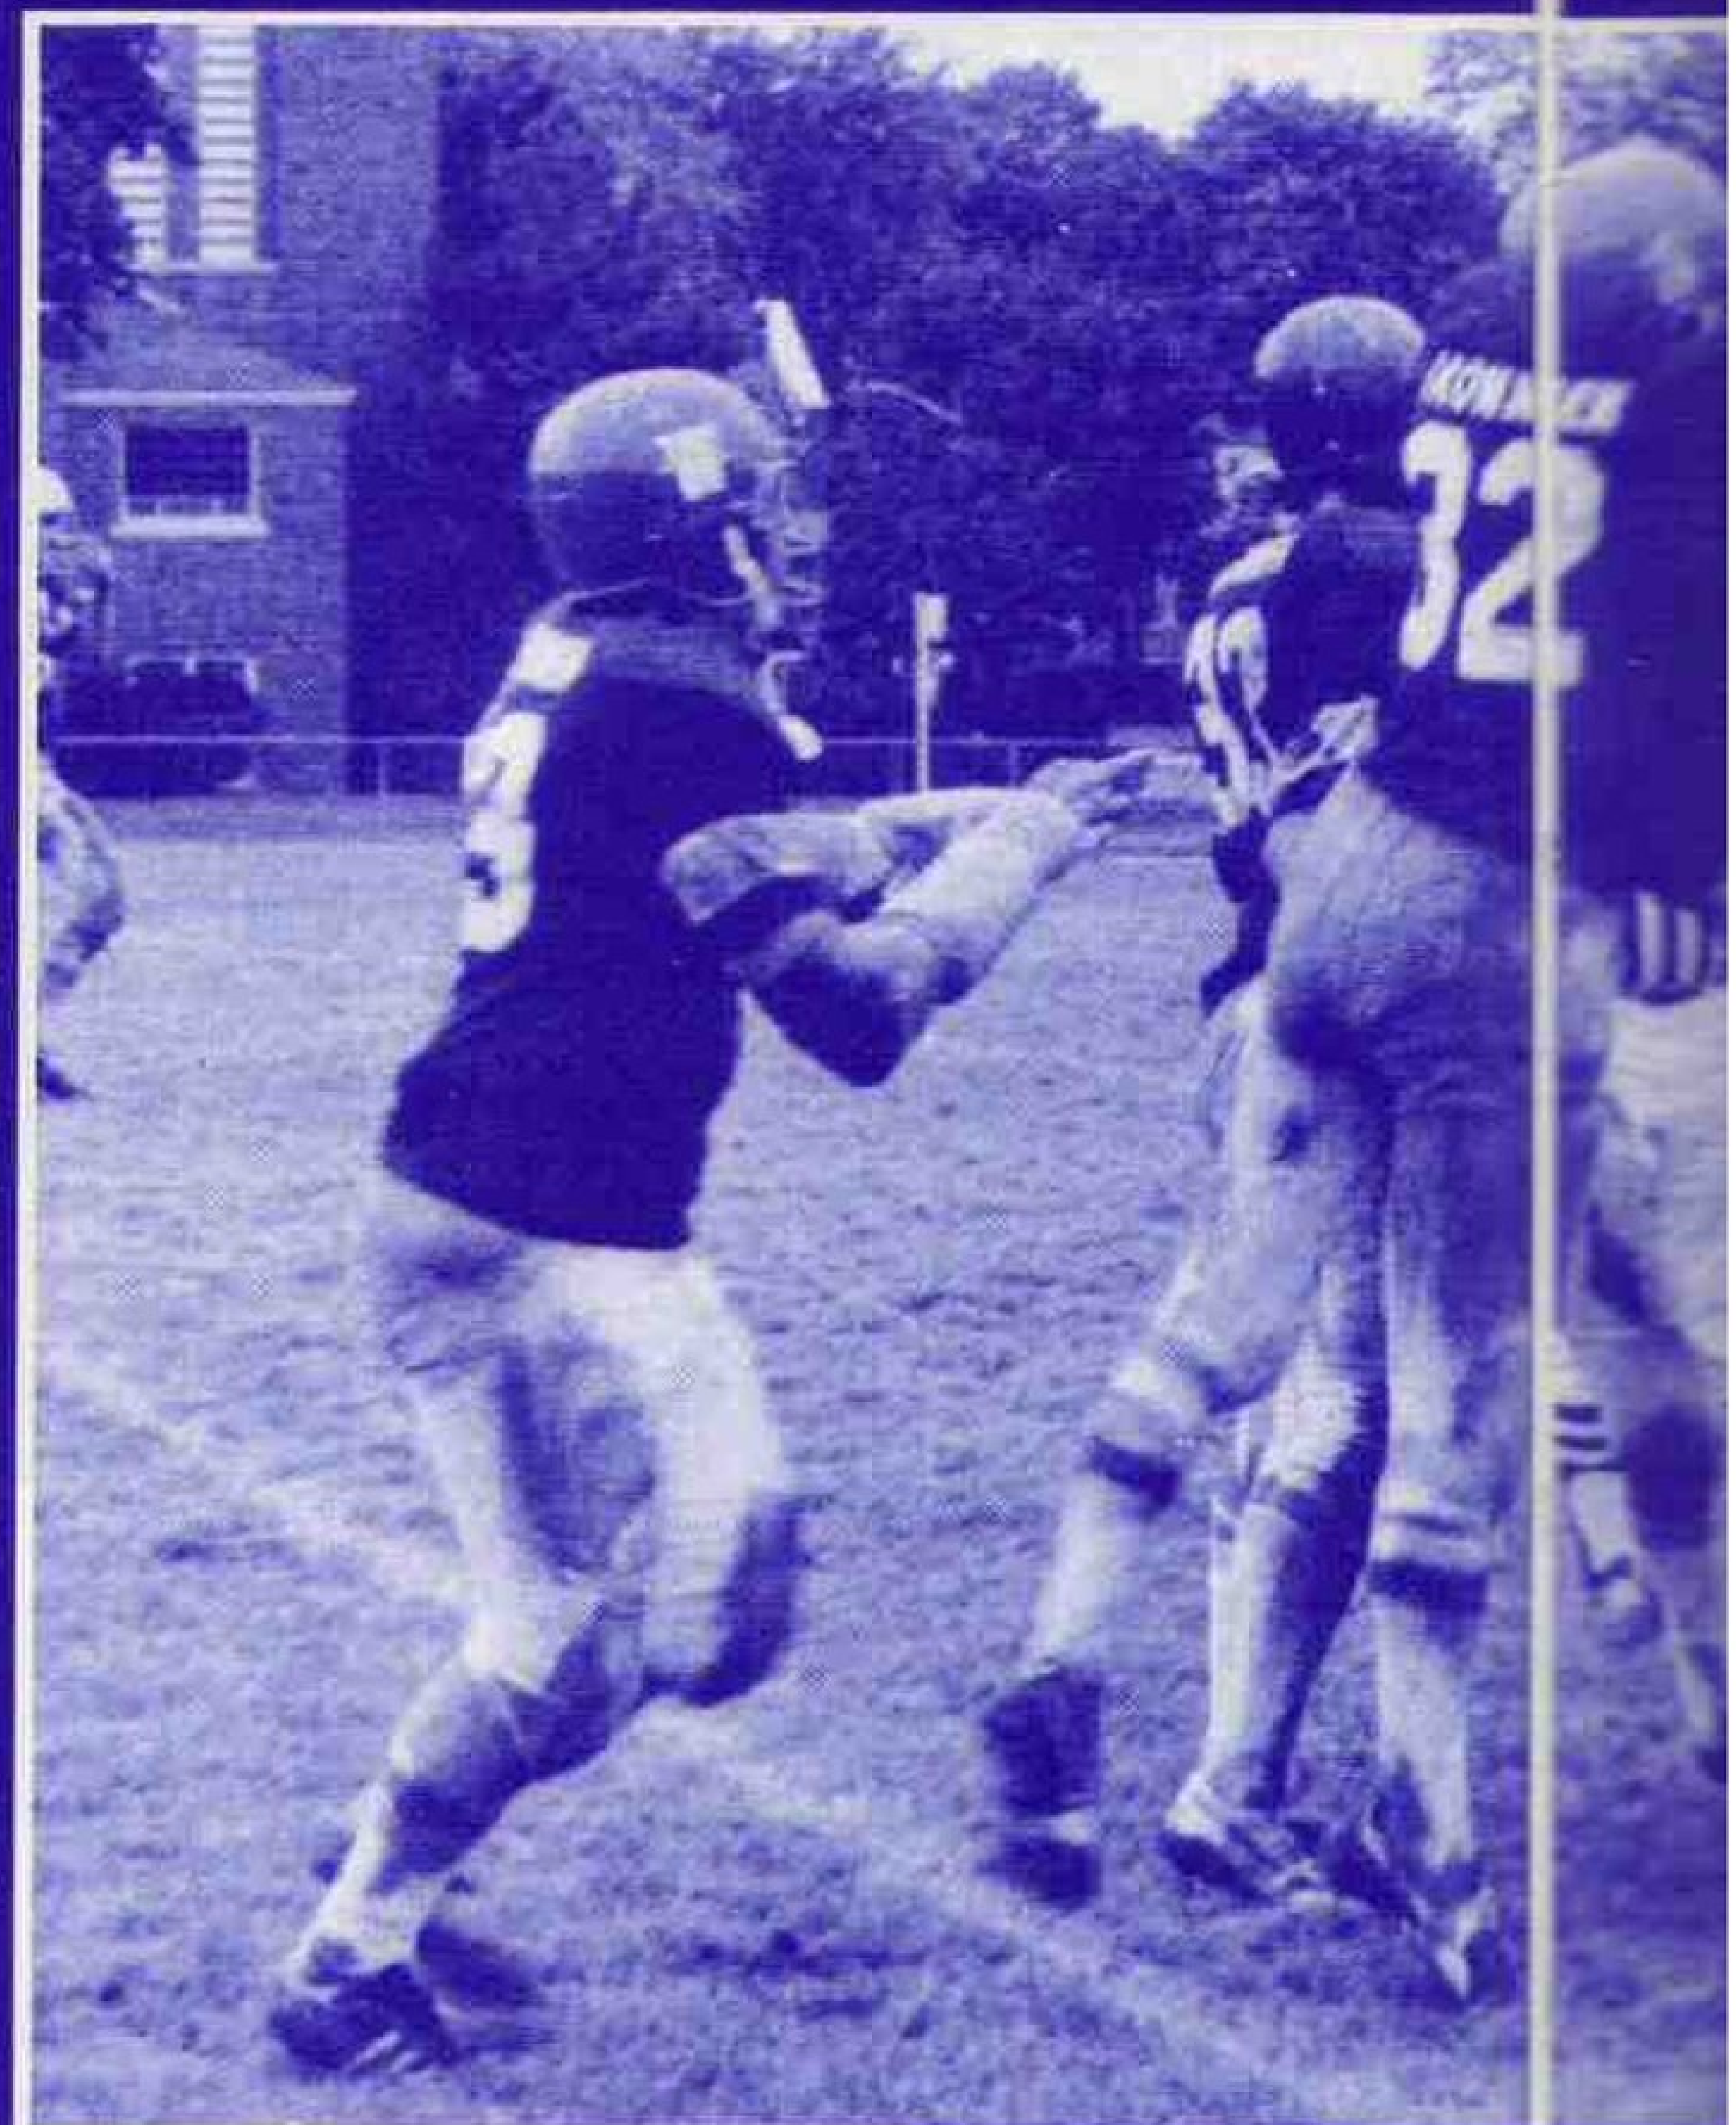

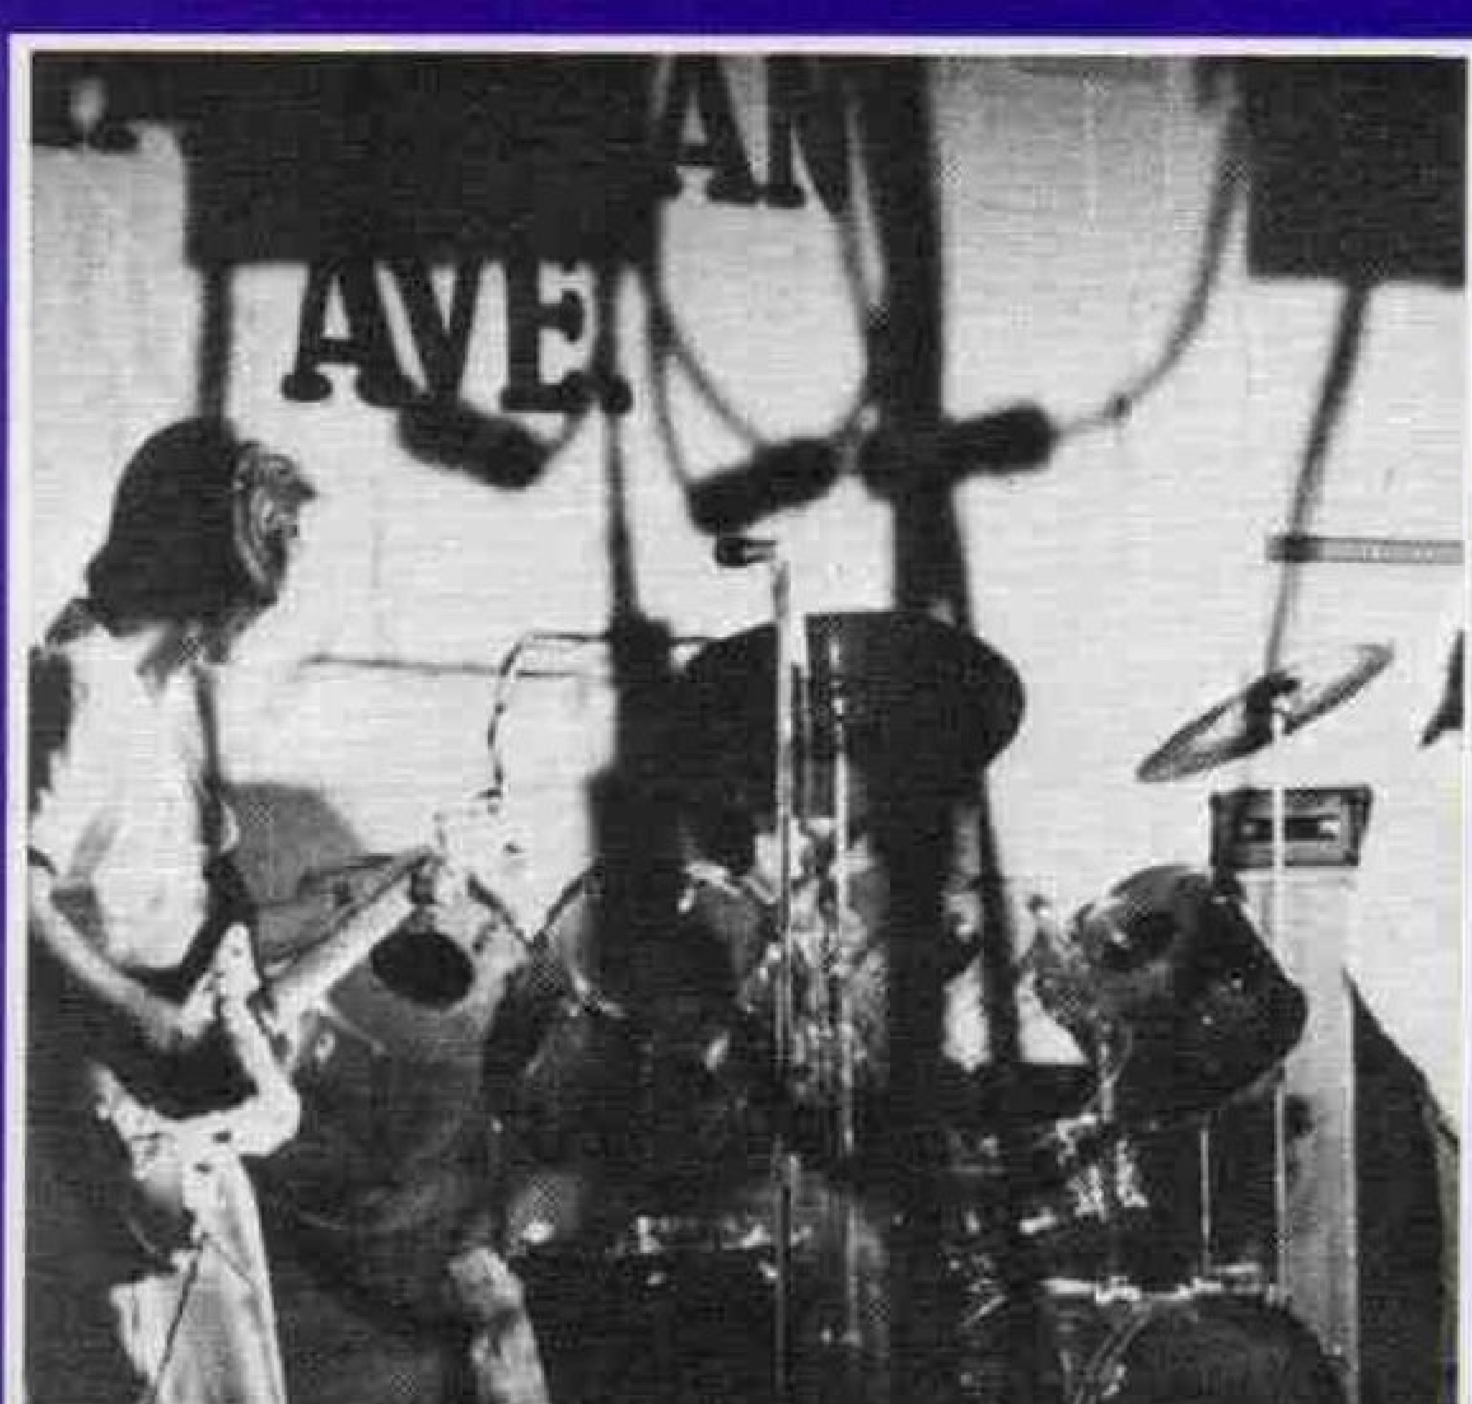

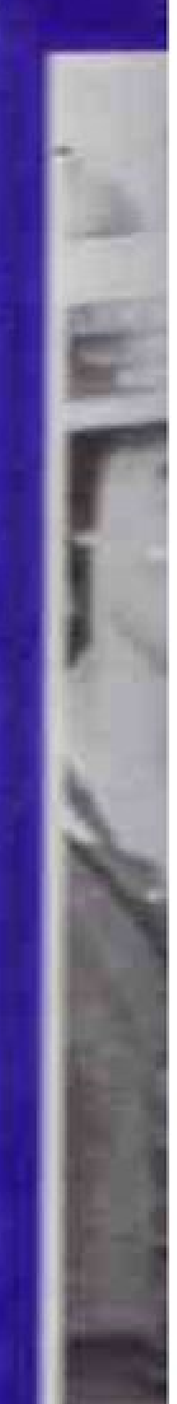

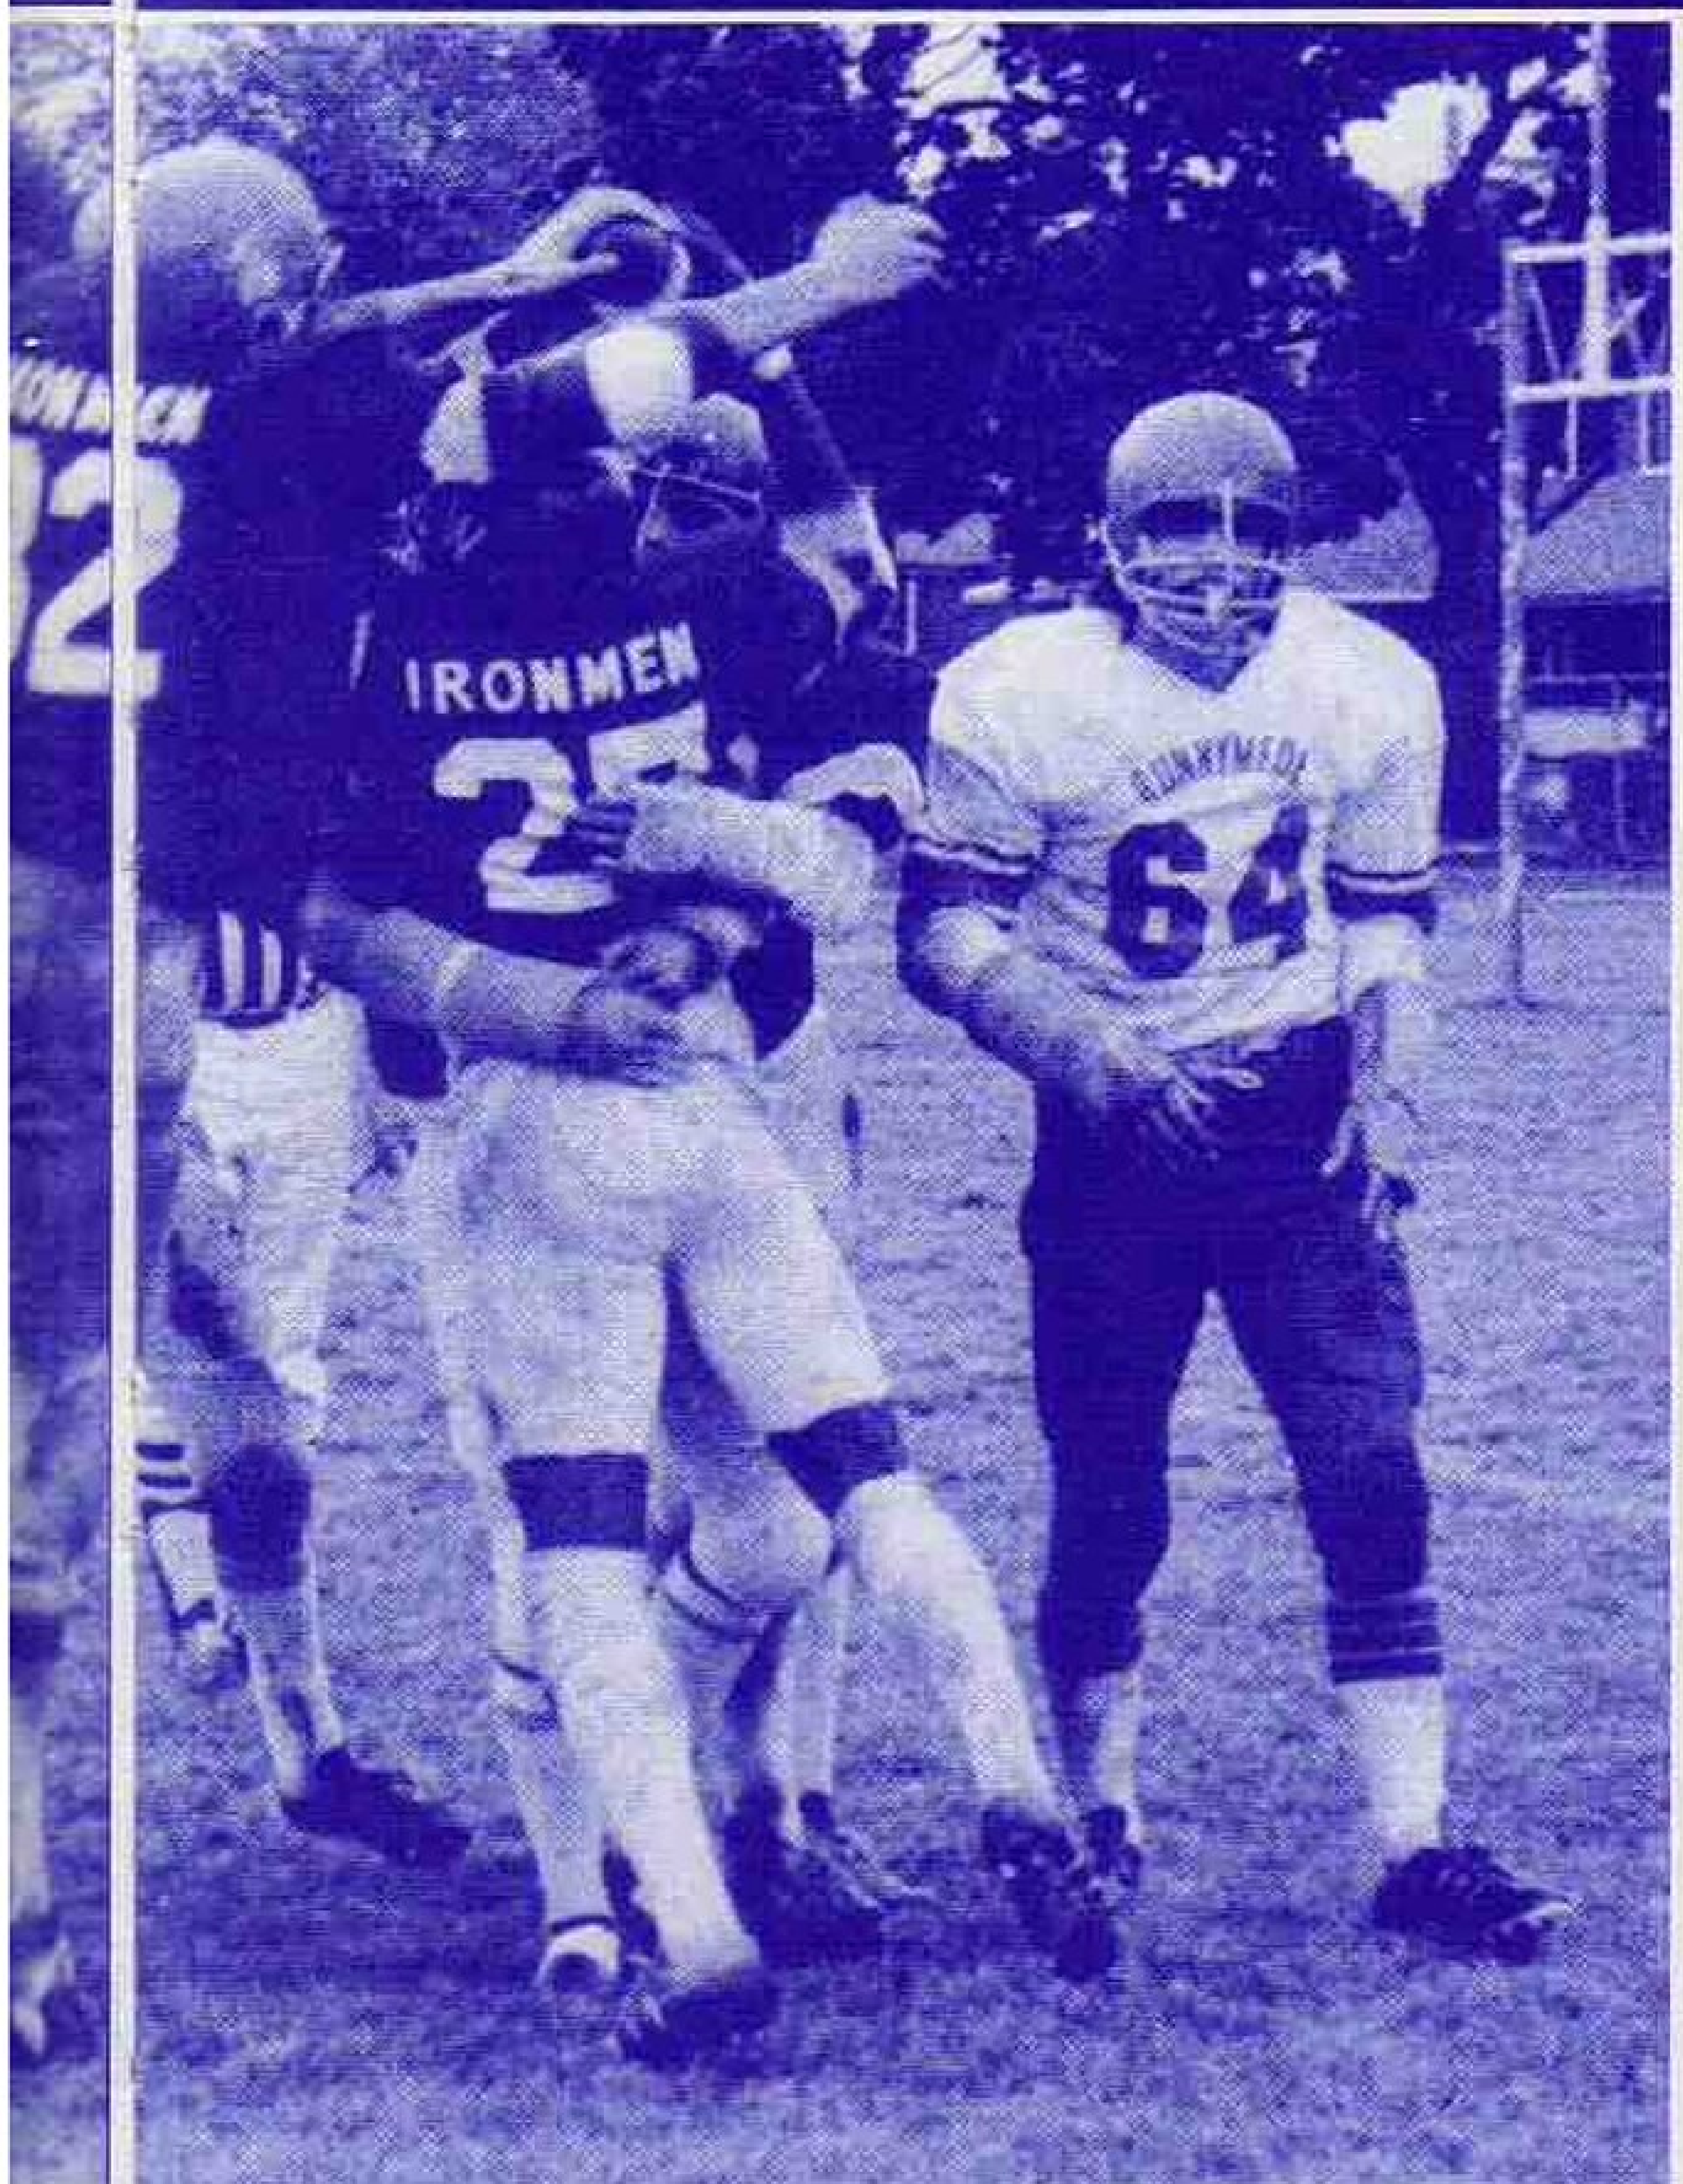

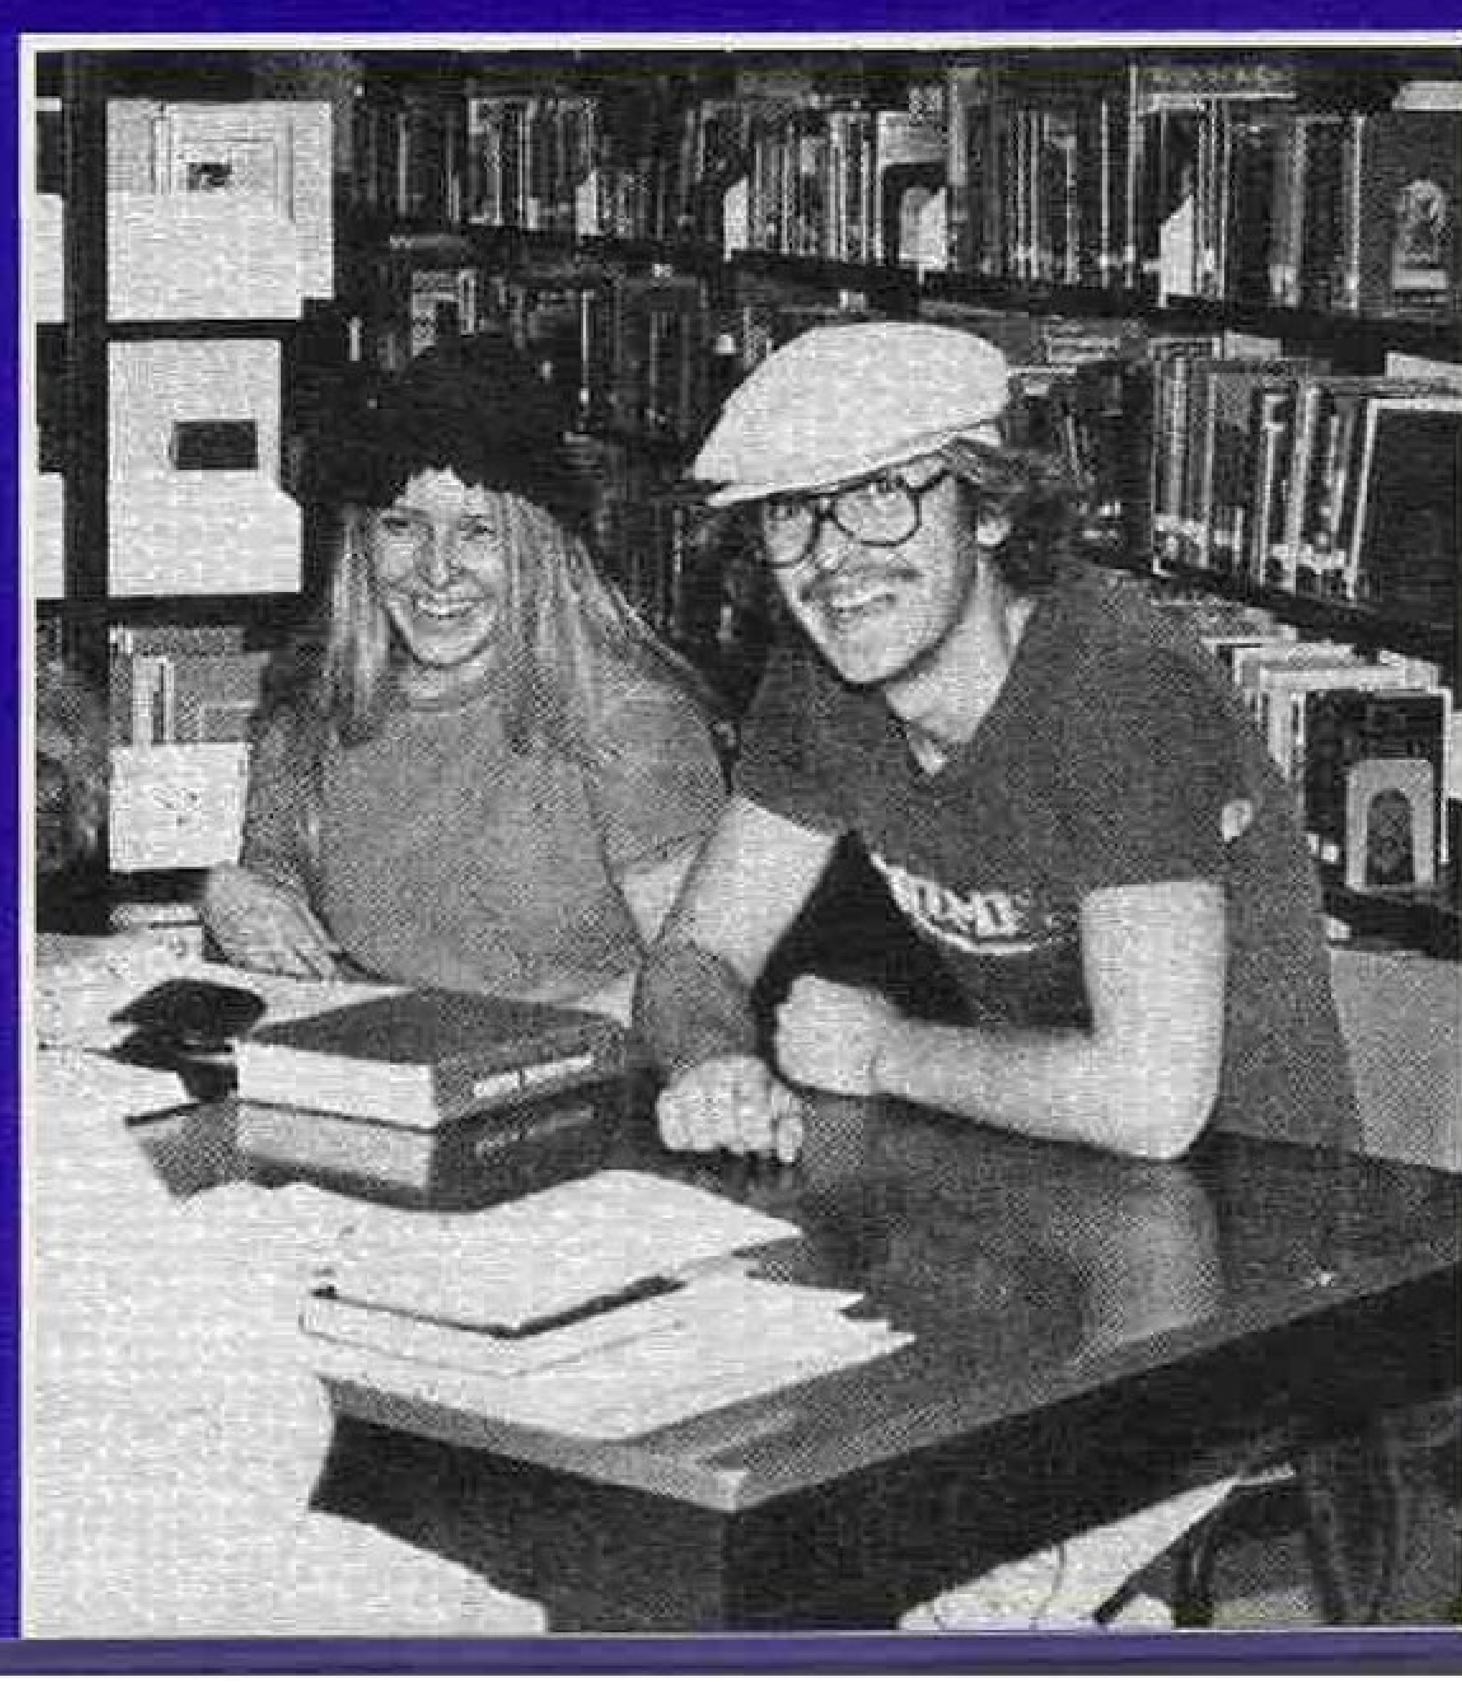

BLUE AND WHITE WEEK

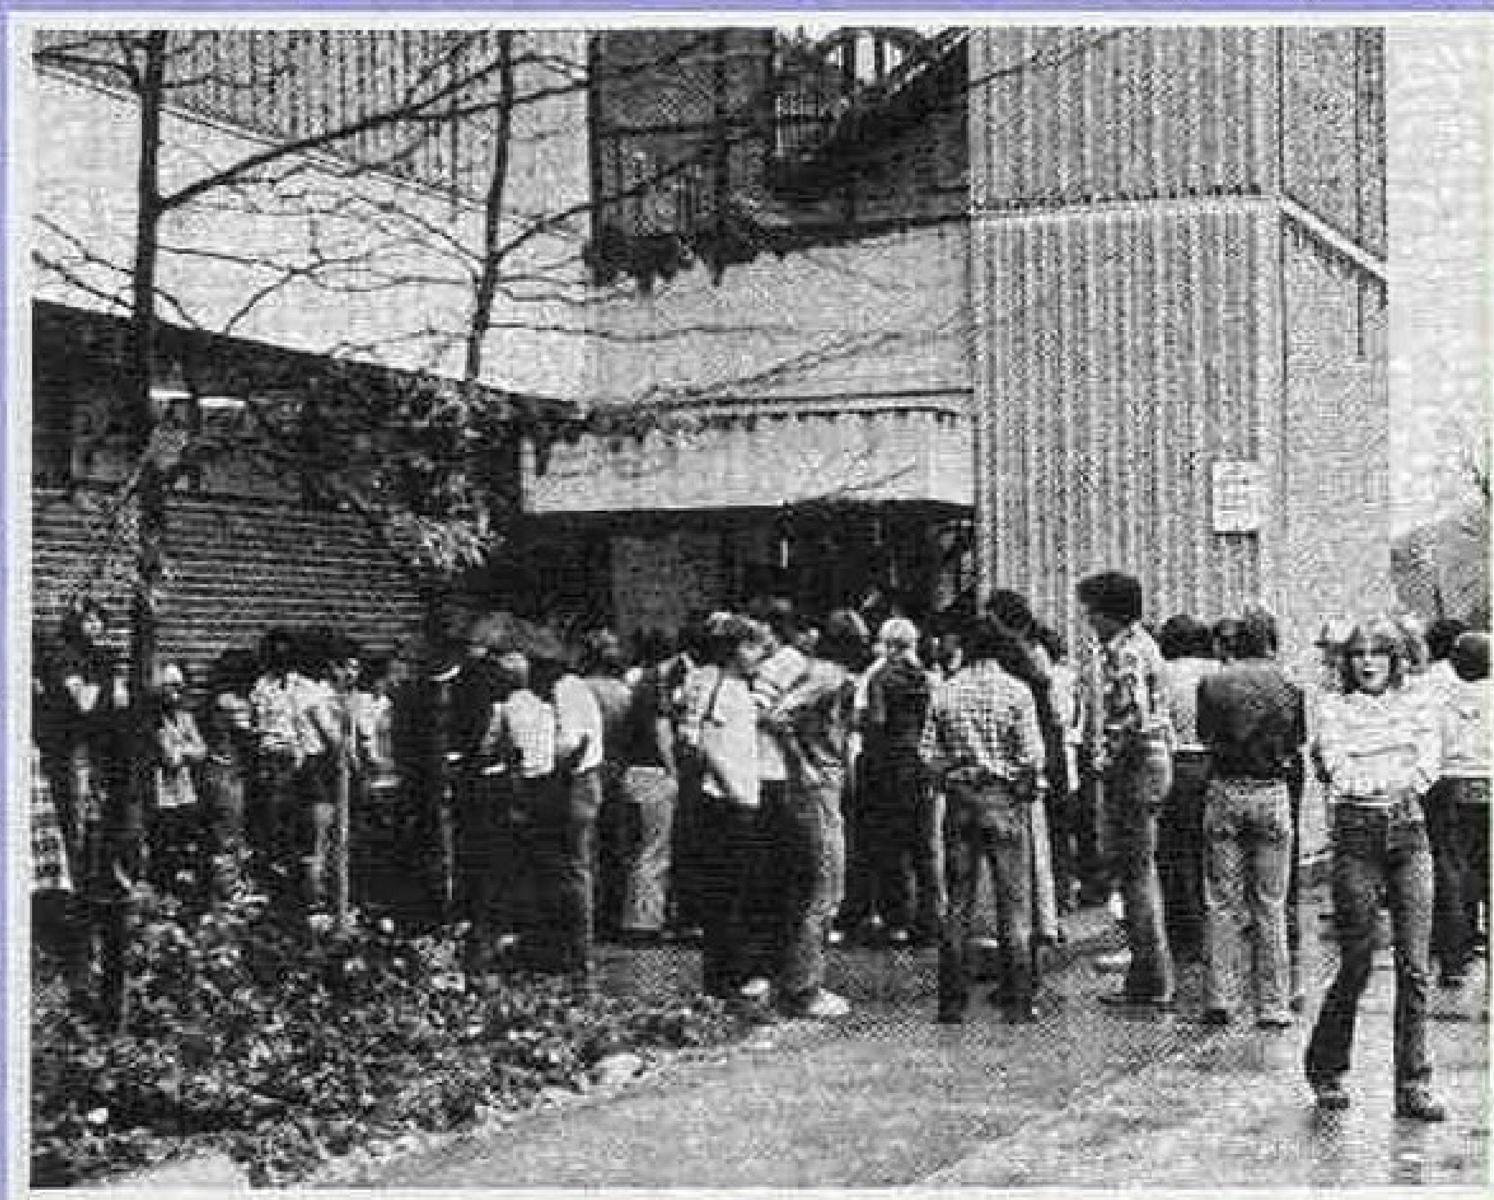

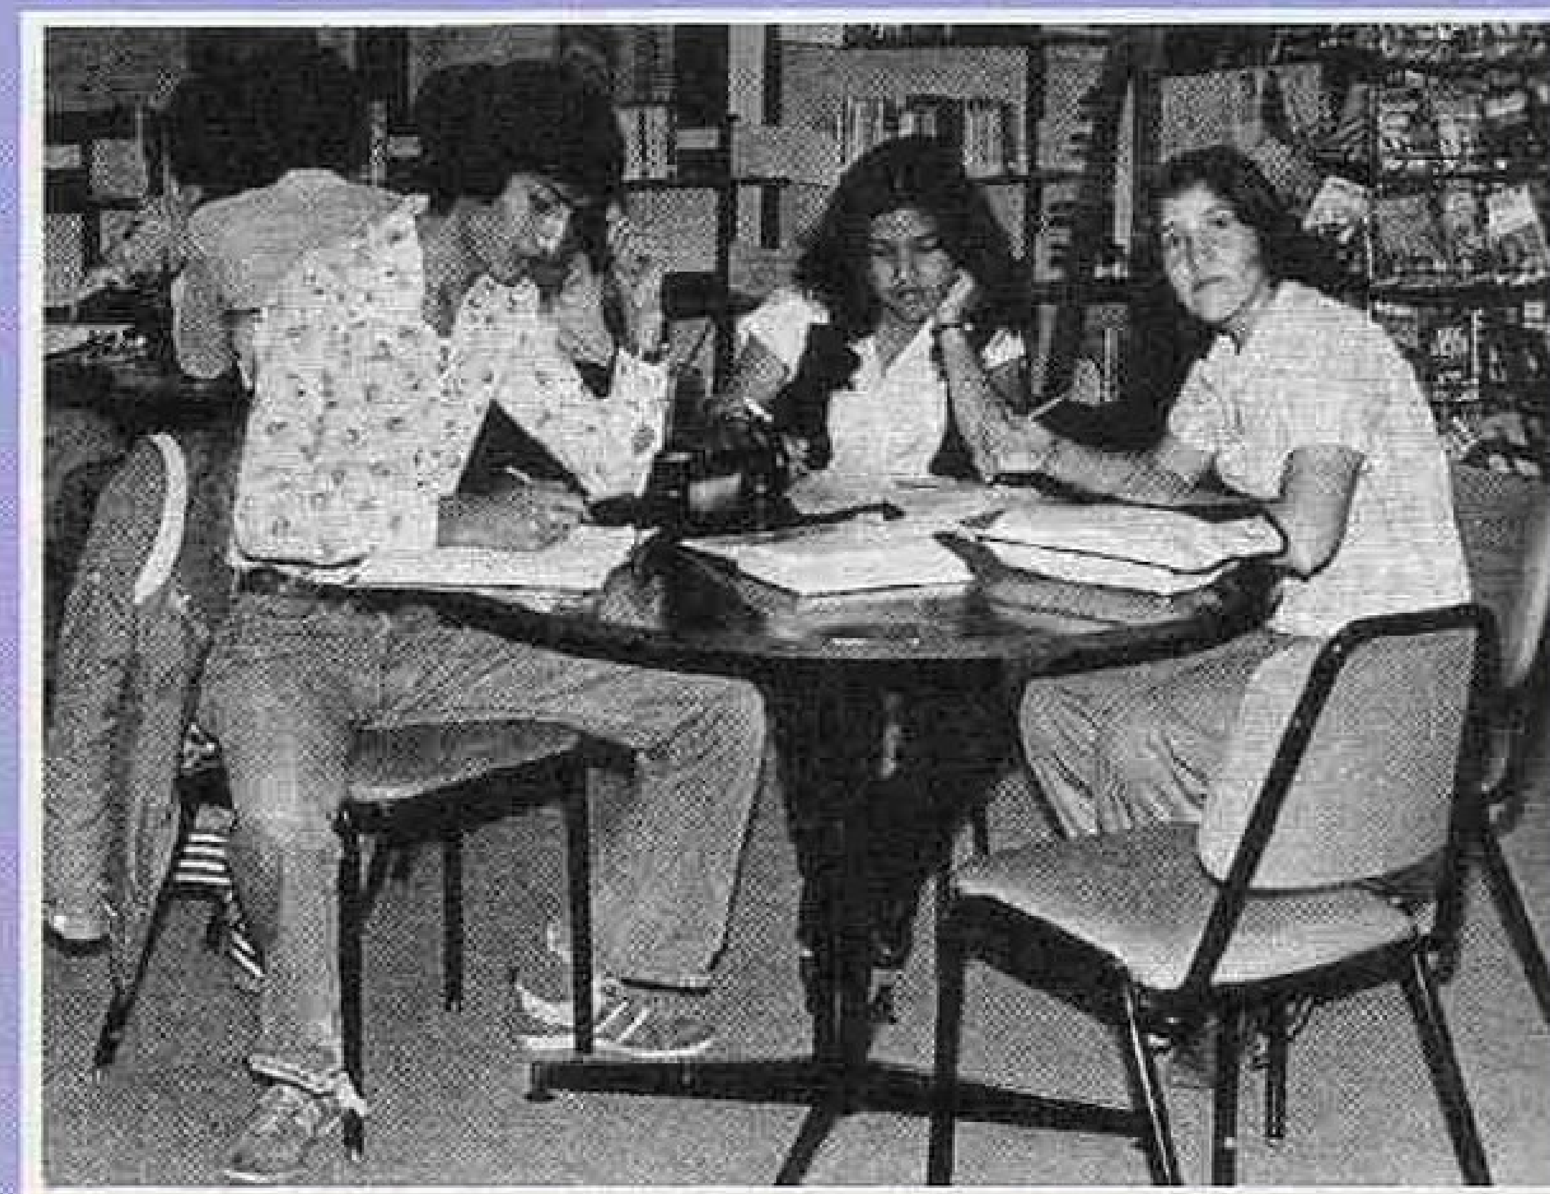

This year's Blue and White Week proved that the students of Weston can be exciting and original if they try. On Monday of that week we had a dance starring our very own Biff Bauf (alias Rob Lang). Tuesday was Blood and Laughter day, which consisted of some hilarious and horrifying flics. The screen was overtaken by Abbot and Costello, the Marx Brothers and the ever lovable Count Dracula. On Wednesday a small assortment of characters decked themselves in our famous school colours of Blue and White, while others followed suit (no pun intended), since they had no other colours in their wardrobes. Grub day at Weston was very exciting and intellectual. The students as well as the faculty (yes, we did notice you Mr. Komlos) took part in this exciting but "grimy" day. Afterwards, the students cleaned themselves up to enjoy an evening of listening and dancing to the music of Talisman Ave. This day ended with quite a smash and the broken windows proved it to everybody the next day. Friday, the last day of our exciting week, started off with a pep rally, in which our cheerleaders showed an unexpected display of fancy footwork. This was followed by a double-header football game. Both football teams battled it out against the George Harvey Hawks, and our seniors came through with a 7-0 victory. All in all it was a week to be remembered.

After entering the school in the morning (sometime before 7 a.m. and 11:20), each student takes himself and his mound of books to a locker located somewhere in this dungeon. Depending on the time of arrival (and the reason) we depart for early swim practices, detentions with our fav. teachers, to the cafe to eat our breakfast, the library to do undone homework, or to class, just as Mrs. Collyer reminds us of the time of day and where we should be. After waking up, a bit after ten o'clock, announcements are made and people around you are asking "What did he say? I wasn't listening", or "I couldn't hear". Cramming for second period tests while walking down the hall, and stumbling through the exam because there was no time to study is not unusual. At third period, half of the student population pushes themselves through the cafe doors, grabbing chairs, tables, food and whatever, while the other half drag themselves off and try to endure a homeroom of starvation.

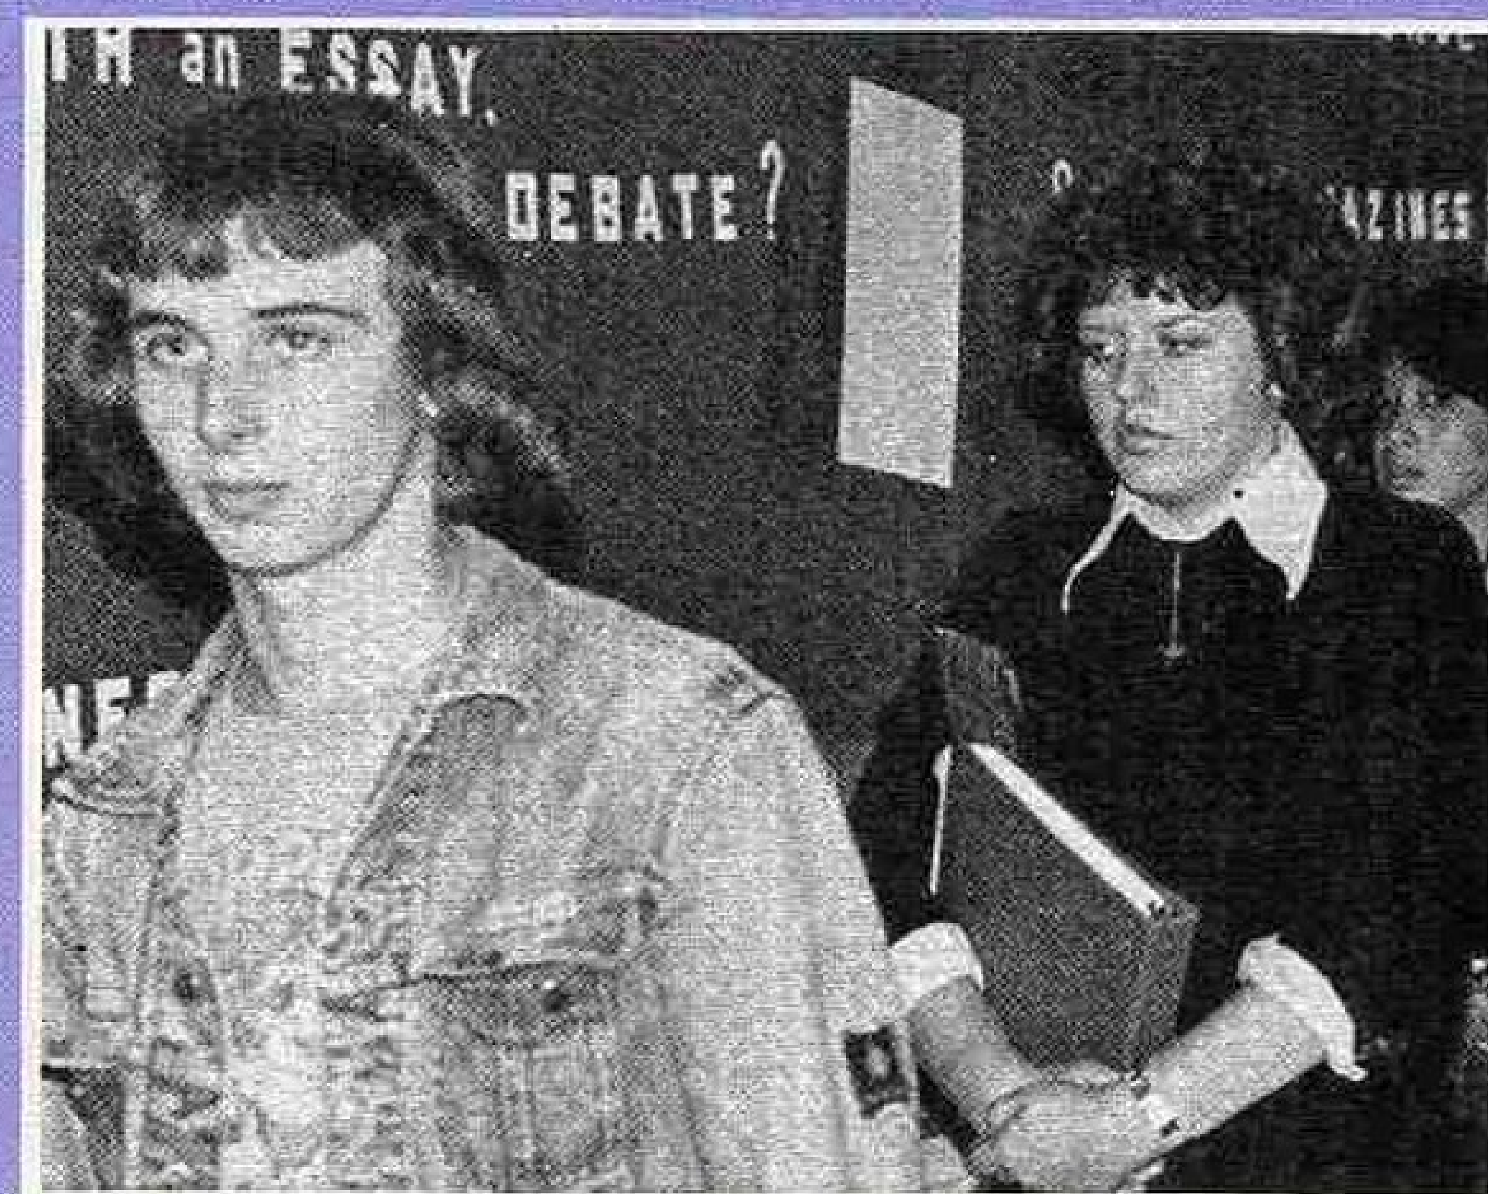

Just when we're all busy doing something that takes alot of thought those darn fire bells ring through the school. Slowly we tumble down the stairs into the pouring rain and cold morning. When we are just settled again, the bell never fails to go off and we all file out. After a morning of this foolishness half of the students have pneumonia, but never fear! Dr. Fraser is here to guide us all back to health.

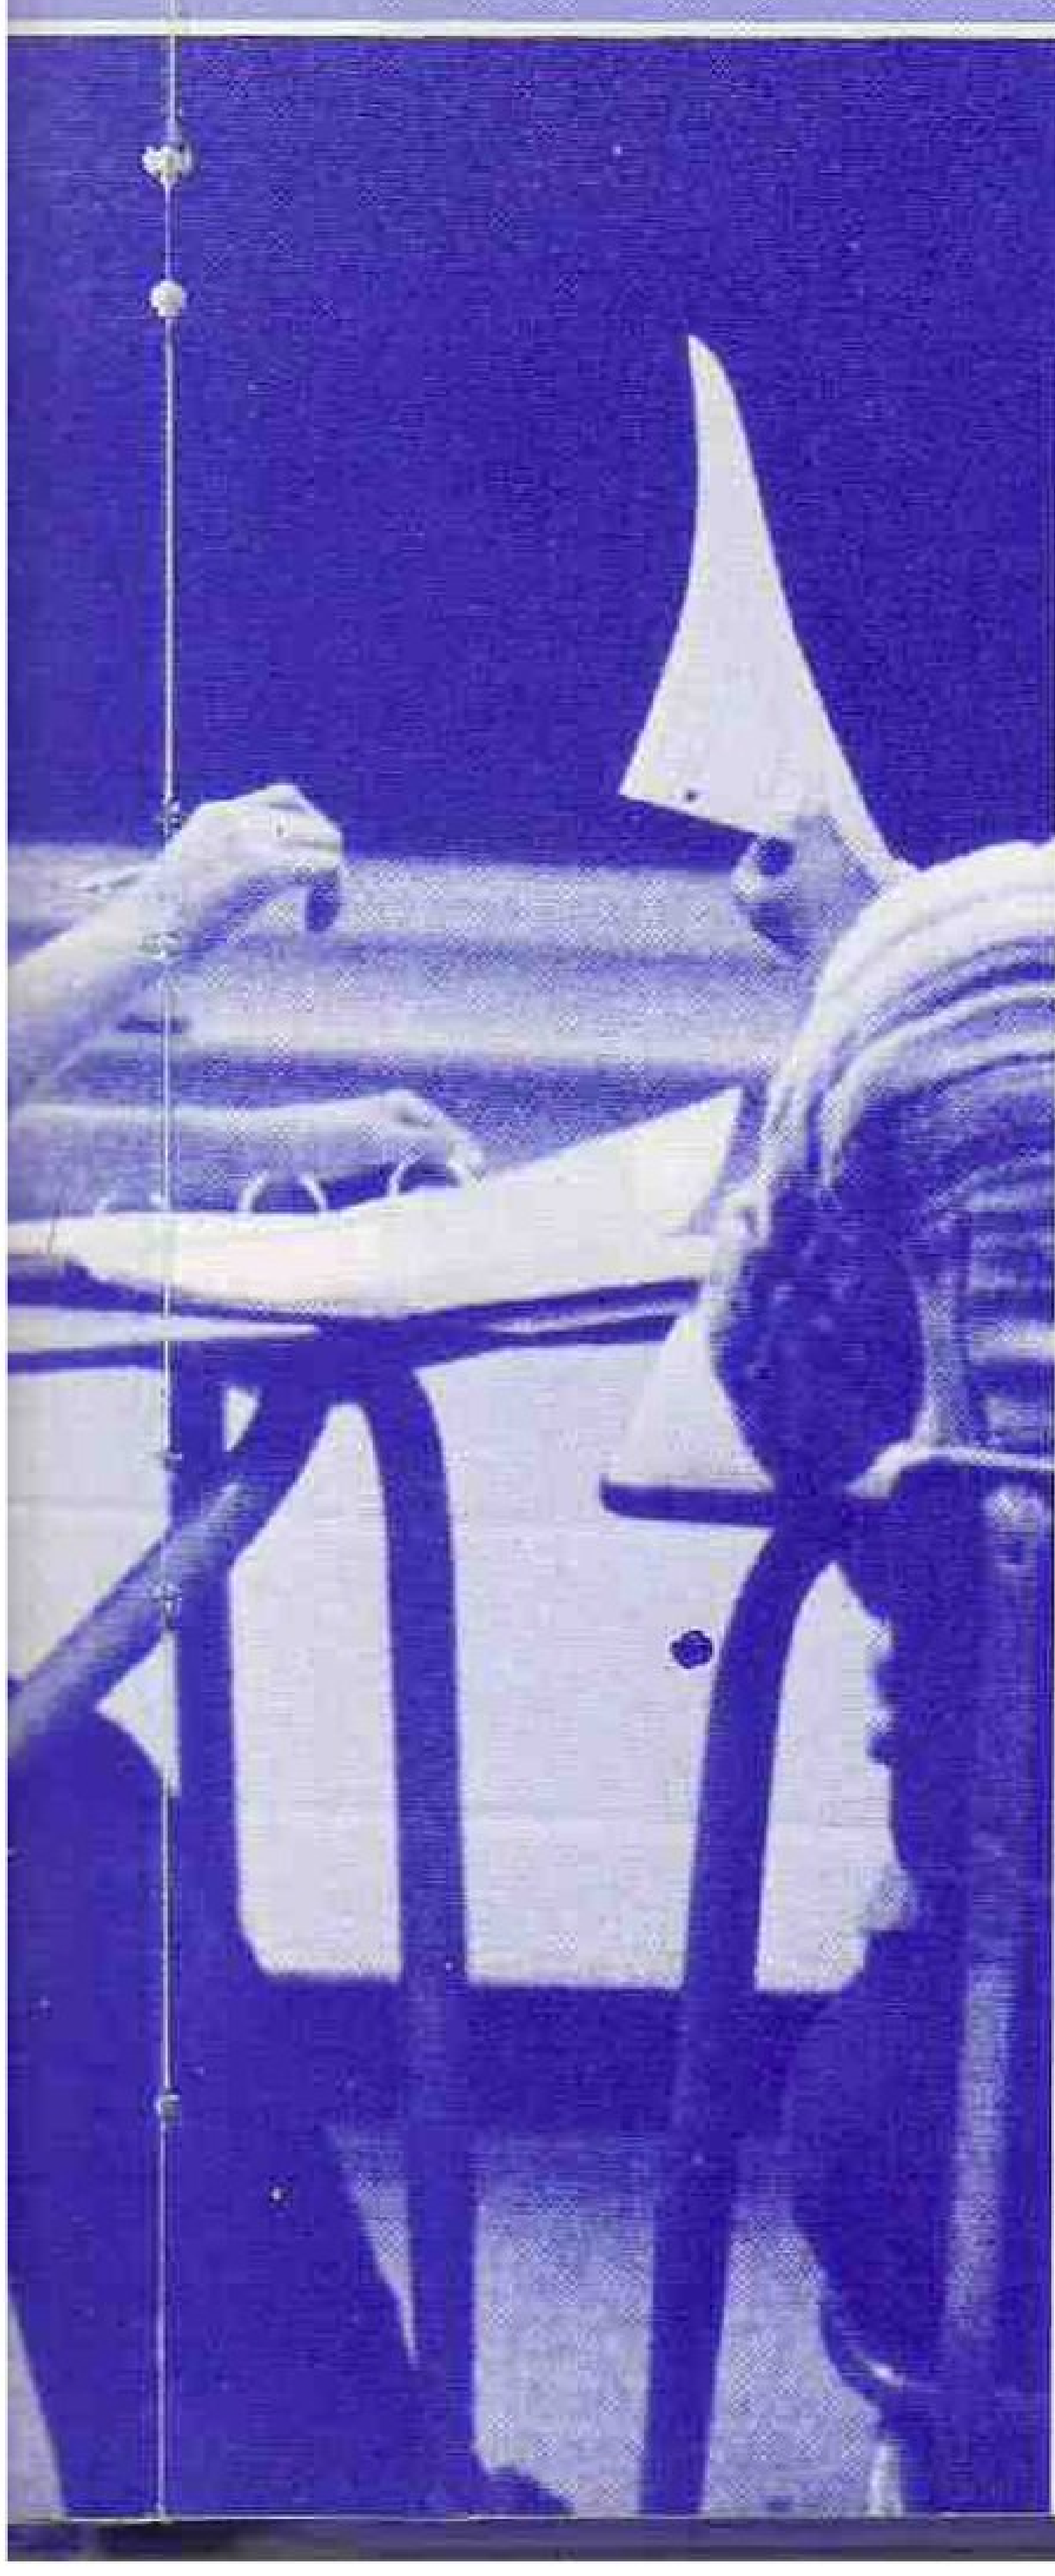

With fourth period the rest of the school eats and then go resolutedly to do their homework again. At least the alarm in the library offers some amusement! By the time sixth comes, everyone is crawling to get out. But alas; many of us just love this building so much that we stay for our favorite extracurricular activity. Eventually the school is cleared, the dust settles and so, another day at Weston is drown to a close.

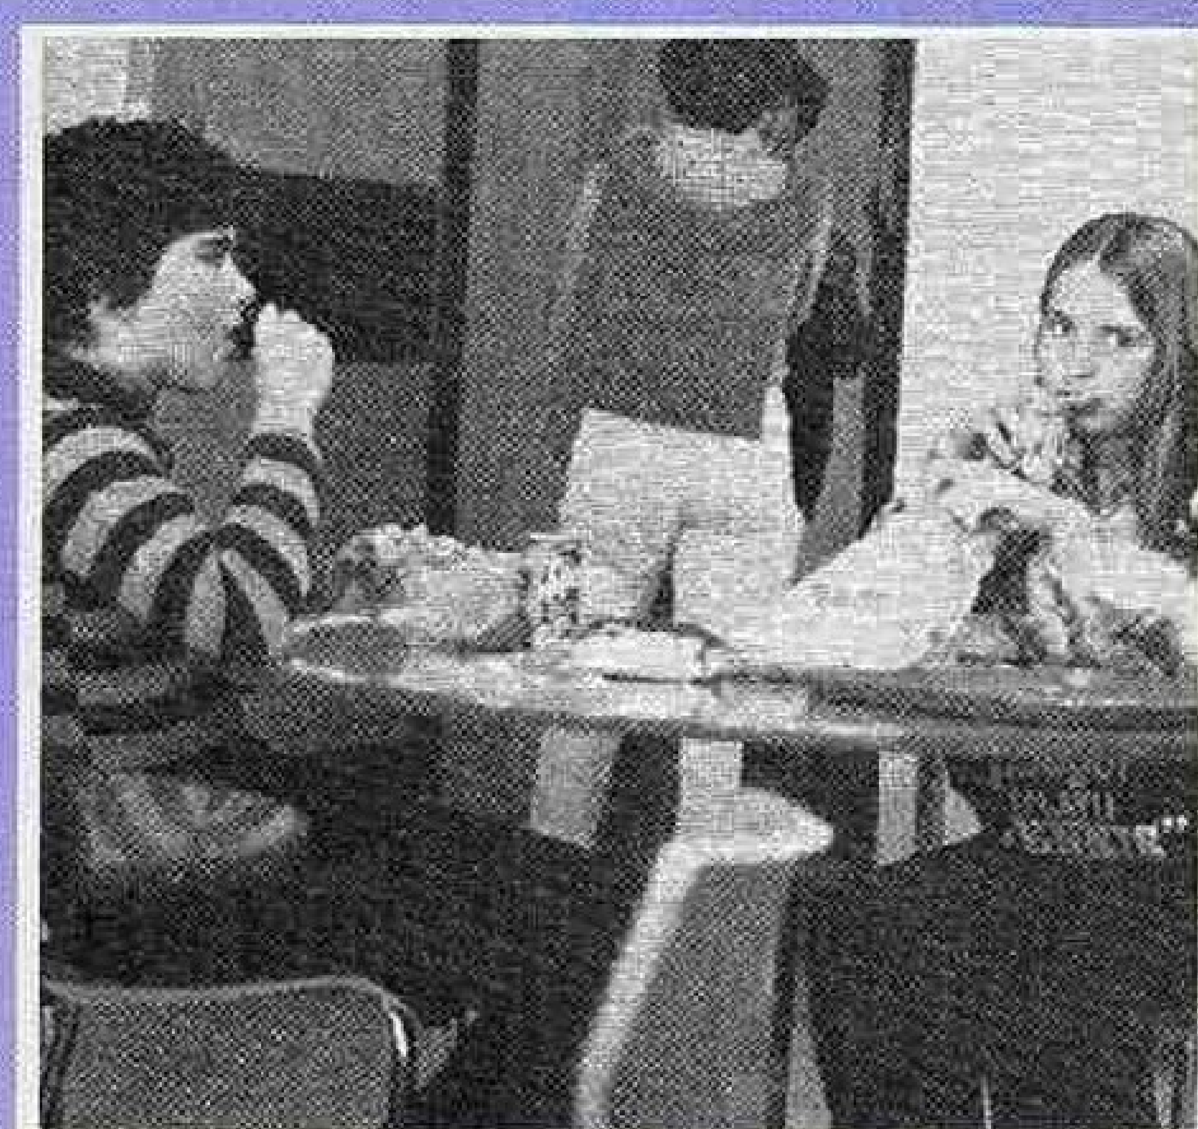

WESTON

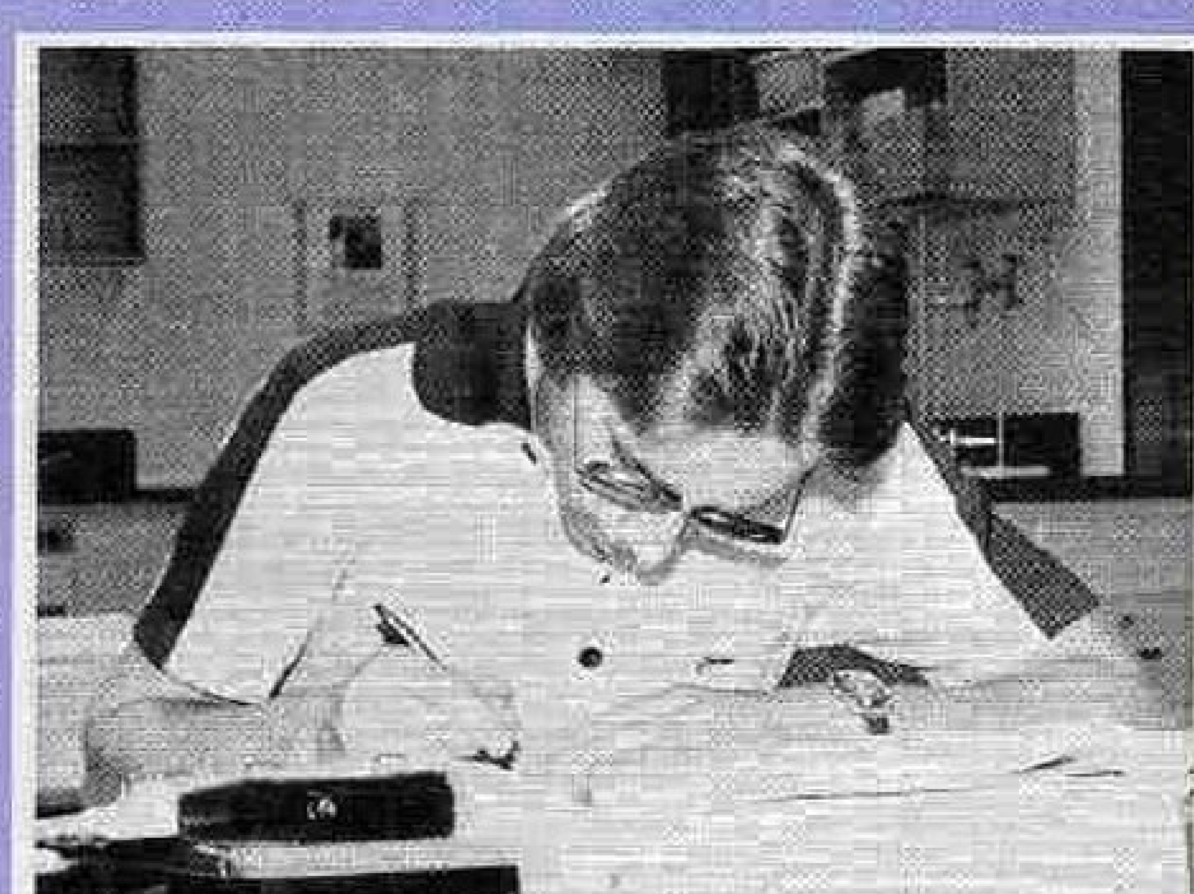

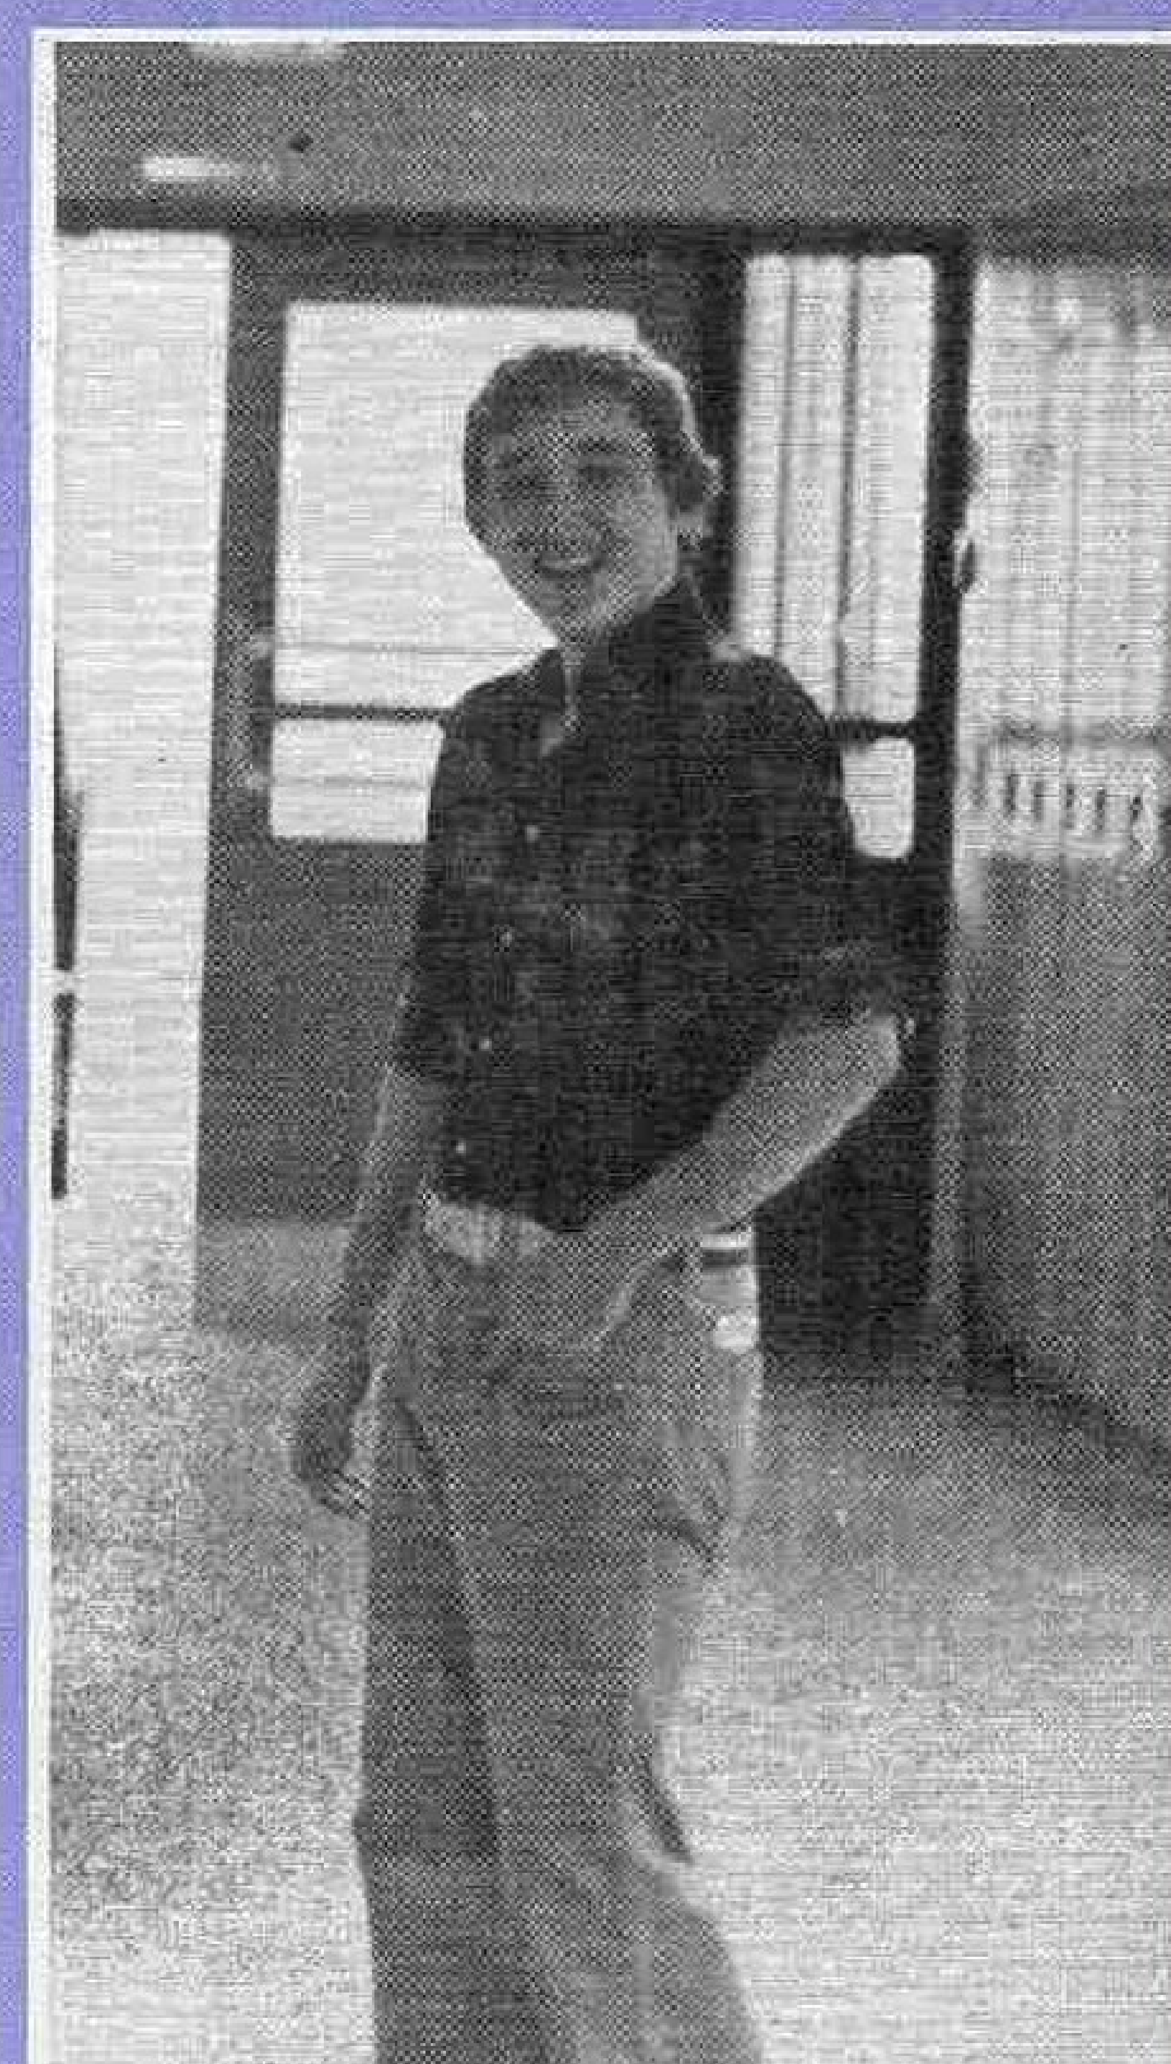

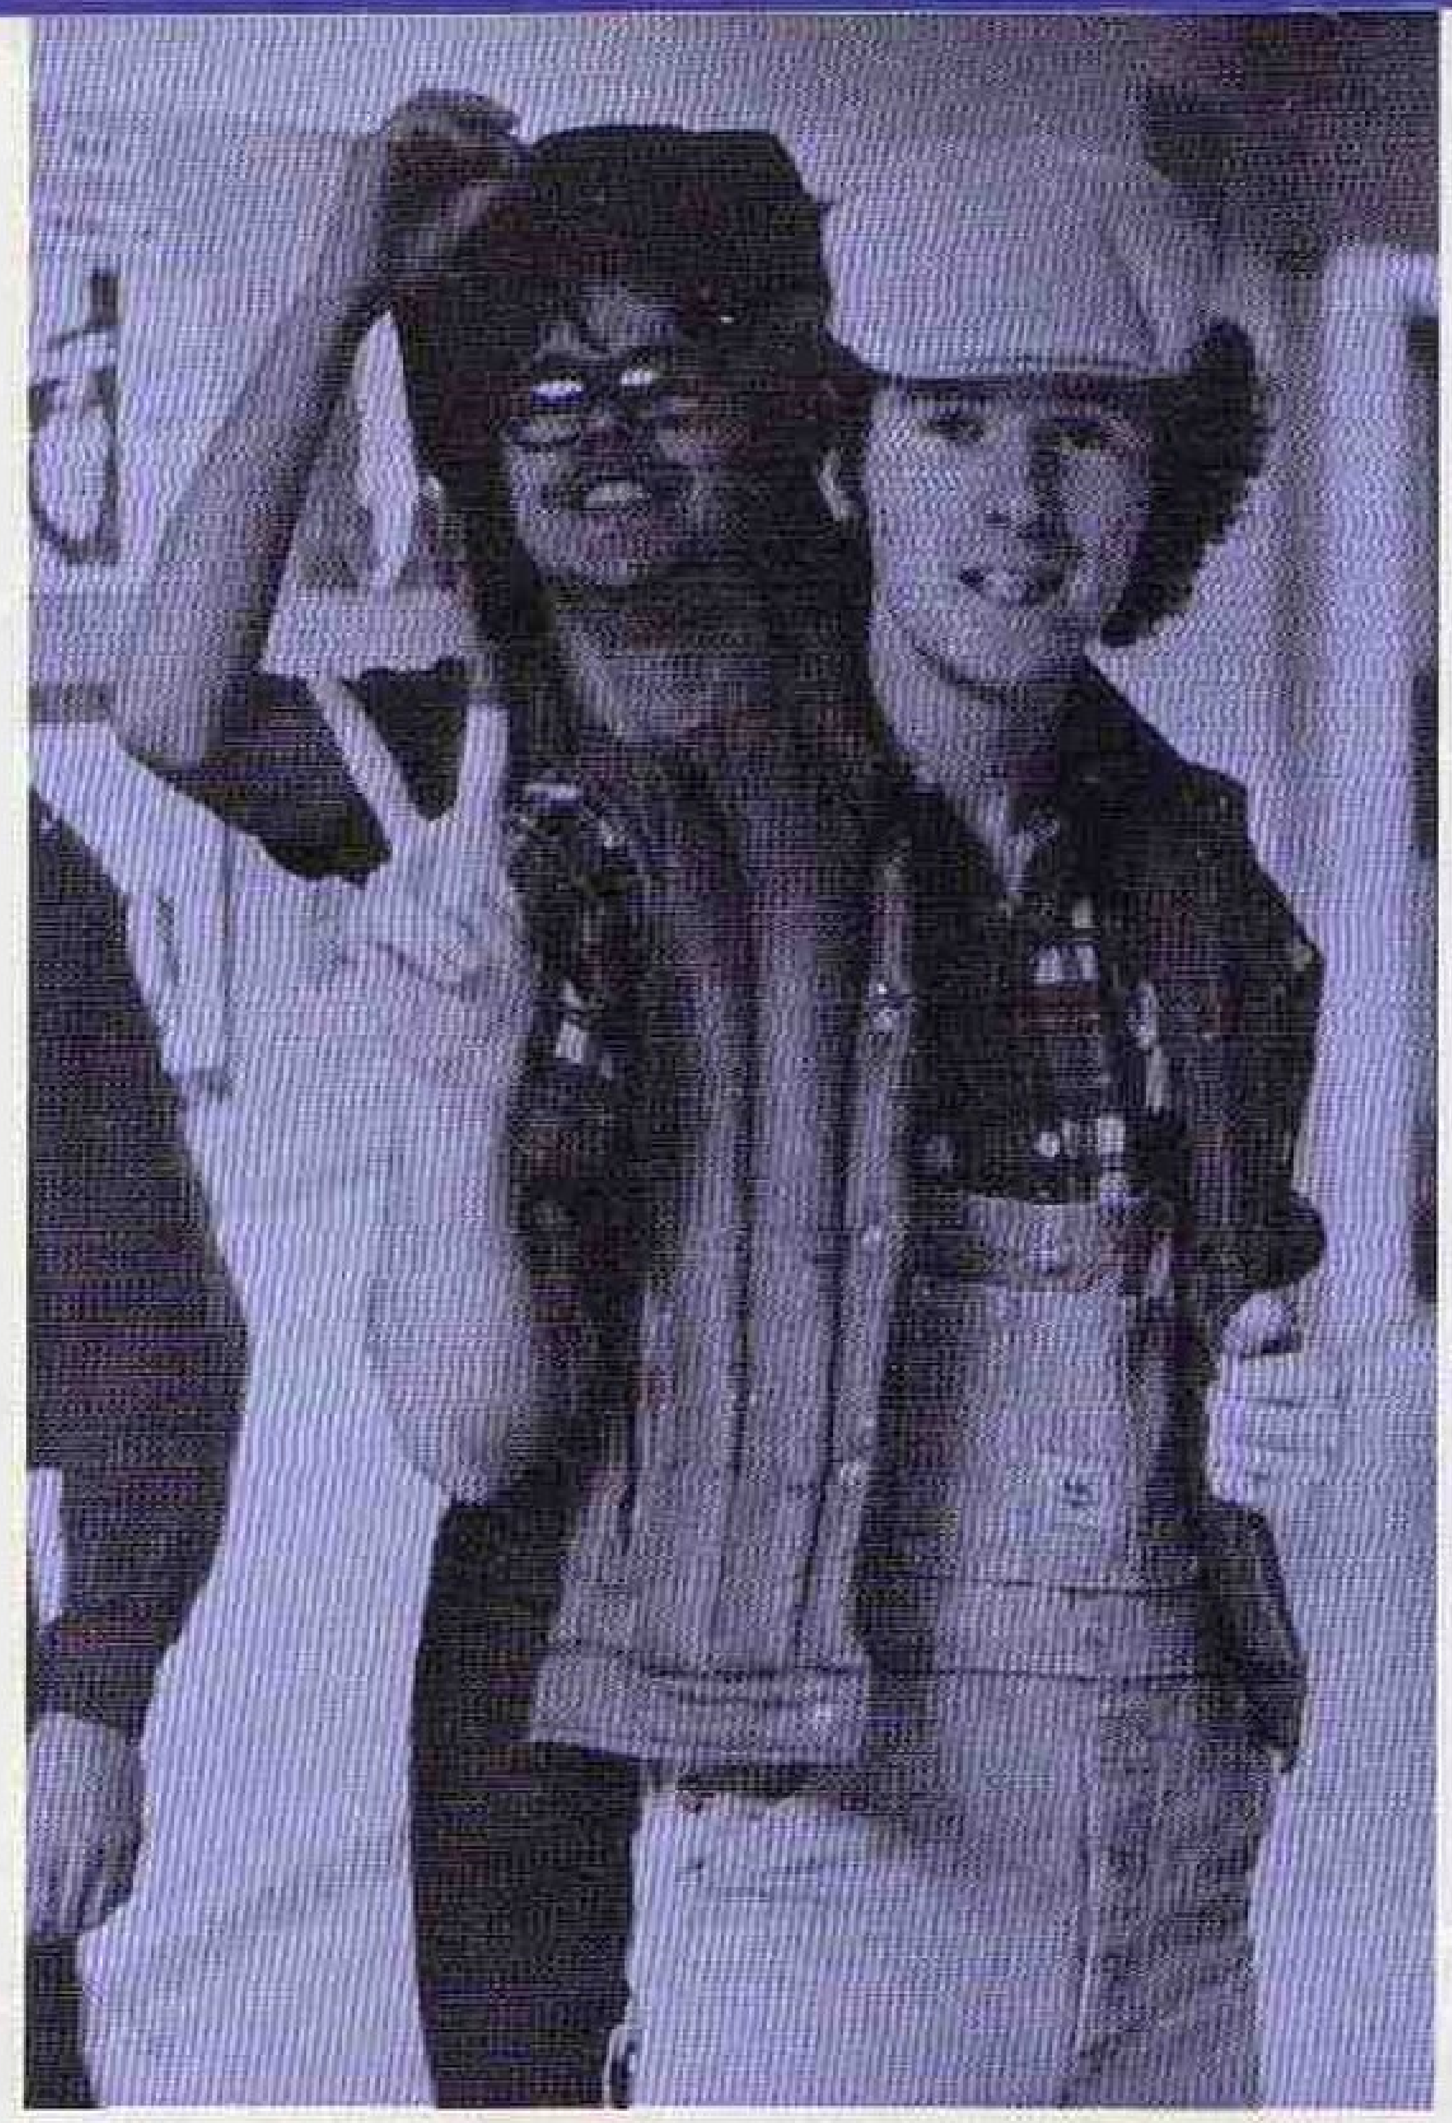

This year the United Way Campaign was ASTOUNDING, reaching an astonishing limit in $3, 589.05.

To kick off the campaign, we were treated to an assembly which nearly featured our two vice-principals getting a pie in the face. . .maybe next year, eh Pete?!?

Among the traditional favourites treated this year were: the International Dinner, received with much enthusiasm and support, a variety show, showing off some of Weston's top talent; and the ever-popular Rose Day.

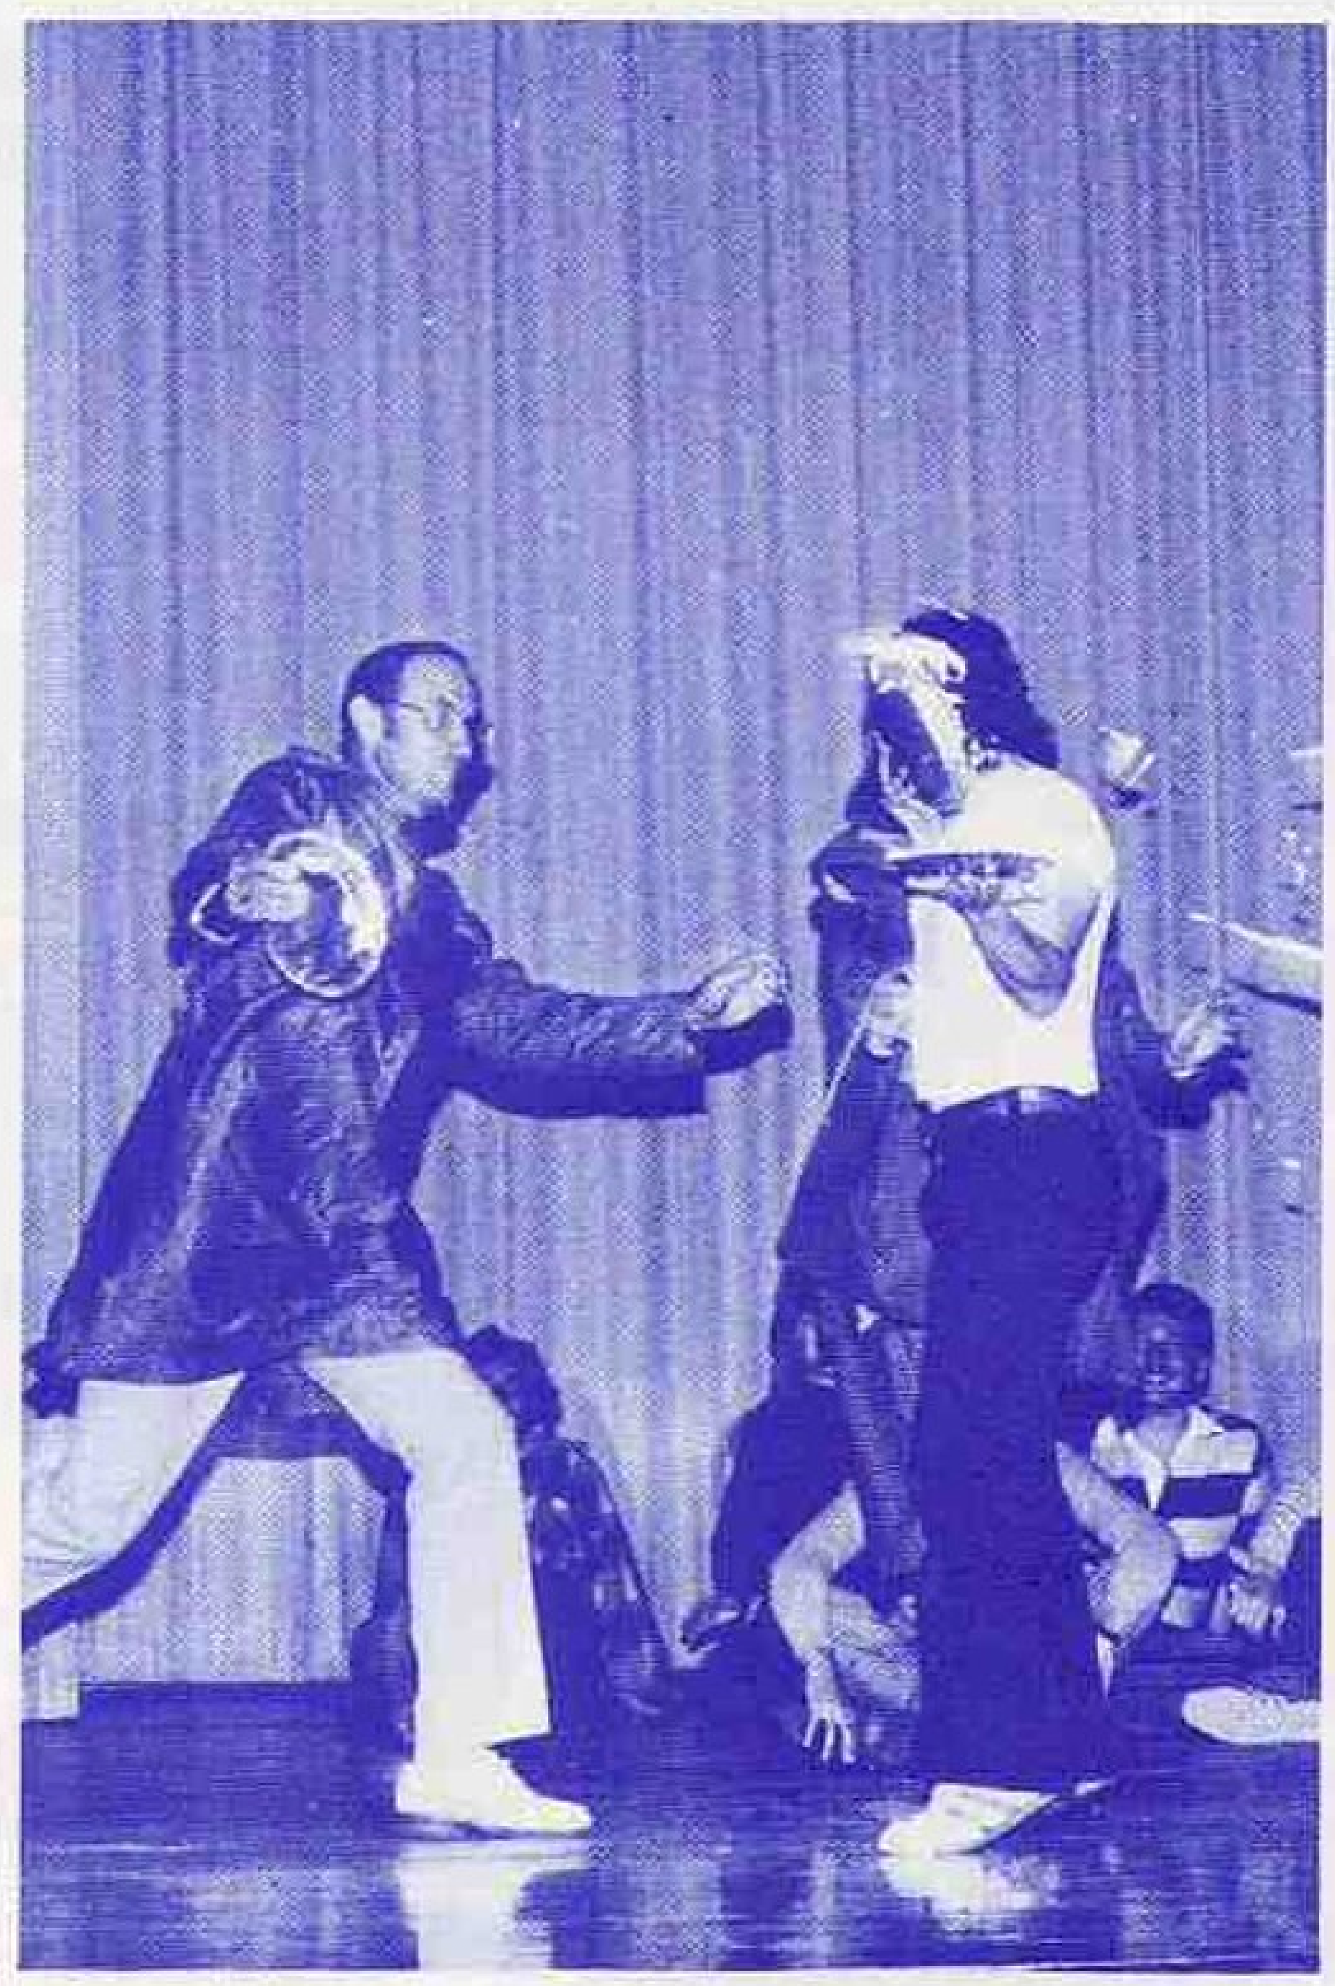

Once again, Weston students showed strong school spirit (and will power) by breaking their own World Bathtub Push-A-Thon record at the Yorkdale parking lot.

Congratulations!

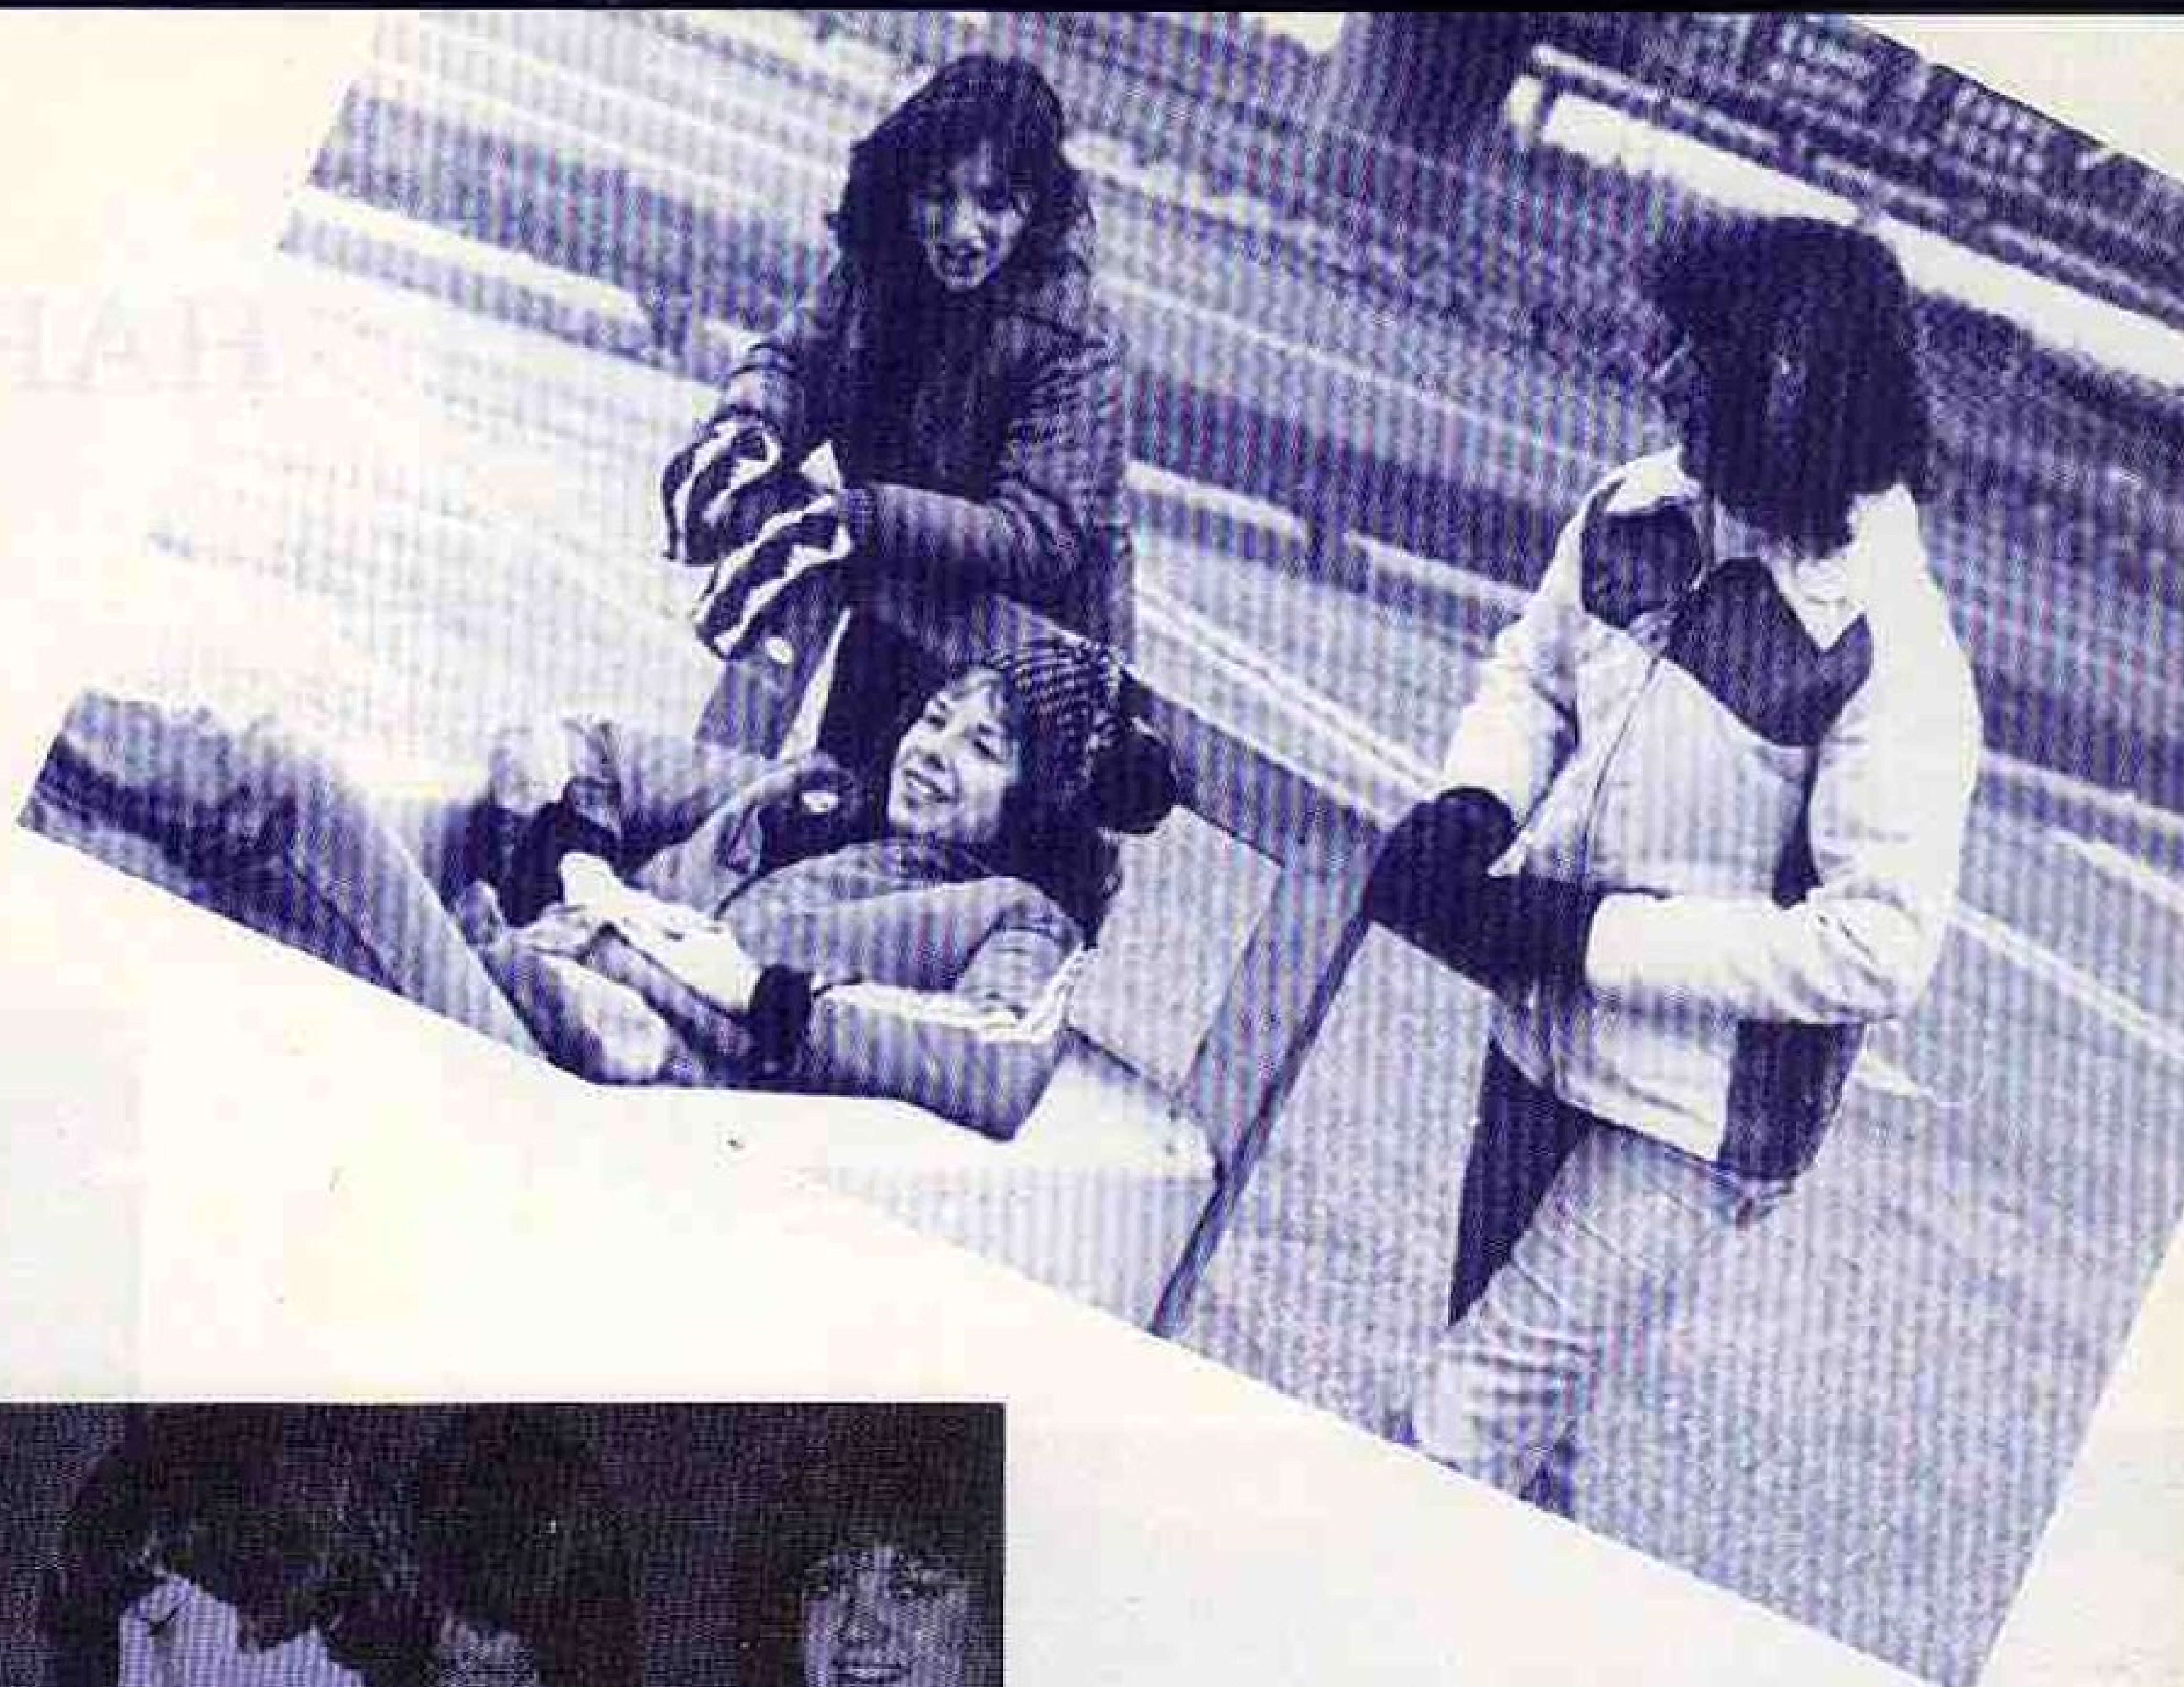

Many new events were introduced to Weston this year, including a Casino Night which was held after the International Dinner; a daring car rally; a cookie sale; lollypop sale; Hat Day; and, yes, even a Potato Day.

We also had a great D.J. dance with Trevor Jones.

And so, another phase of our school year is completed. . . successfully!!!

COVER CONTEST

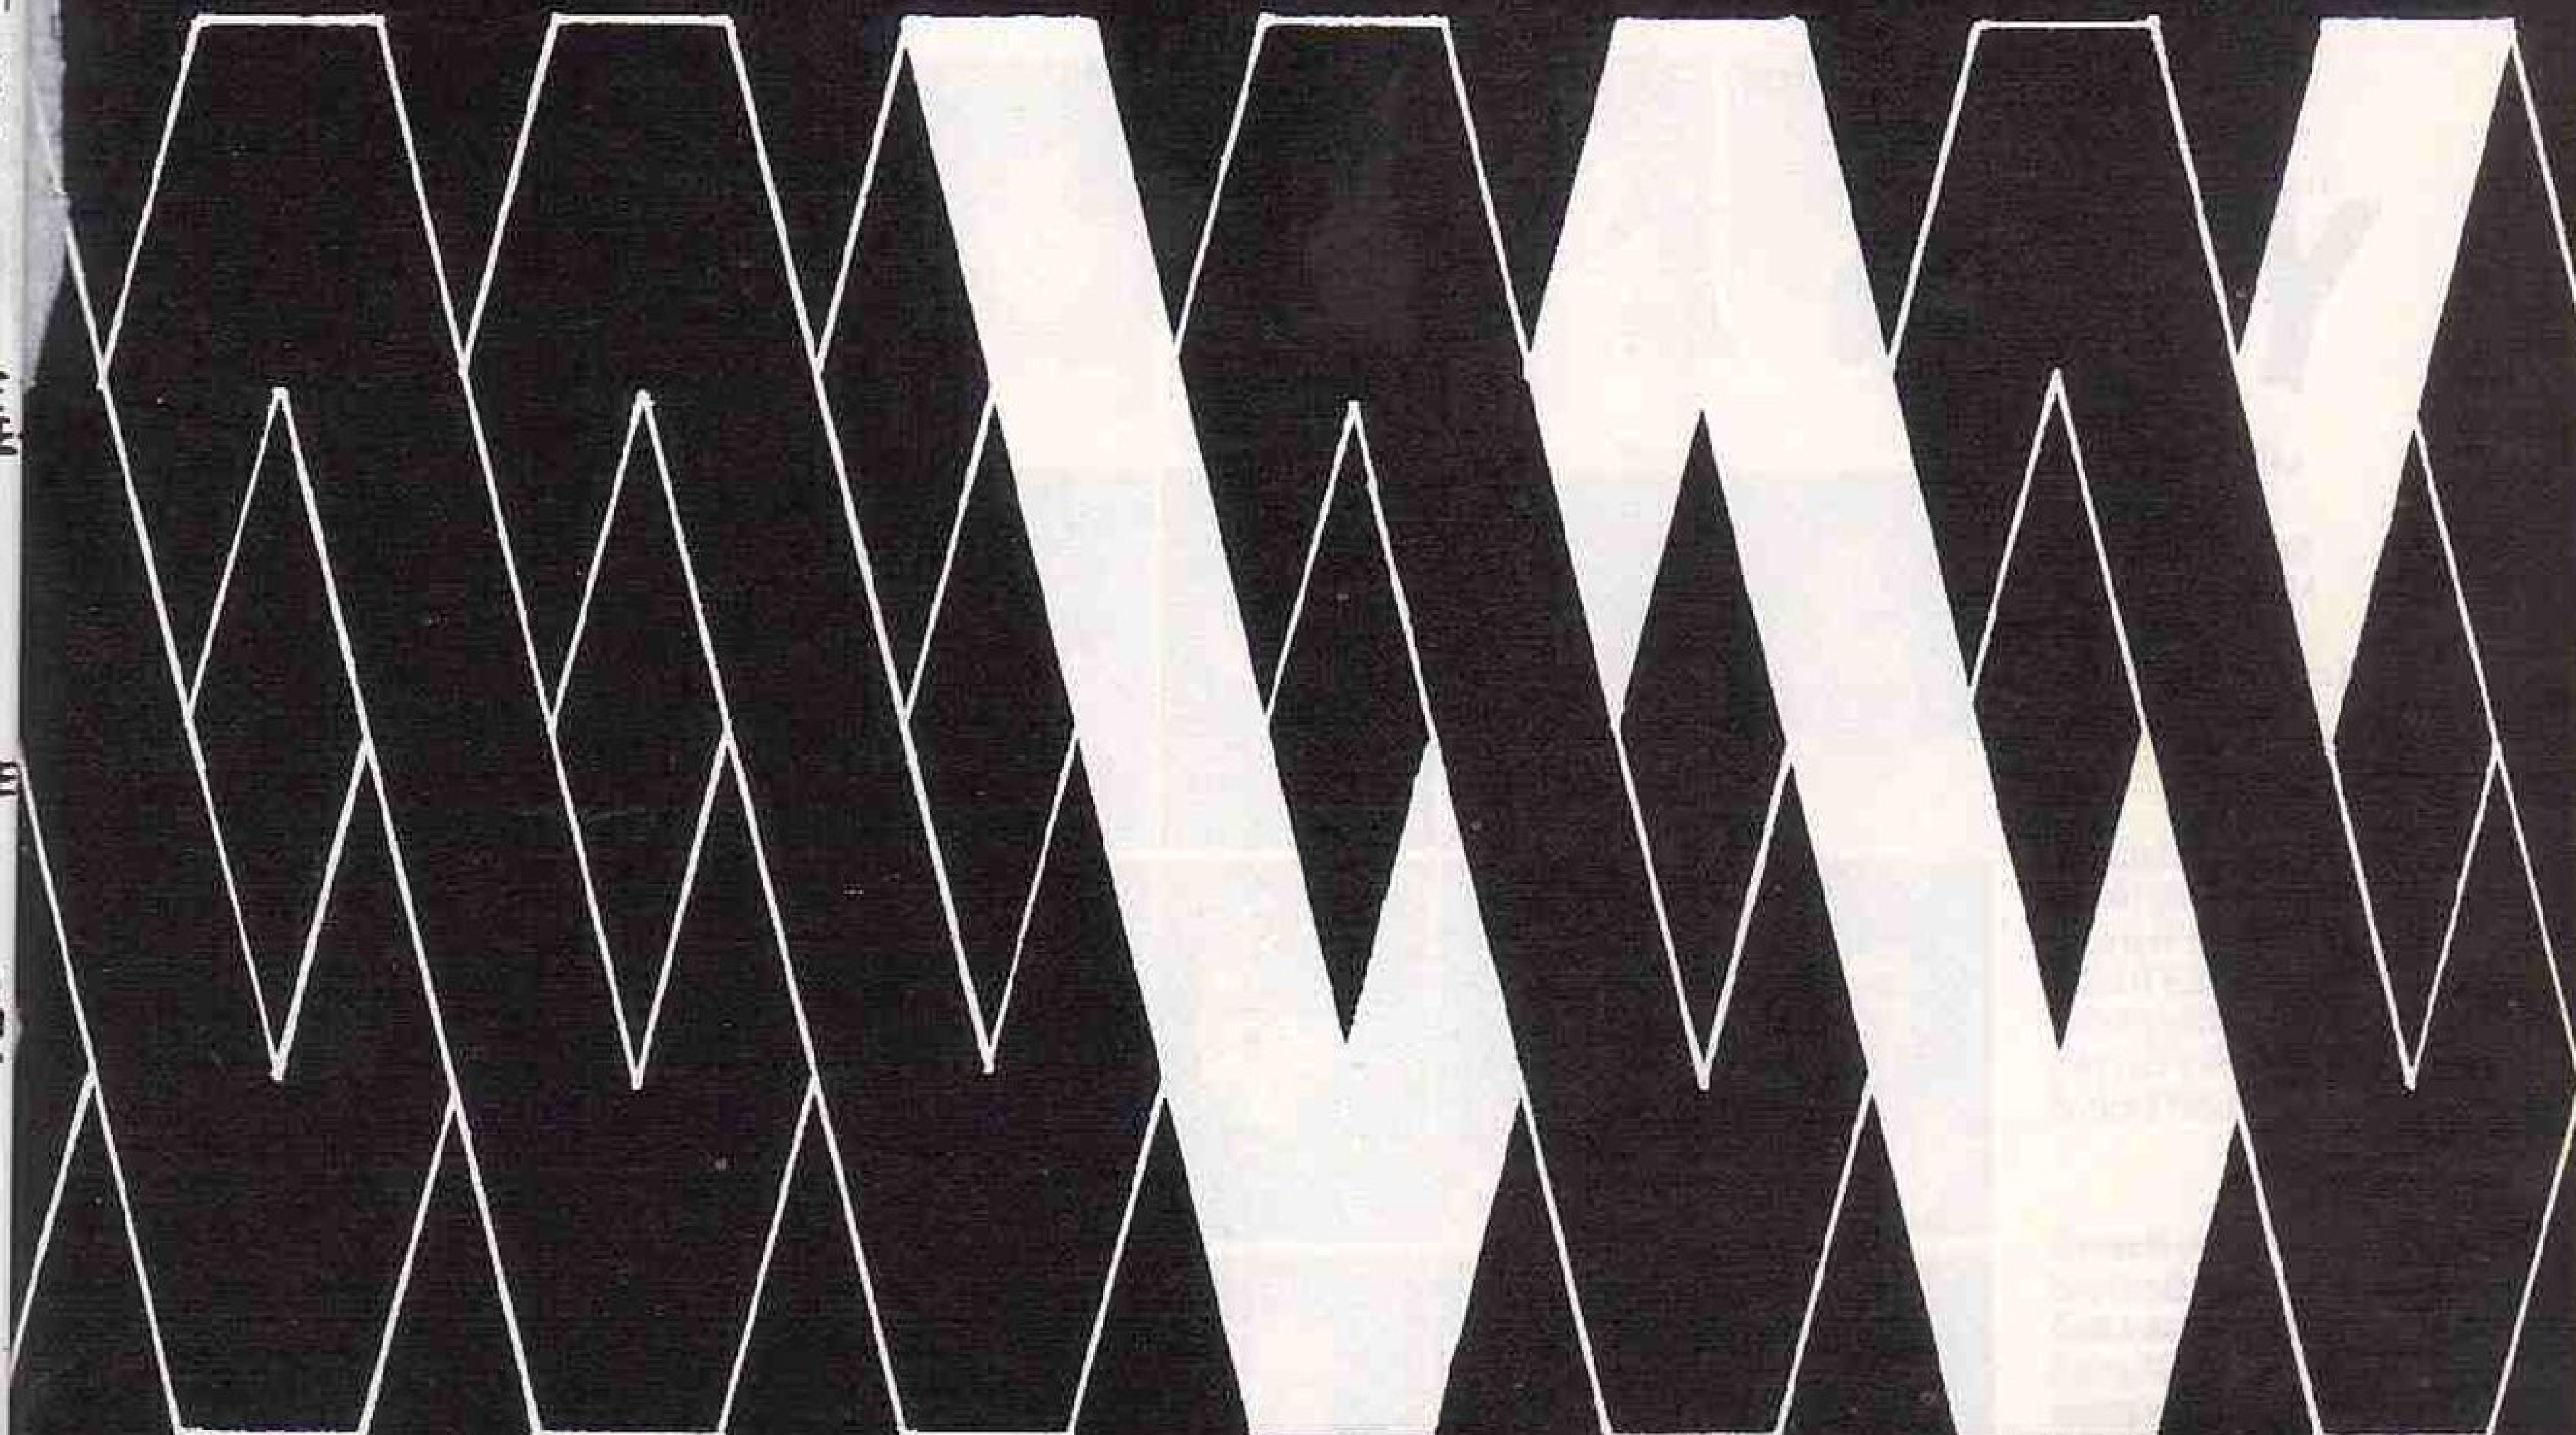

This year, for a change, we decided to call upon the help of Mr. D'Angelo's grade 11 commercial art classes to design a cover for the 1979 edition of the Conning Tower. The commercial art students worked long and hard on this project and all their designs were quite exceptional. But only one could be chosen, so 15 of the very best were selected and put up for display in the main hallway to be voted on by the student body. These 15 were then narrowed down to 6 finalists and then finally to the winning design. The final cover was designed by Jennifer Hughes. The yearbook is sincerely grateful, both to all those who designed covers and to those who voted. A special thanks goes to Mr. D'Angelo for his co-operation and time.

Your corsage will last for several wearings if you'll follow these directions. A soon as you receive it, leave it in the corsage box and place it in your refrigerator in or near the vegetable crisper. After wearing, sprinkle it with water and place it in a plastic bag, closing the end of the bag with pins. After two or three wearings, remove the ribbons, etc., and leave your corsage upside down in a bowl of water in your refrigerator overnight. Corsages should be pinned on with the stems pointing down.

ASSORTED OPINIONS

Friends are people who are around even when they don't need money. — Mary Di Mauro.

Friends. Oh ya, I'm gettin' one of those for Christmas. — W.D.

Don't ever let a good friend slip away. — Patricia McGuigan.

In order to have a friend, you have to be a friend. — Sandra Butler.

Friends? People you laugh with in the cafe. Talk to at all hours of the night about your latest problem or love. Listen to and cry with when things are going wrong. They are always around even when you don't need them. Friendship is a special relationship between people where they are totally free to say anything without feeling guilty. This year's Conning Tower hopes that through this edition you will all remember the people you shared things with during your years at Weston Collegiate. We sincerely hope that you remember them now and forever.

If you can't kid your friends, who can you kid! — Martin Mull.

Yeah, I think I've got some of those! — Ed MacDonald.

Good friends are like diamonds, precious but rare. — Author Unknown.

FRIENDSHIP

Everybody needs friends. — M.T.

A friend is someone you can express your deepest feelings to and someone you can ask for help from without feeling insulted by their response. — Lori.

A friend makes every moment special. — Gail Ault.

One person finds a use for another who can also derive a special use for that person. They share everything have implicit trust in each other and most of all, have no feelings of jealousy for one another. — L.K.W.

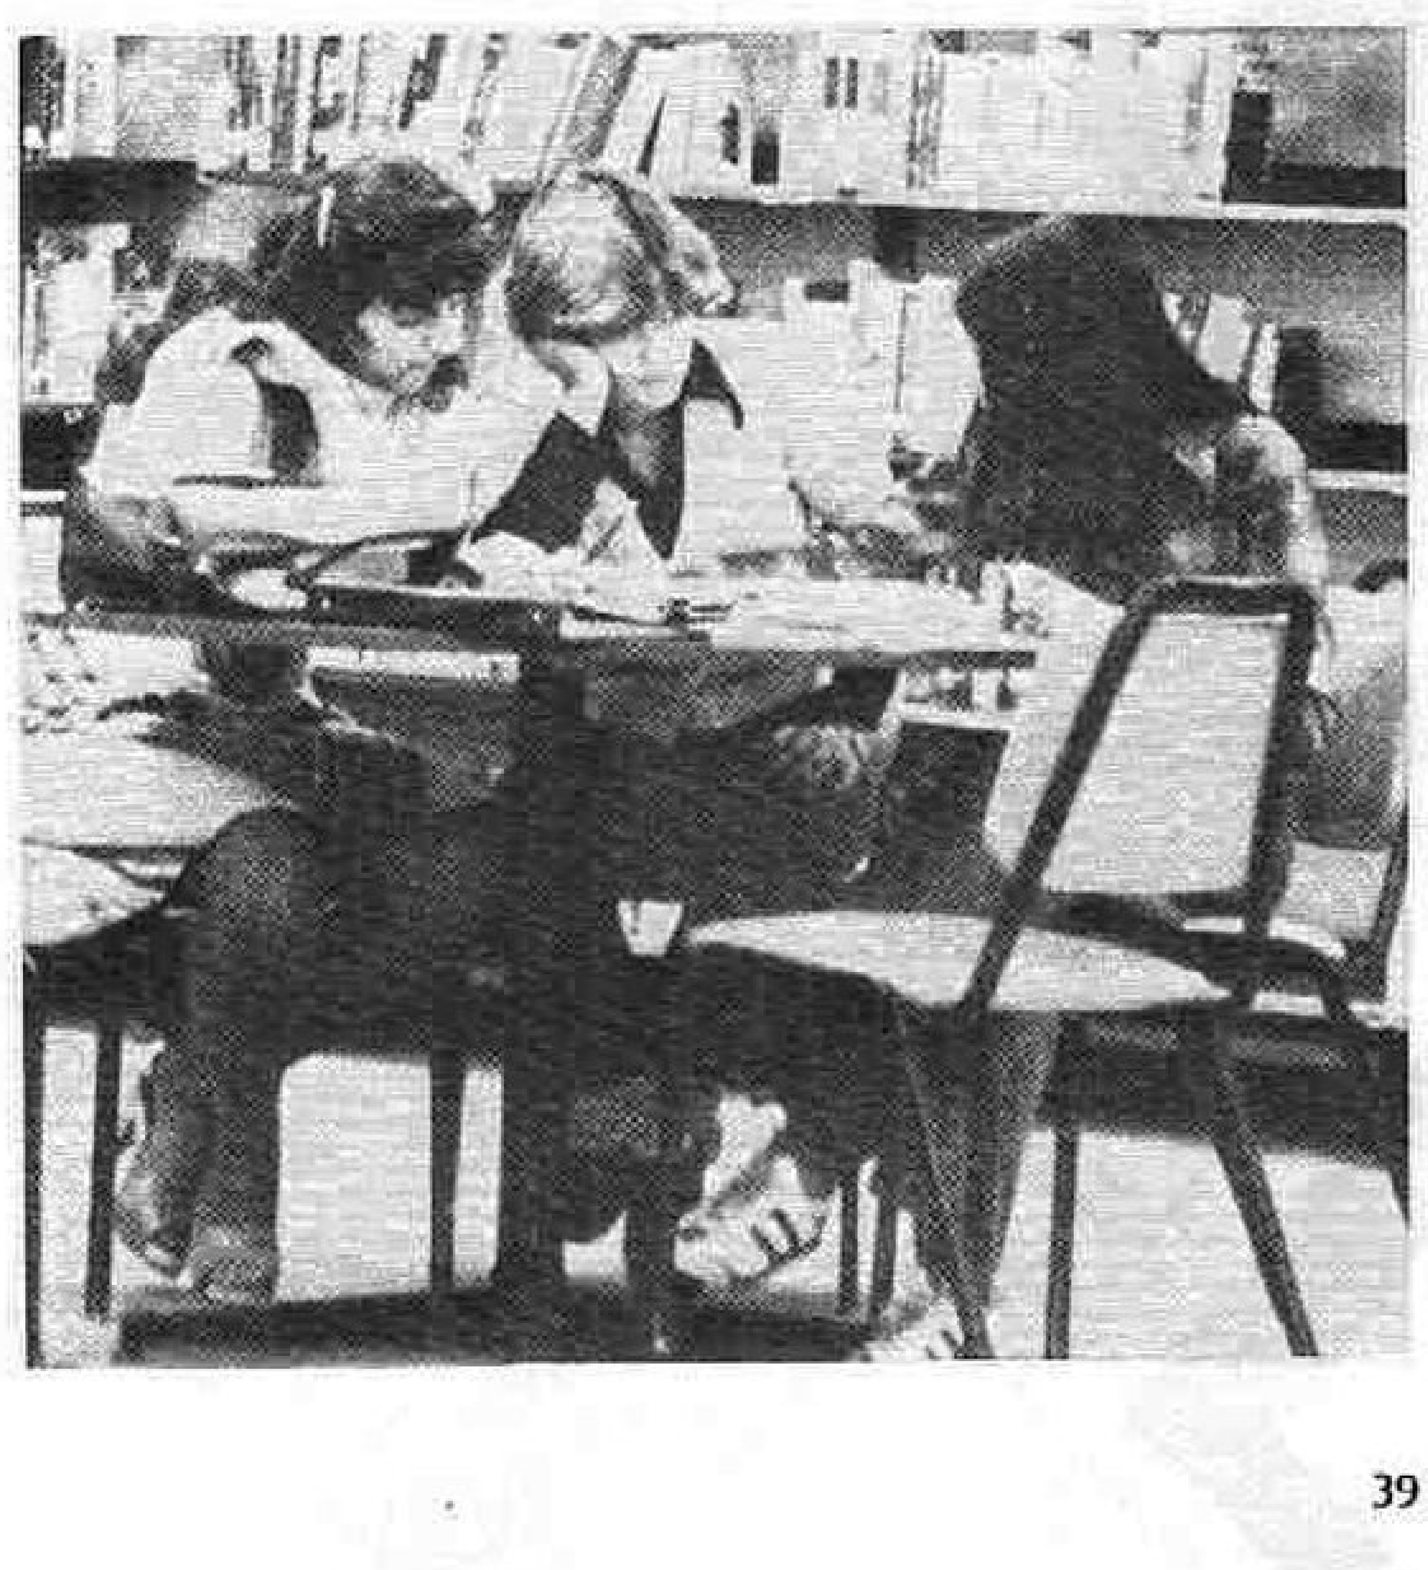

My best friend is my stuffed bear, Bernie. — Mary Florian.

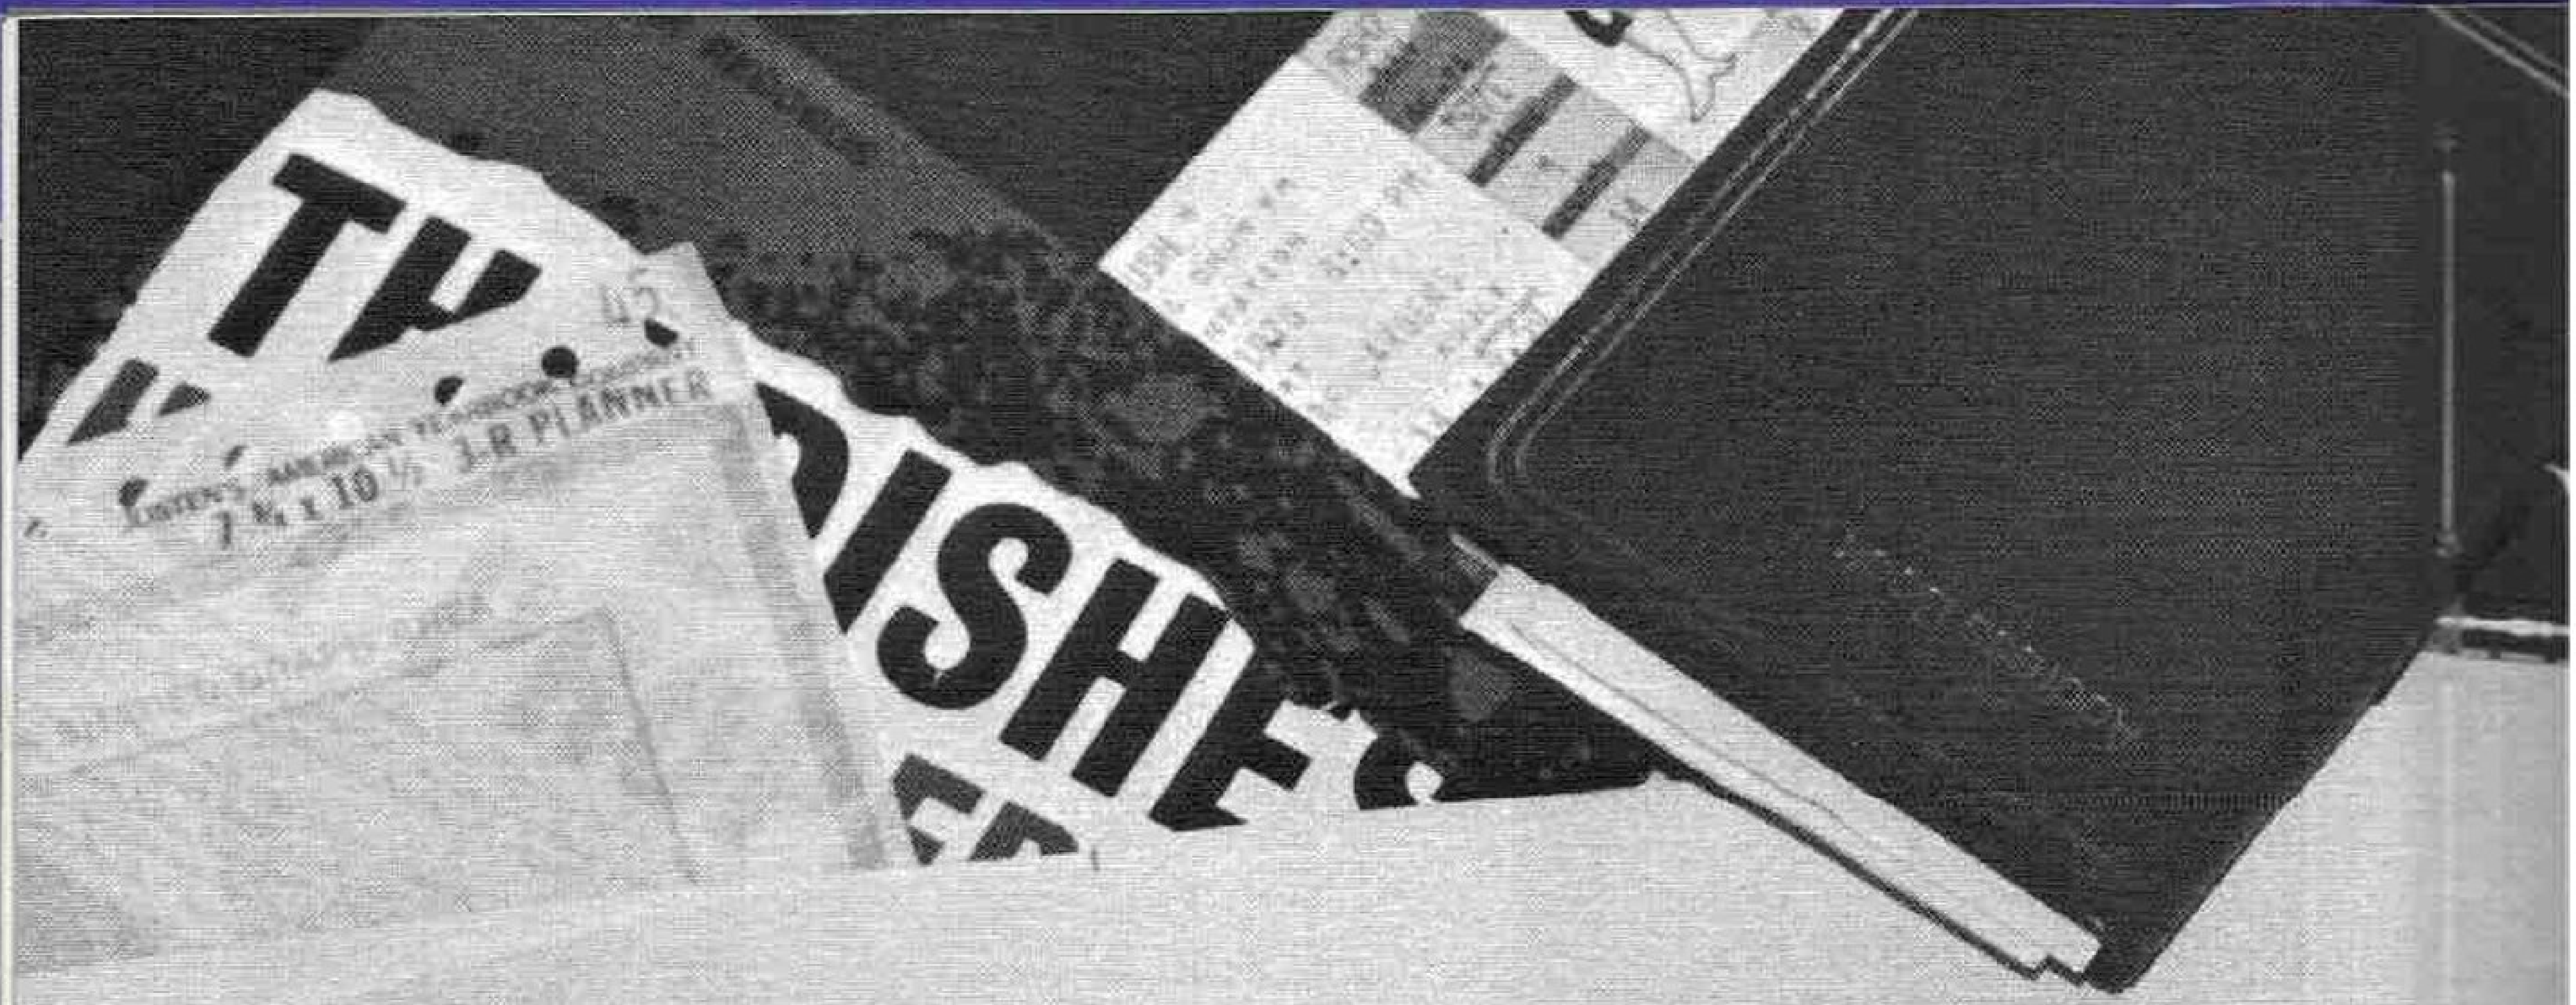

A friend is an acquaintance who not only laughs but cries with you. — P.J. Komlos.

I think friends are people we can laugh with, talk to and just enjoy being with. — Mara Pivato.

Friendship is a funny thing
IT Simply can't be planned
In just a twinkling two hearts meet
And feel and understand
And from that brief beginning
Comes a bond so deep and true
That it will last a lifetime
And mean all the world to you!
Elizabeth M. Gerus

A friend loveth at all times. — Joanne Showers.

STAIRCASE LOVERS.

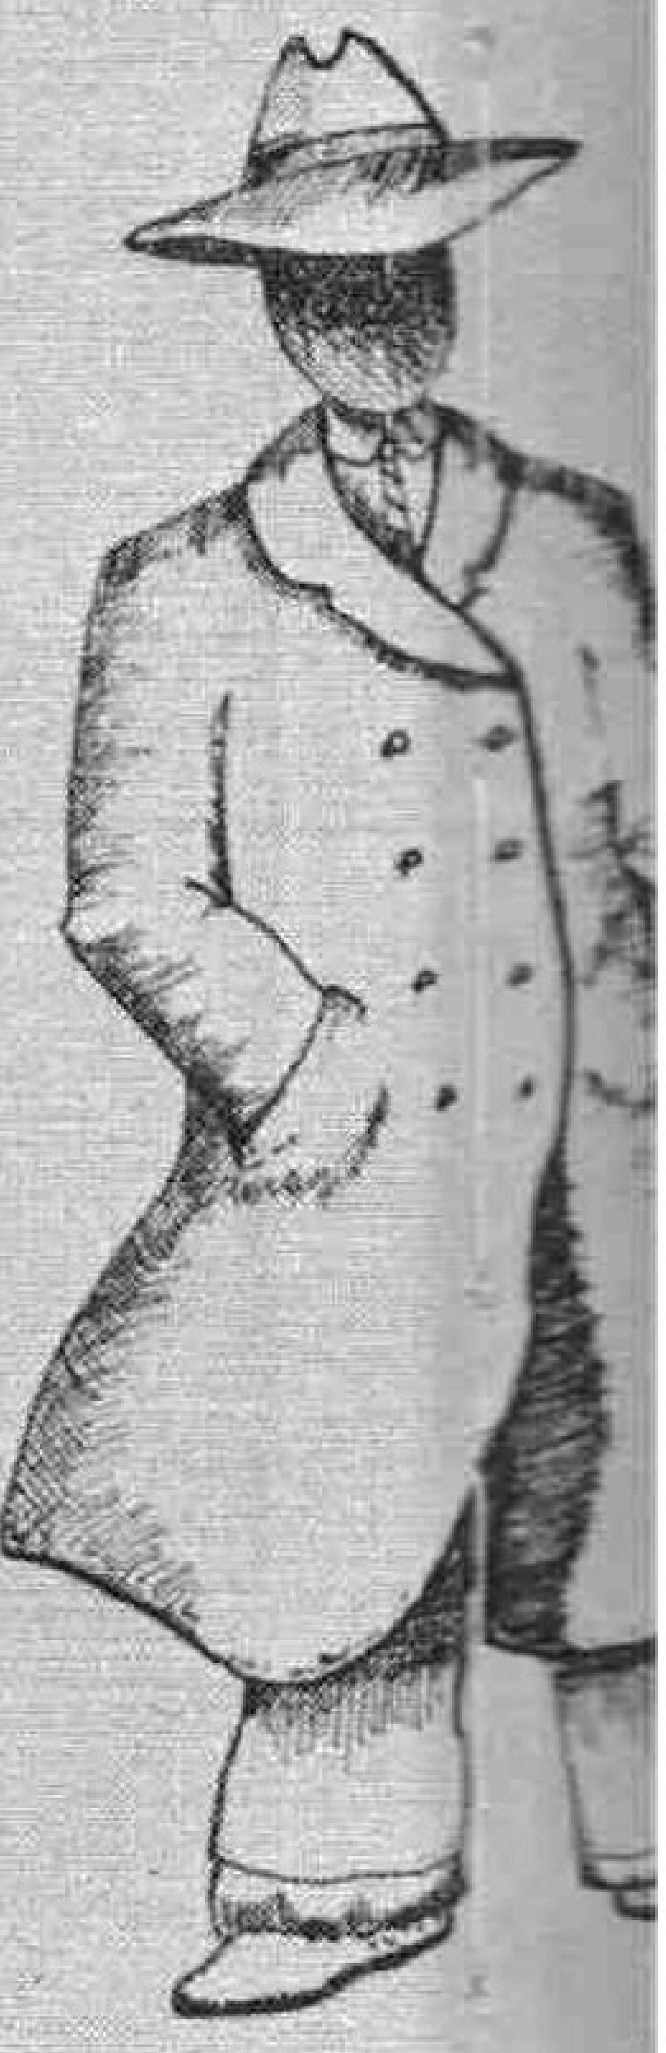

Staircase Lovers
all alone in their thoughts
Full of Love.
Full of Joy.

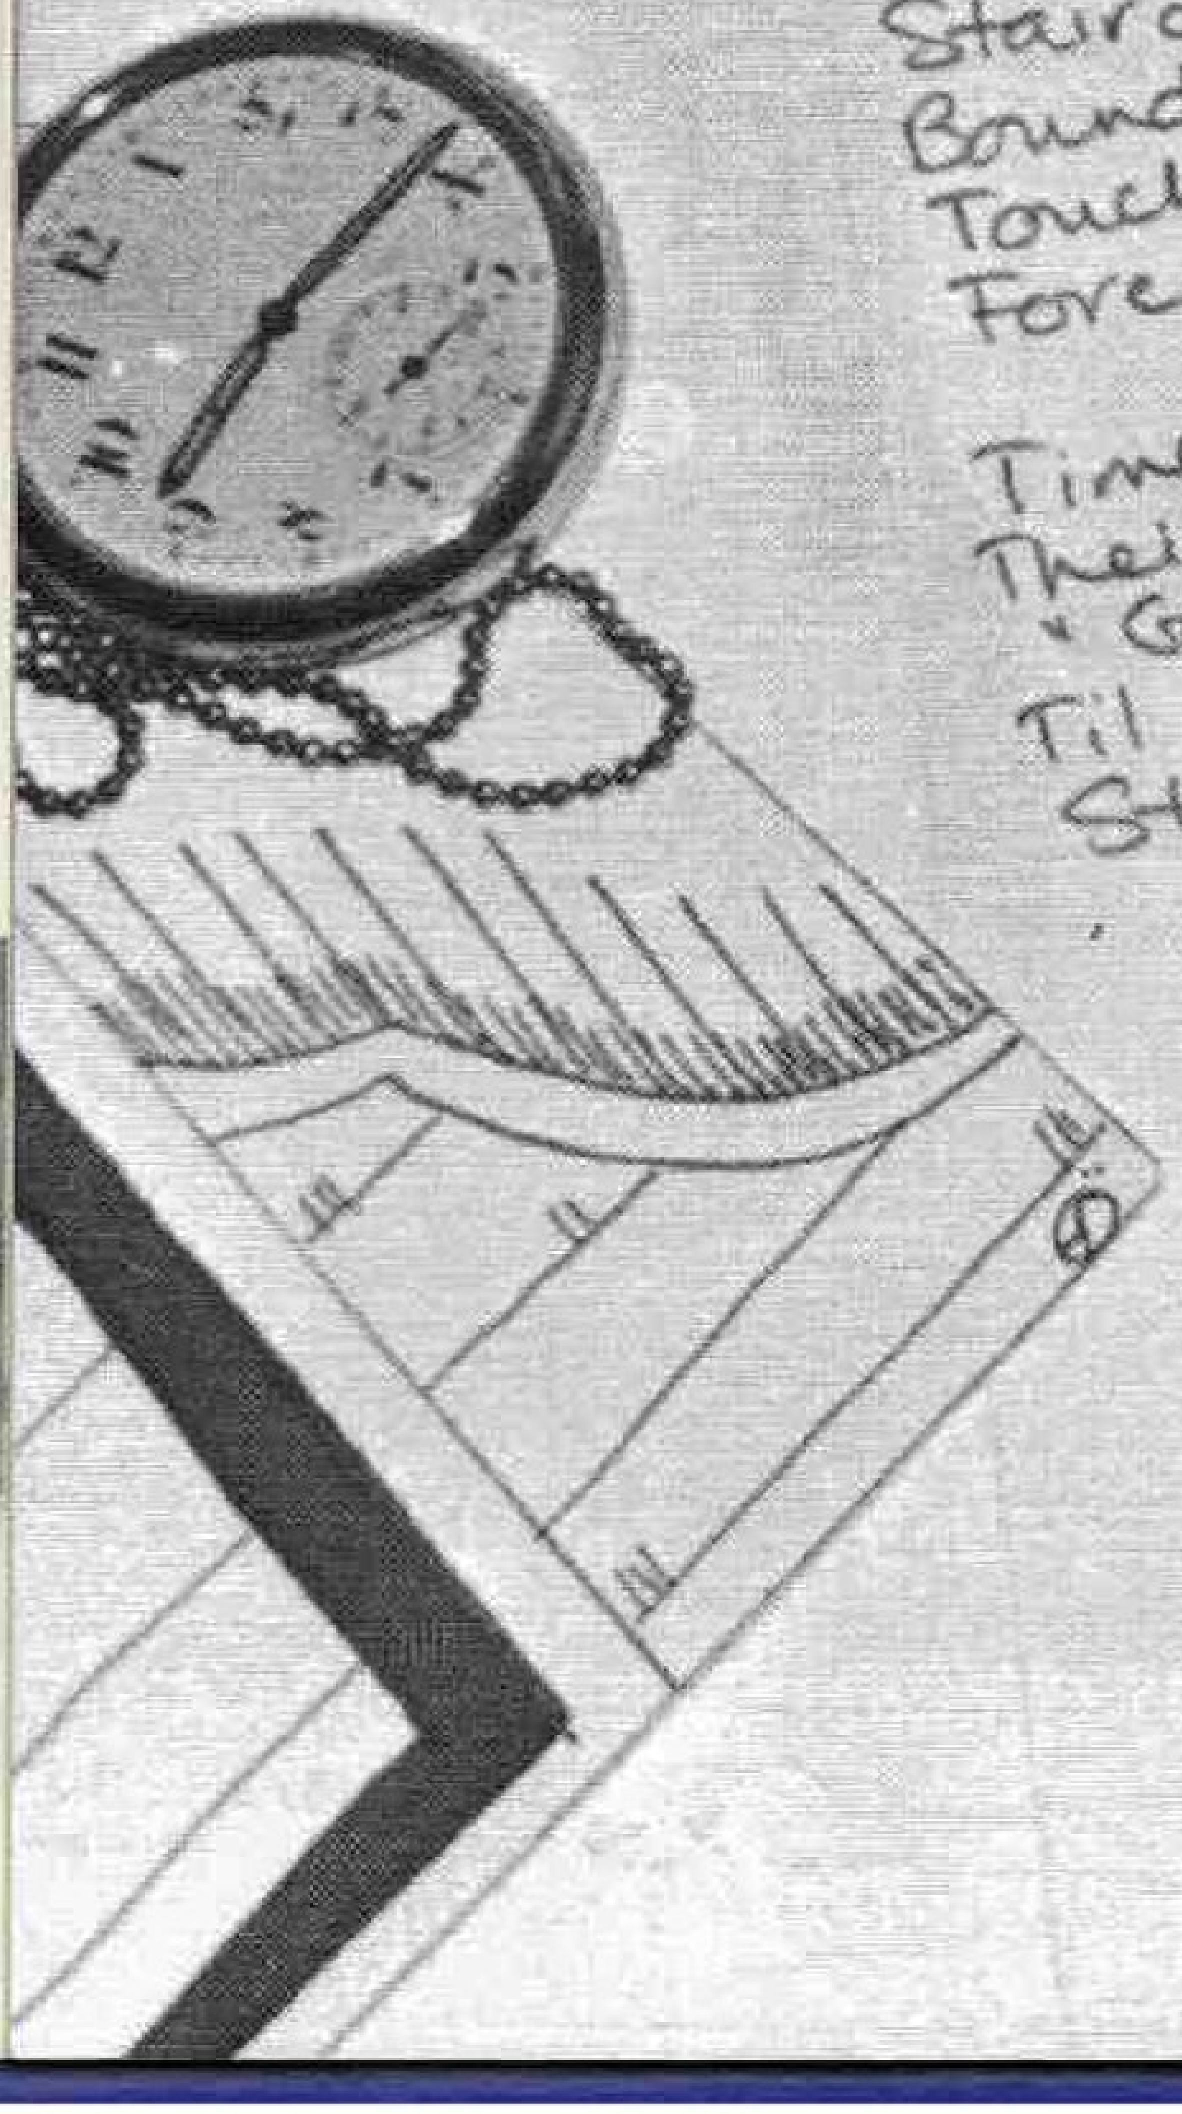

Staircase Lovers
Together they sit
An unspoken moment.
Cherished by love.

Staircase Lovers
Boundless love between them.
Touching, Feeling, Dreaming.
Forever, and ever, and a day.

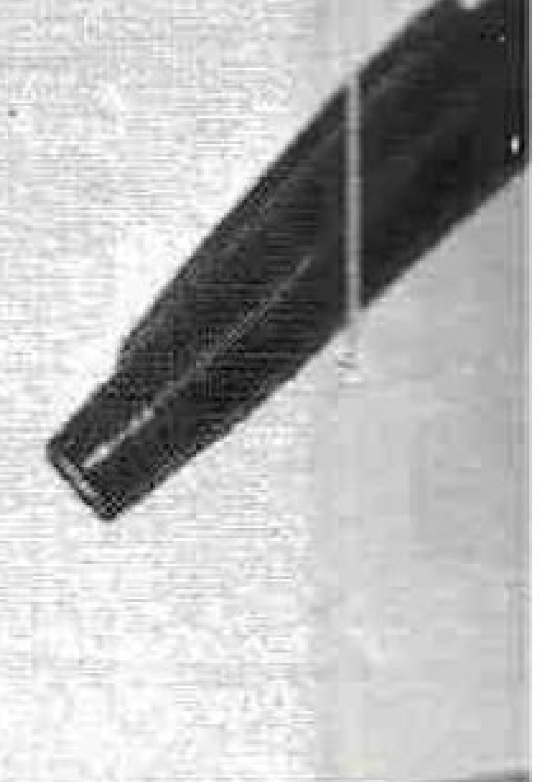

Time fades away
Their moment of love broken
"Goodbye, My Love"
Til tomorrow, once again
Staircase Lovers.

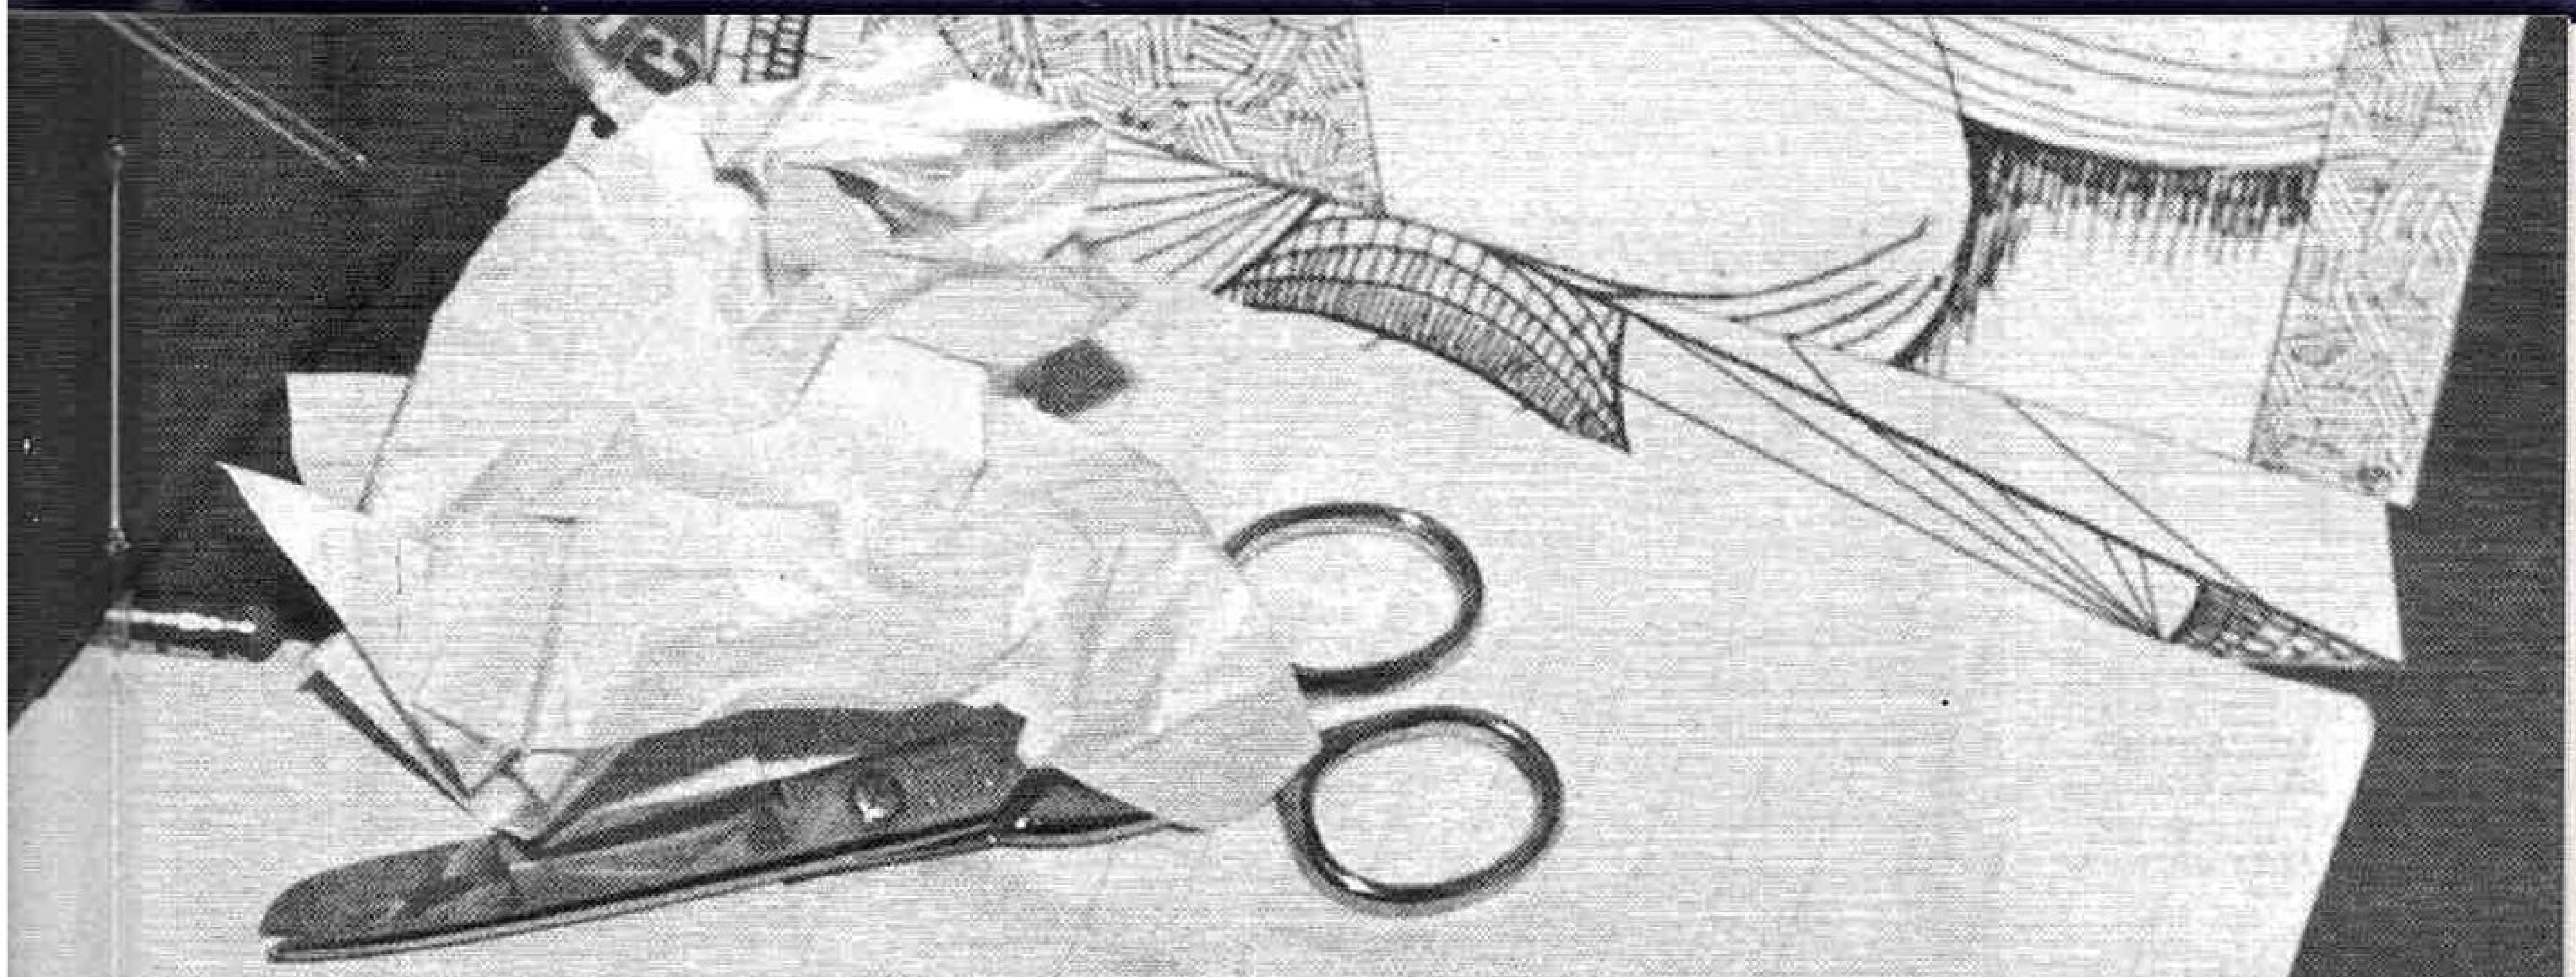

Simon Cheung.

THE WIND

The wind
Blows Hollow
In the chambers of my heart
Where thoughts of you are brought to mind
On cold and windy days.
Thoughts of emptiness
That leave a shiver down my spine,
And stop the blood from flowing
When trying to survive.

Susan Dilling.

impressionable

i was impressionable
so they put a crayon
in my left hand
to teach me things
they said i should know
and read me stories of good little boys and girls who lived in small red houses with straight green lawns and white-washed fences or bad little children who had to sit in dark corners and cry to themselves

they put me behind hard metal desks with a no. 2 pencil and told me i could make the world better teaching me how to add and subtract or the function of a noun or how a lever worked but when i asked why tears came when people were sad or why things had to die or where the birds went when the rain fell they laughed
and taught me verbs

they locked me in cold brick buildings with a pen that bled blue ink and told me what life was thinking they knew and explained the circulatory system and the life process of cells and how to cut up frogs with warm hearts still beating . . .

will i learn

DEDICATED . . .

May God bless and keep you always.
May your wishes
all come true.
May you always do for others and let others do for you.
May you build a ladder
to the stars and climb
on every rung,
And may you stay forever
young.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

Until I finally sat down to write this speech there had been all sorts of ideas swirling around in my head concerning what it might sound like. But as these ideas slowly began to mesh and develop a structure, I couldn't help but wonder how much of it really merited the effort or the breath. There are few things that do.

According to the dictionary, the valedictory address is an address of farewell, and, as the word implies, it is just as much a case of looking to the future as the past.

But what of the past? What of the memories and experiences, the pleasures and the misfortunes? While much of what we've done here at school has already been lost to time, the remainder will no doubt resurface again and again in future states of mind, summoned there in the solitude of a rainy day, or brought to mind in a moment of relaxation. But regardless of its nature the memory will be different for every person who brings it to light — idealized to greater or lesser degrees or purposely forgotten altogether. Just as some memories of bad experiences will be forever repressed; pride and satisfaction will never permit others to rest. Ultimately we are as much a product of our memories as they are products of us. So it goes.

We're like gardners. We all shape what we have, weeding out what displeases us and nurturing what we are fond of. Allowing some seeds to grow and in turn removing others which seem to have no place there.

And a good deal of this weeding and nurturing has been done here at school, masquerading in the disguises of football practices and exams, skipped classes or twenty lengths of front crawl. They have played fundamental roles in shaping all of us if only by their absence.

All of us are bound to have noticed that, like it or not, the last few years have forced us into situations in which our decisions would dictate the nature of our individual futures. It is this process of decision-making that gradually changes us so that all the various facets of our lives become less and less wha. we can be and more and more what we are. I suppose the idea here is to keep the two harmoniously balanced and interrelating. Action tempered by reflection, and reflection in turn tempered by basic insight. As someone once told me: Life is the art of the possible.

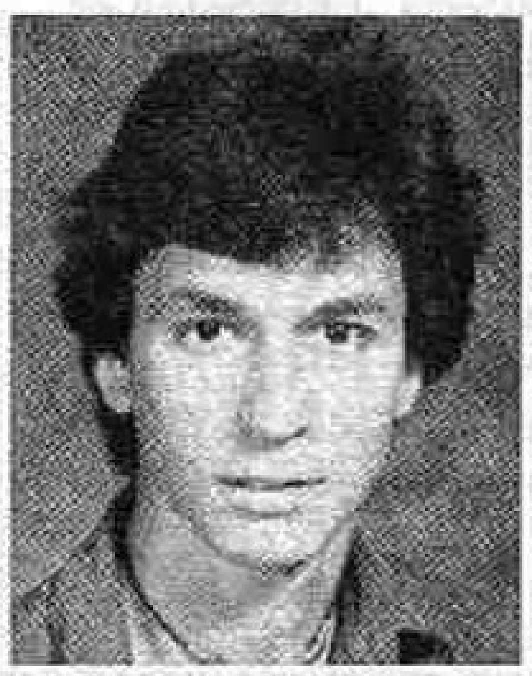

To be any more specific about the past four, five or six years isn't really necessary. The tendancy is to look back at the past and sentimentalize everything but the grudges we may hold — and those we blow out of proportion the opposite way. I feel that were I to recap the excellence of all our athletic teams, and then speak glowingly of our intellectual standards, then surely I should give vent to all the things or people that created hassles from time to time.

I think not. I leave that up to everyone when getting together over coffee or Canadian or whatever. This is just an address of farewell, and as farewells go, the best ones are usually the briefest.

Thank you,
Howard Sager

WESTON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

MEMORANDUM

TO: Yearbook Staff DATE: January, 1979

FROM: F.G. Irving, Principal
Weston Collegiate Institute

SUBJECT: CONNING TOWER - 1978-79

On behalf of the staff and students of Weston Collegiate, I would like to thank Kellie Dearman, Andy Allardyce, Colin Heath, Mr. Jones, Mrs. Kelly, Donna Carr, Hoi Nguyen, Chris Kosmala, Martin Proctor, Angela Vivaldo, Lucy Vivaldo and Bret Tinson for their efforts in the production of the 1978-79 Yearbook.

I'm fully aware that verbal accolades are nearly meaningless when weighed against the frustrations of the endless hours of decision making, of the examination and editing of submitted layouts, of the struggle to cope with the ever present deadlines and of the sometimes seeming indifference of both staff and students. However, you did persevere and the Conning Tower - 1979 became a fact. You will be able to see the very real pleasure with which the staff and students adopt this - their Yearbook and you will have the satisfaction and sense of accomplishment of knowing that you created it.

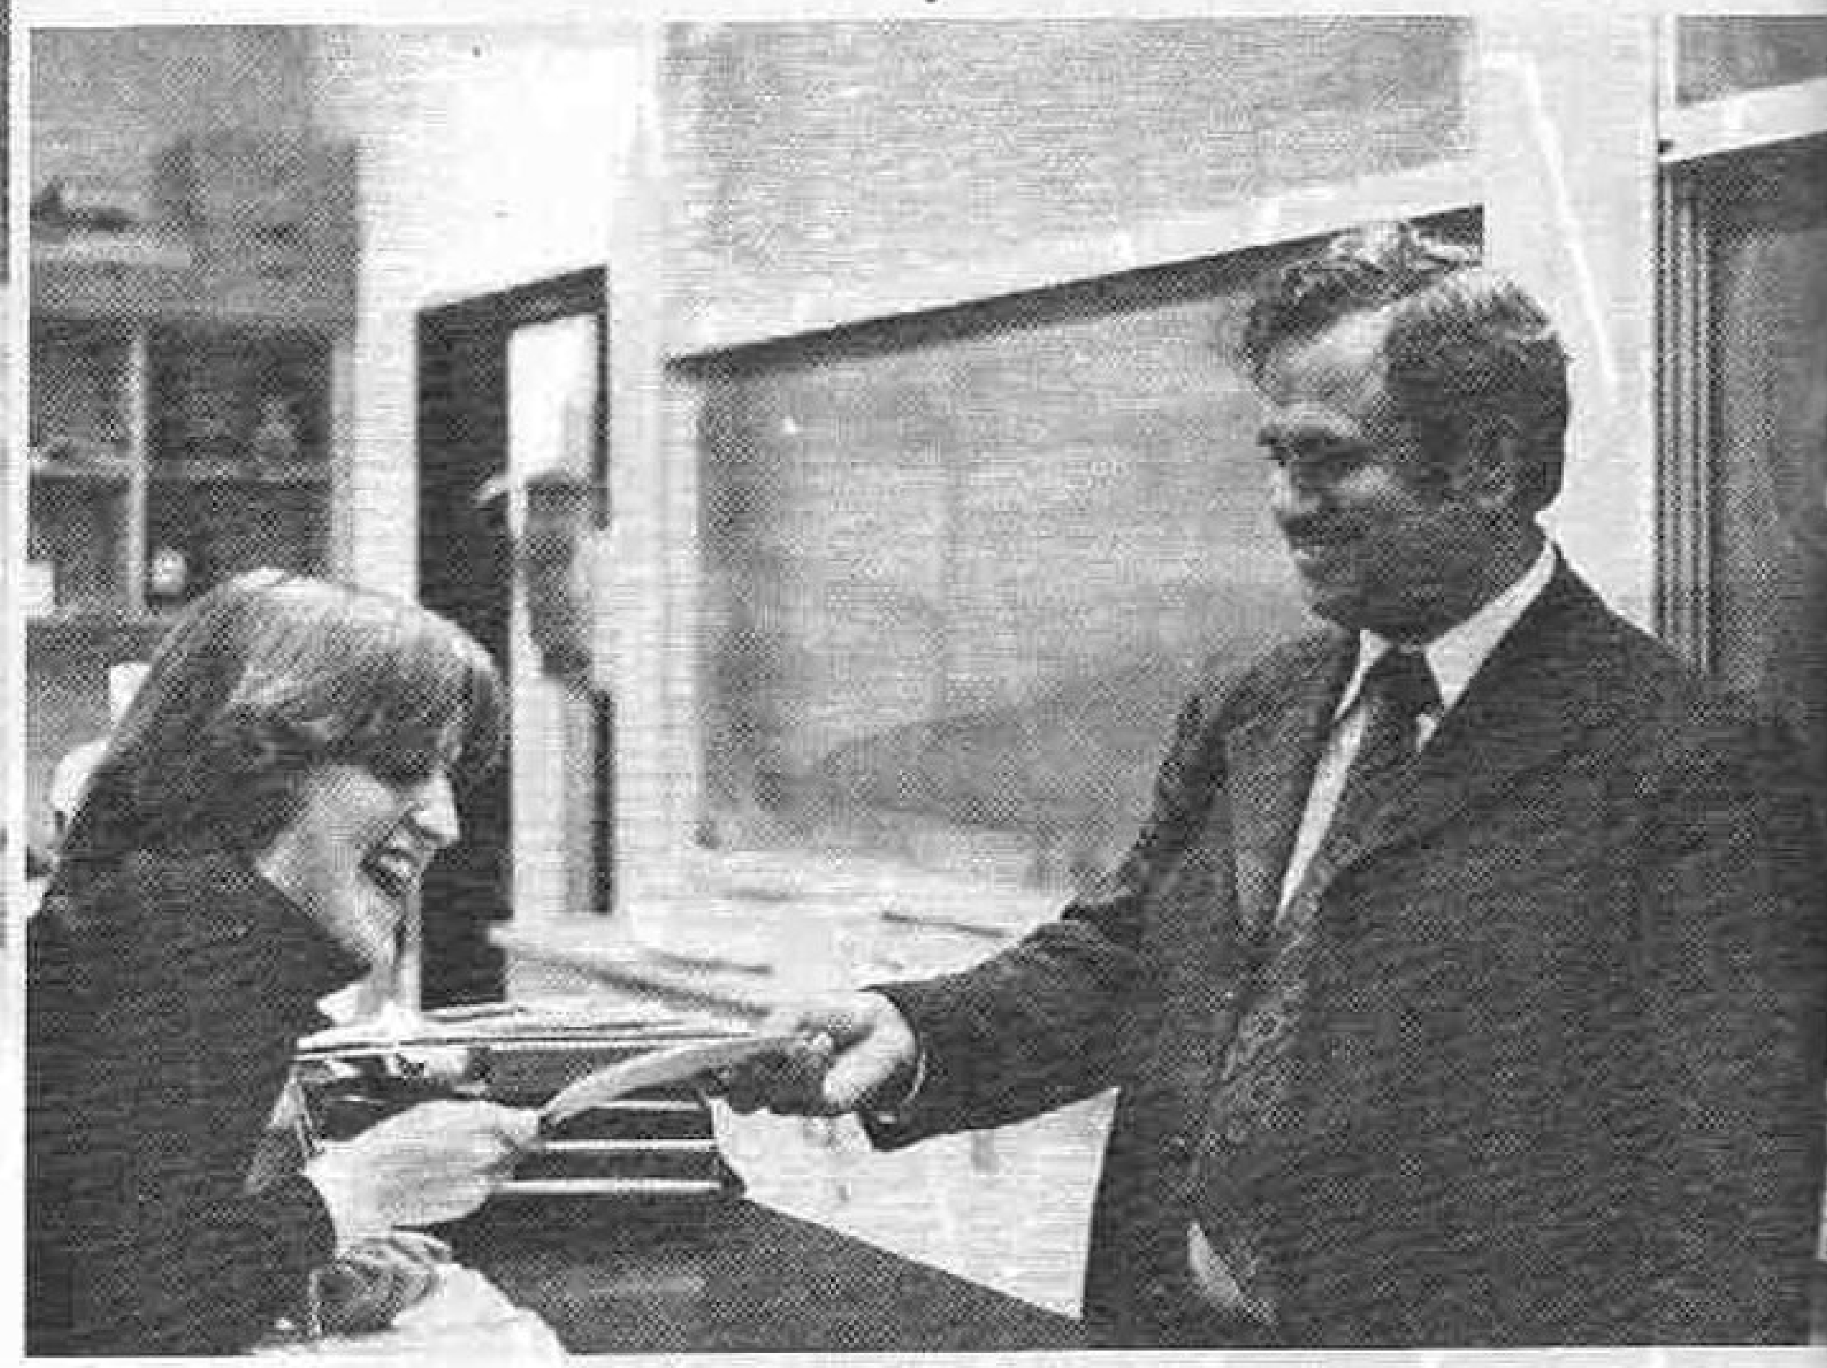

Congratulations to each and every one of you, for a job well done!

The Johnson and Milosh Music Factory

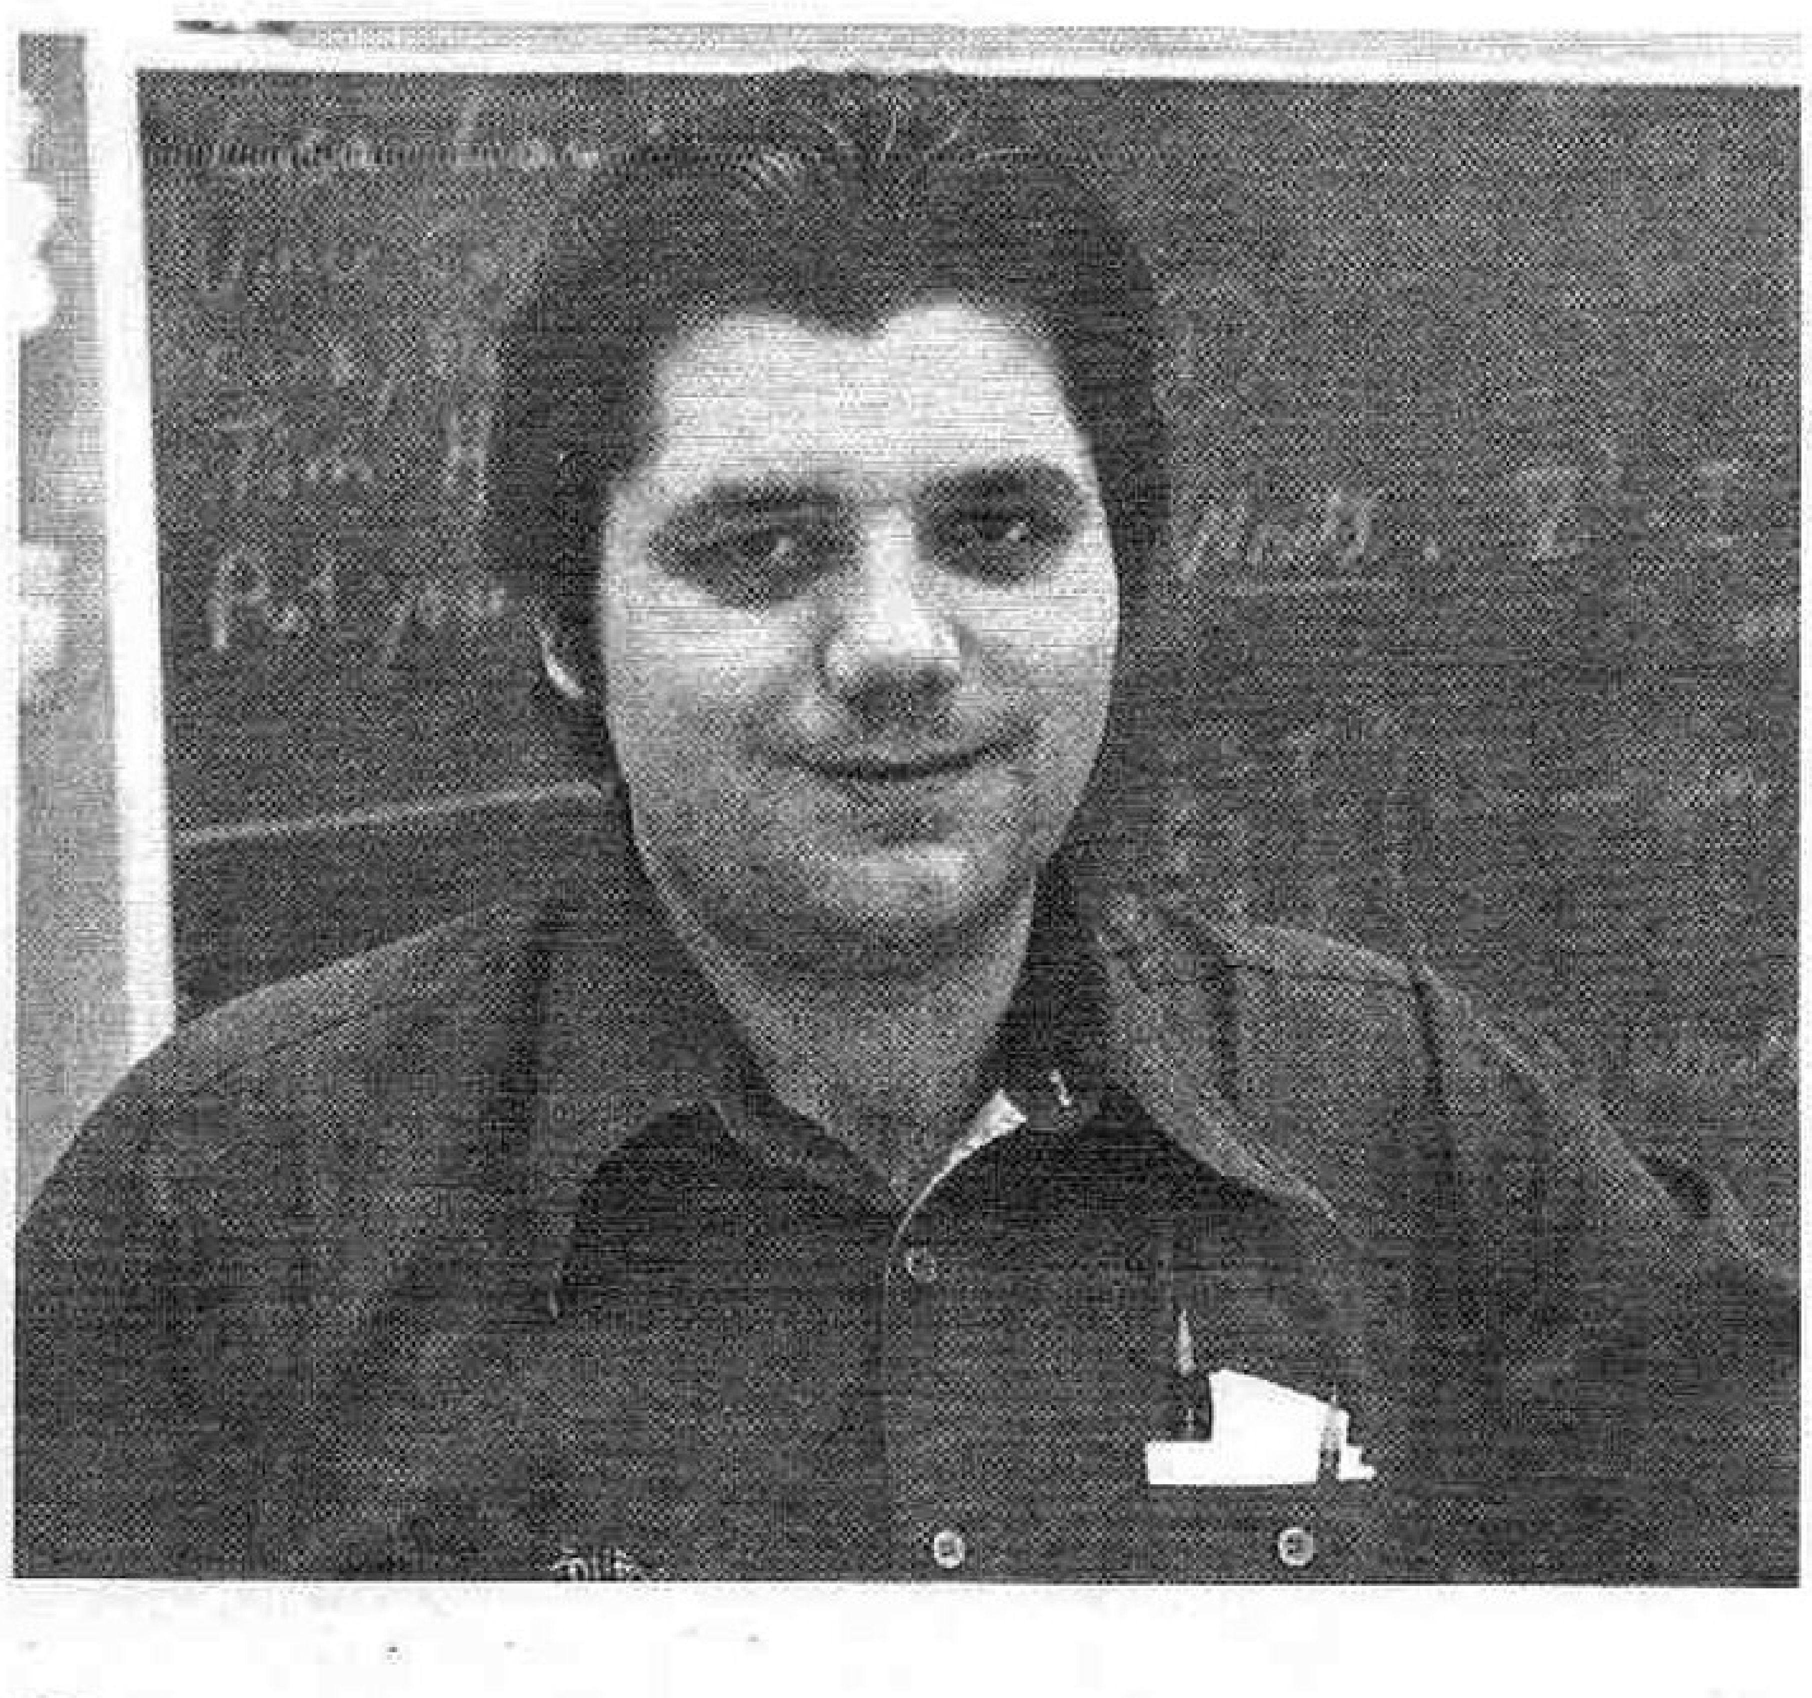

Mr. Johnson started his musical career as, yes you guessed it, a tuba player in his high school band. Currently, Mr. Johnson is working in a professional rock group where he plays the guitar. He enjoys all types of music: jazz, rock and classical. Besides participating in his high school band, Mr. Johnson played volleyball and basketball, and was involved in theatre arts.

Here, at Weston, Mr. Johnson is an aspiring music teacher and conducts various school bands. He helps to co-ordinate the music for school plays and loves the co-operation between the music department and the play production committee. His goal is to stay active professionally, both as a teacher and musician. His philosophy in education is, "If you want to get a lot out of school, you've got to get involved. If you're not involved, you miss one of the most interesting and valuable parts of school."

Sue Vella

Mr. Milosh is the head of Weston's music department. He was the conductor of last year's musical A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE FORUM. This year, he was the choral director of OLIVER. Mr. Milosh plays violin in a North York Orchestra. He has been playing the violin since high school.

One might ask, "Why would someone want to become, of all things, a music teacher?" Mr. Milosh said he has wanted to become a teacher since high school. He has accomplished this goal and loves it. "What more could you ask for once you've accomplished your goal?" asks Mr. Milosh.

"A Funny Thing Happened . . . "

It certainly did. Last years production of A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE FORUM, was a huge success. Standing ovations on three sold-out nights were absolute proof. Mr. Hockin out-did himself in the most ambitious undertaking to date. All told, there were over 150 people involved. To name them all would take the entire page. Therefore, we acknowledge you all with one great big —

Congratulations!!!

Everyone was in the dark (literally!!) when the curtain went up for the December production of BLACK COMEDY. The play, directed by Sue Devine, was a story of a power failure. It may not SOUND exciting, but if you were one of the many who attended, the plot kept you on edge. All of the hard work by the cast and crew went down in the history of Weston productions as another success. Congratulations to all and keep up the good work!!

AMERICAN DREAM

CAST

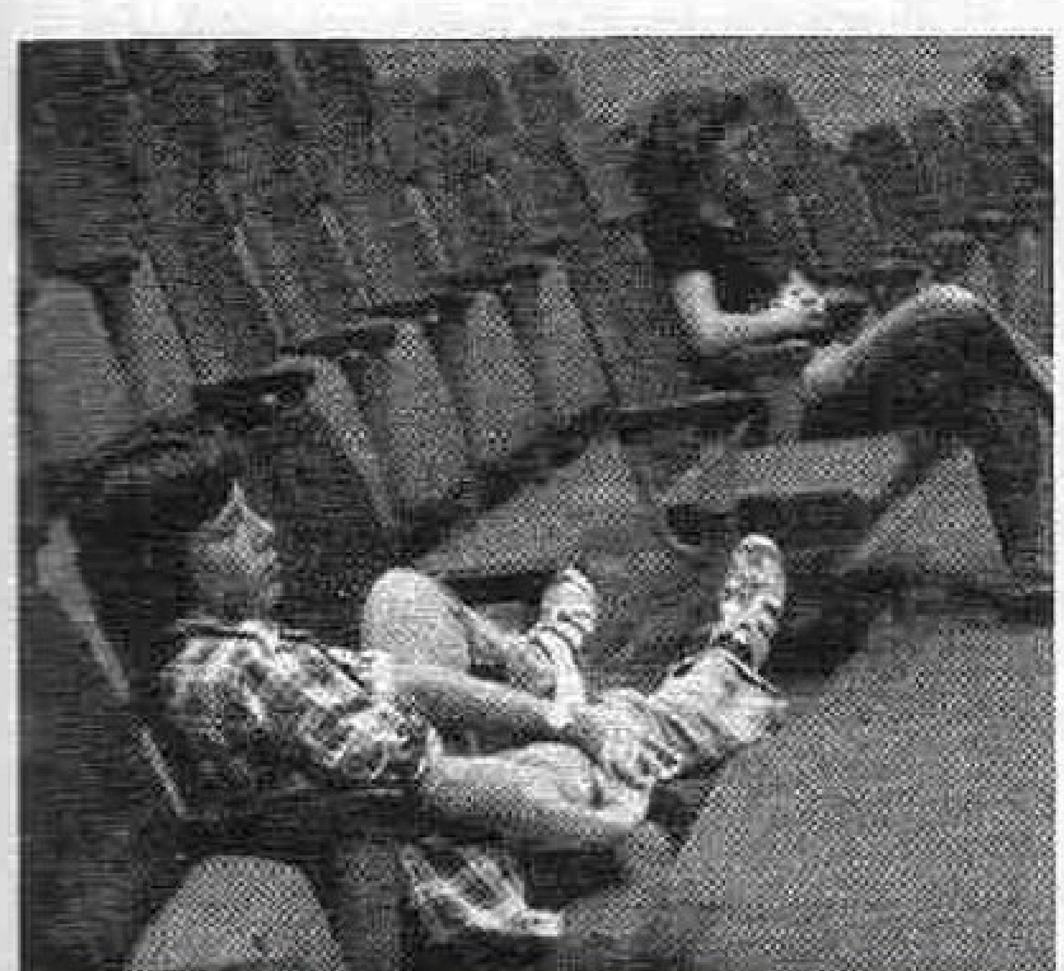

Mommy: Tracy Creelman
Daddy: Mark Doucette
Grandma: Susan Scott
Mrs. Barker: Drina Jolic
American Dream: Roderick Knipe
Director: Peter Miller

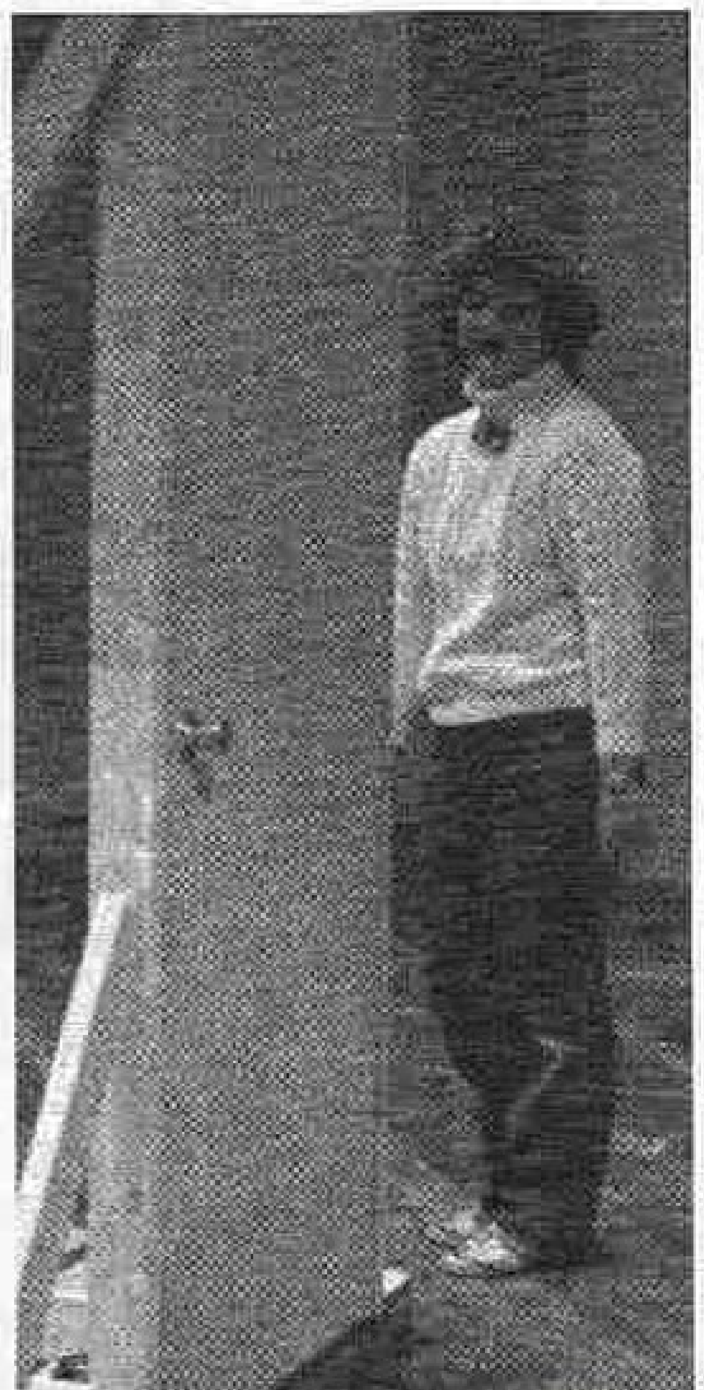

The curtain arose with yet another performance, THE AMERICAN DREAM by Edward Albee. This was Weston's first exposure to THE THEATRE OF THE ABSURD (?? the type of comedy it was). The audience was also a little reluctant to accept the portrayal of Albee's average American family. Grandma, played by Susan Scott, a newcomer to Weston, captured the hearts of the audience. I cannot fail to mention all those who worked extremely hard off stage. The actors began one to two months ahead of opening show but the crew began 8-10 weeks ahead. They had to construct two sets (both designed by Patti Harris) which needed the devotion and hard work that everyone put into them. These people are currently working on the spring production of OLIVER.

Pass vigilantly along the path of life. Observe closely for signs of contentment and joy and pass over quickly regions of anxiety. If doubtful of the direction one should procede to go, follow the course your heart does lead. When encountered by obstacles which bind you back, cross over them carefully; checking for meanings hidden within. For many continue without checking their blind spots, and continue along a dead end street.

Cross-Country

In the T.D.I.A.A. Cross-Country Ski meet at Horseshoe Valley this year, our team finished 7th in the 5Km RELAY RACE and 8th in the 10Km TEAM RACE. Considering that this was the first time the boys had entered an actual race the results were most gratifying.

Downhill

Once again this was the first time in actual competition for our ski team. The "A" team's results in the T.D.I.A.A. races at Beaver Valley were most satisfactory. During time trials, Wayne Dobis was our fastest racer. We had 10 boys competing in the "B" division at the same races and Dave Berto finished 8th out of over 100 skiers from other schools.

Next year we are looking forward to expanding our ski teams and perhaps achieving even better results.

Excellent turnouts at the beginning of the year produced an optimistic outlook for the season ahead. For many of the boys, trying out for the team was their first exposure to the sport.

During league play, Weston received its first loss at the hands of Runnymede C.I., who eventually went on to win the York trophy. The 78-79 team didn't let the weight problems keep them down too long. They bounced back, worked harder, and pulled together to muster up another great wrestling year.

The three York B Champions, along with two 2nds and three 3rds, helped Weston come in second in the championships. In the A championships Weston again showed excellent promise with 5 first place finishers: more than any other competing team.

The year ended with the TDIAA finals where Parsurum Durga received a third place finish. Next season many of the smaller-weight-class wrestlers will be back. The team hopes that more middle and heavy weight wrestlers will be attracted to come out and compete for what we believe to be a championship team.

We are the Champions. The Junior Ironmen, who, after finishing second in the league standings, came back, and defeated York Memorial in the semifinals, thus qualifying to meet George Harvey in the finals. George Harvey was undefeated in regular season play, but their string of victories was over as Weston defeated them on two wins and a tie to win the Championship. This was our first Junior Championship. For a number of players, this was the result of a three year effort; however, the rookies on the team also contributed greatly to our success.

"Watch out for us next season." That was the battle cry as the season ended for the Junior Ironmen. This was their most unsuccessful season as the team failed to win a game, losing all six regular season games. Disappointing as it may seem, the team possessed a great deal of spirit, dedication and ability. In no game was the team beaten by more than a few points, and with a bit of luck and a break here and there, the team could easily have won four or five games. However, part of the education derived from participation in sport is "knowing how to lose and live with it, then to work harder next year and be optimistic for better results".

Senior Football — York Champs

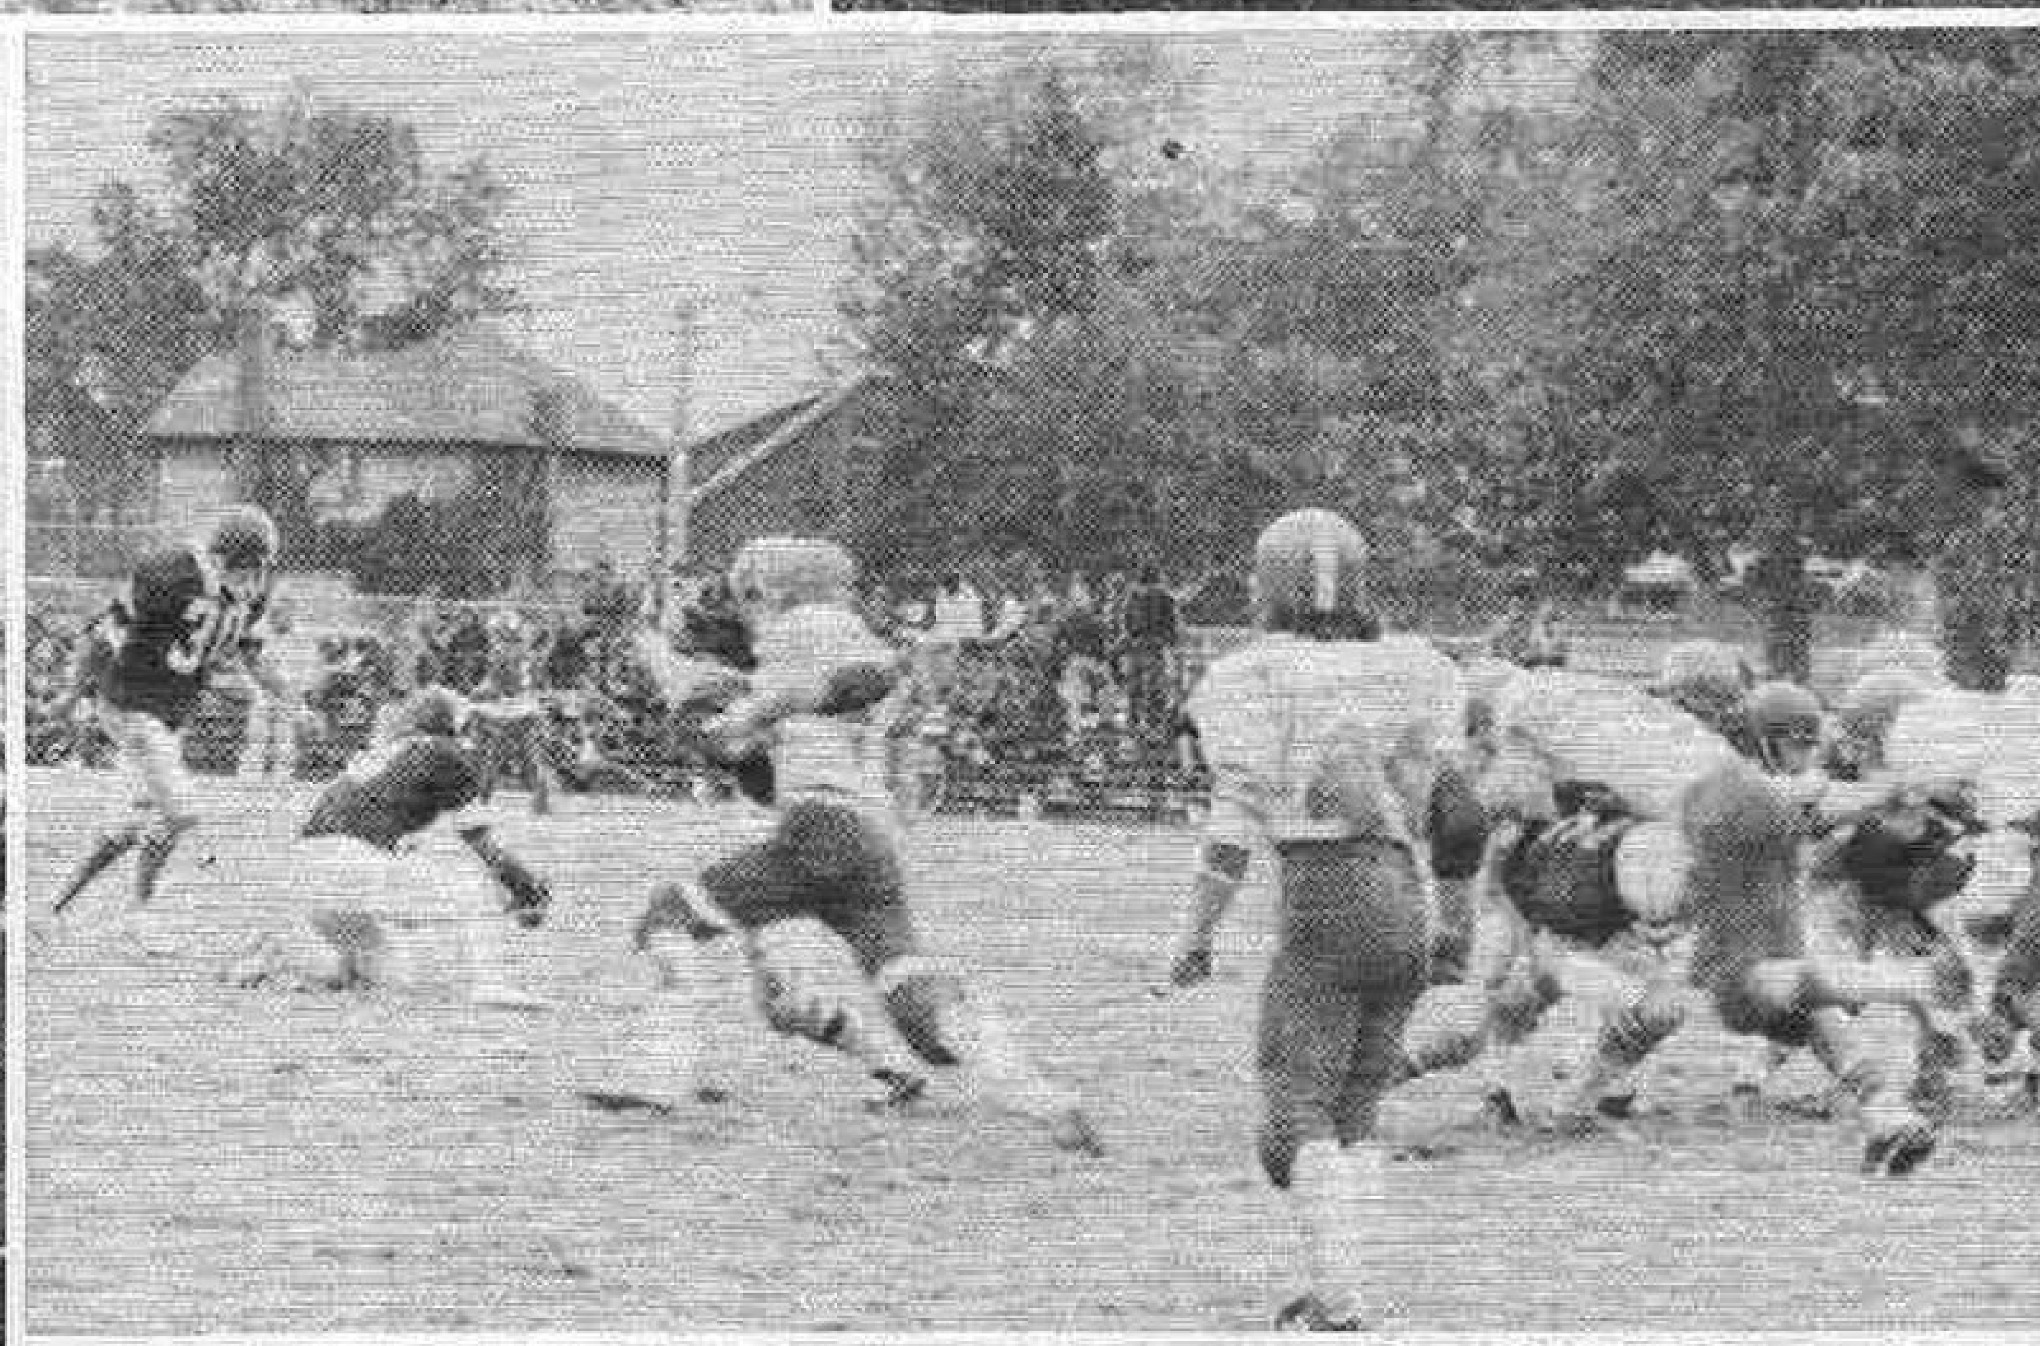

This year the Senior Ironmen defended their Championship with real class by winning the York title for the second straight year. The Ironmen fought to a 5-1 season only losing to Runnymede 16-15, but defeating East York on their own turf 15-7. The semifinal game against York Memorial proved to be the most exciting game of the season, a victory of 17-14 in overtime. The finals were again held on Weston's home field, this factor proved to be East York's only downfall since they fell to a second straight shutout in the finals, losing 11-0. Many thanks are extended to Mr. Castillo, Mr. Whitaker, and Mr. Kerins for their dedication throughout the season and special thanks to the cheerleaders and fans.

VOLLEYBALL 1978

This year's Junior and Senior Volleyball teams were made up of hard working and dedicated athletes. The daily practices were vigorous physical activities. These factors along with the players' personalities contributed to a successful year in volleyball.

In regular season play the Junior Ironmen lost one match against East York to fall into a tie for first place. Not bad for our team's second year!

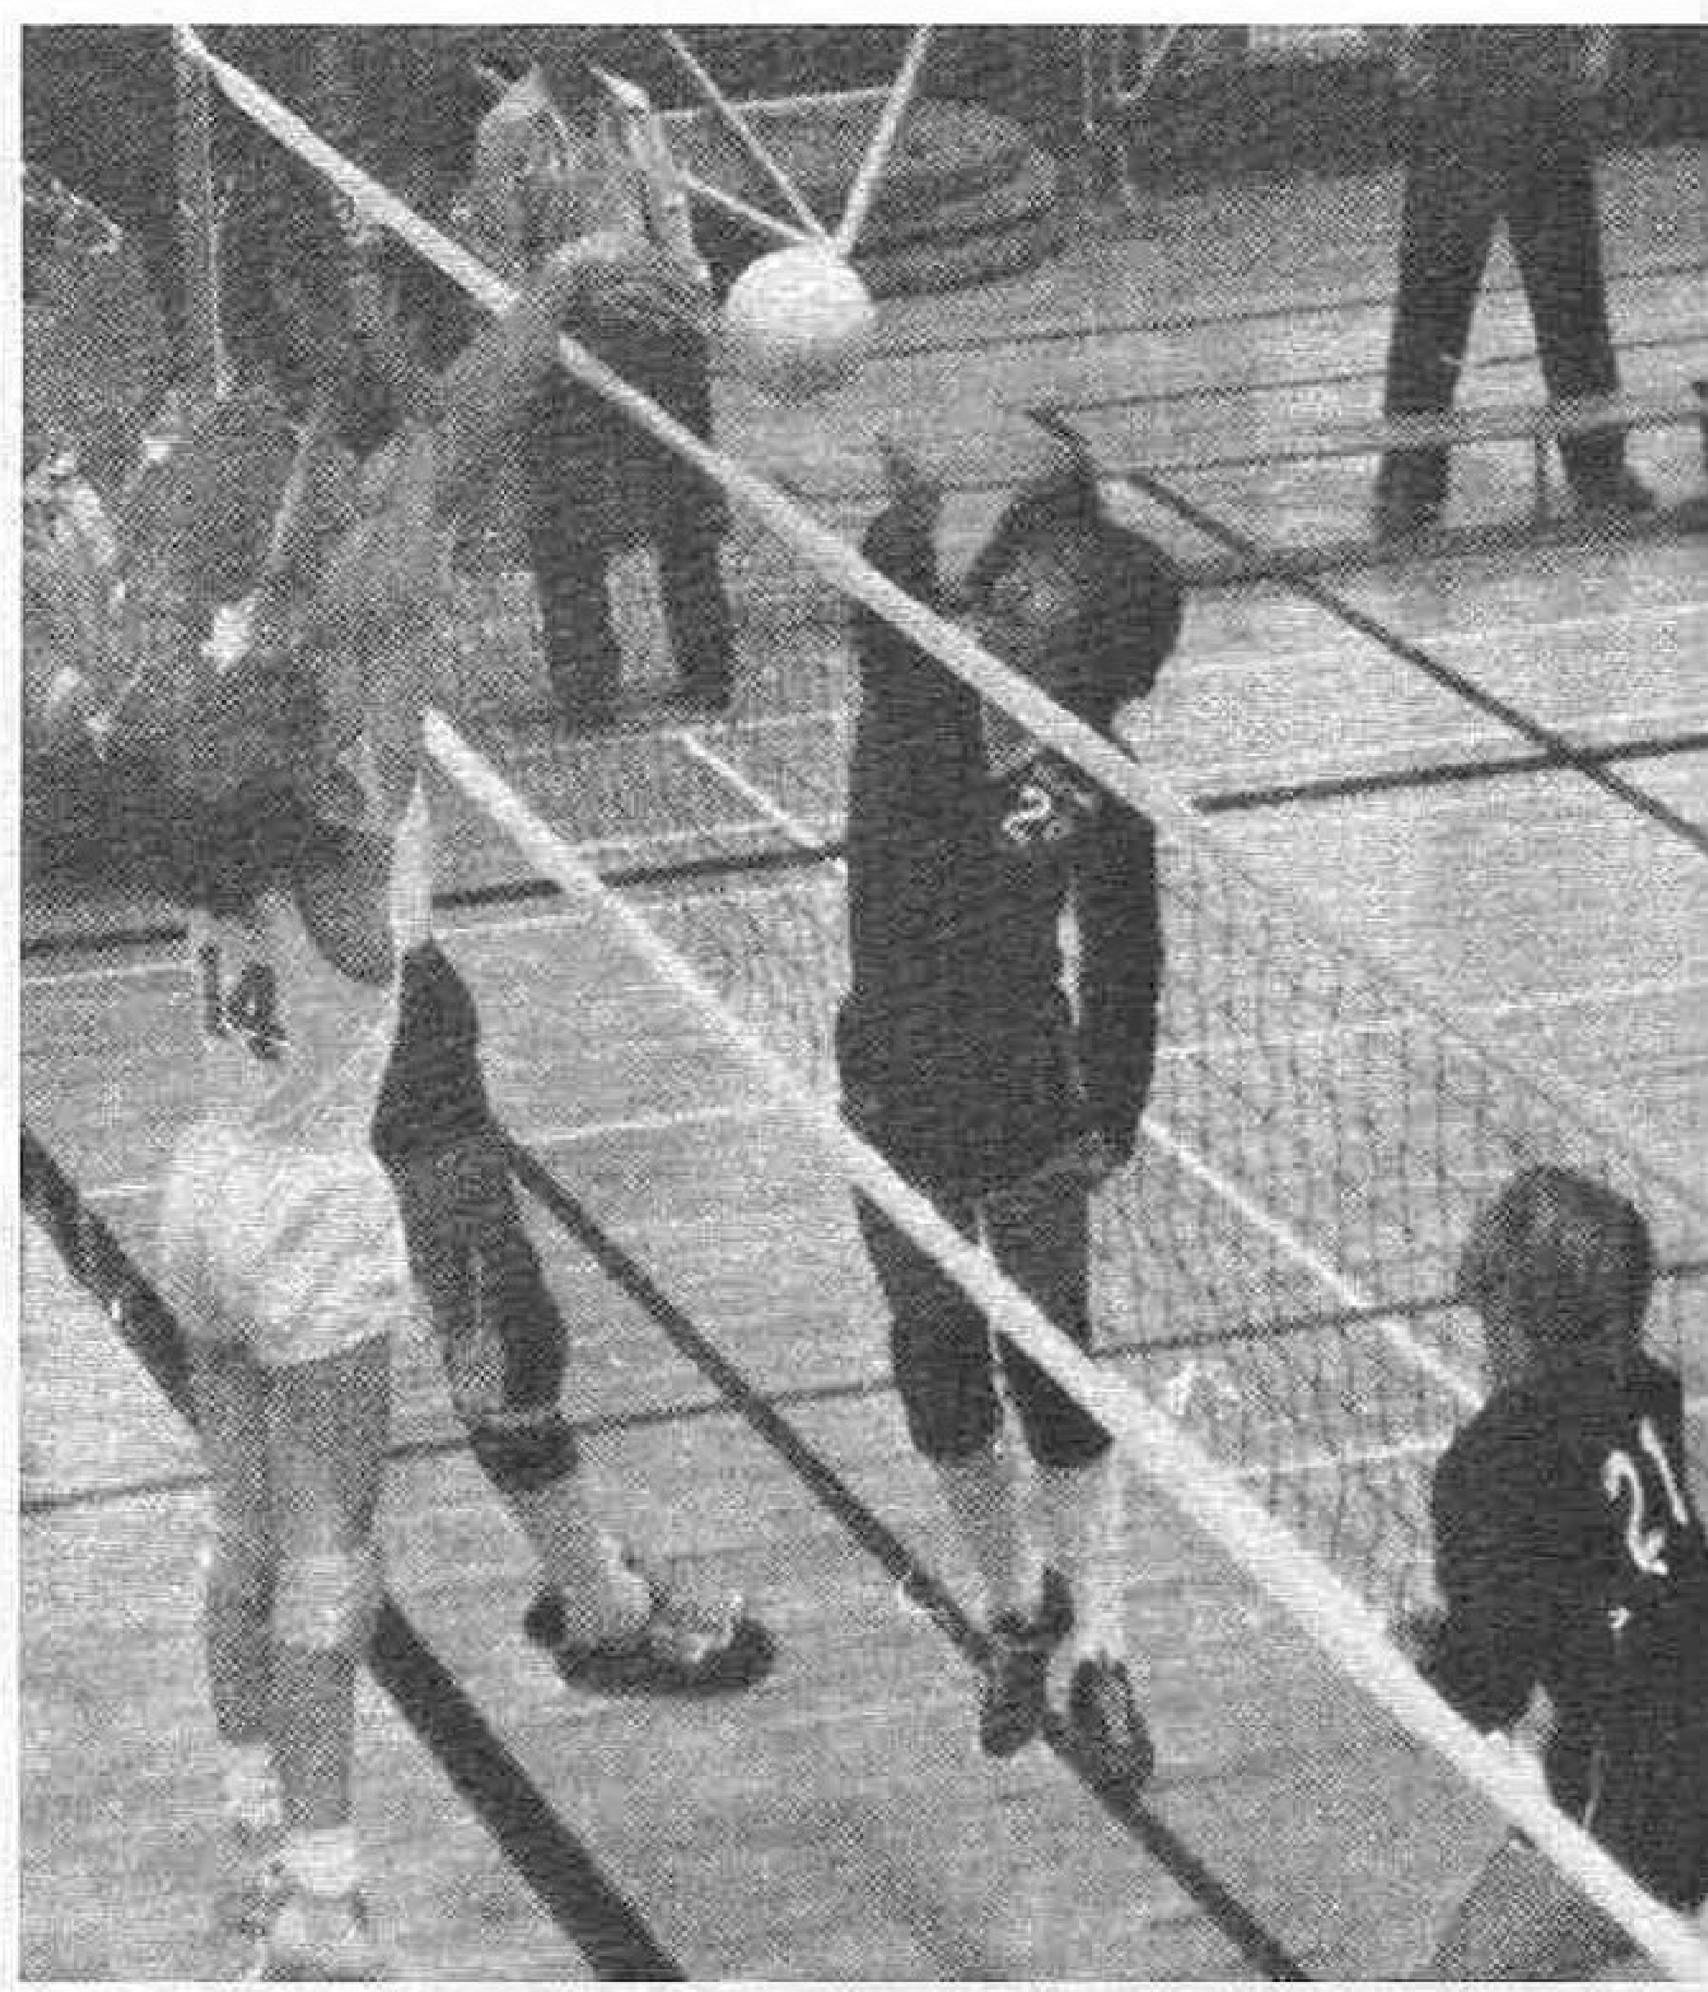

Weston beat U.T.S. in the quarter-finals to move on against East York in the semis; however, as athletics goes, the Goliaths' home court advantage beat the junior team. The '78' junior team led by Dave Stuckless and Leo Doherty promises to be a real threat to York Volleyball in the near future.

After three years, the senior team, under the set-up play of Russ Smuntochilla and Rhett Butler and the power spiking of Phil Snider and Ivar Mikelstein brought Weston out of the volleyball cellar. This year the Ironmen compiled wins over the Leaside Lancers and the defending champions, the George Harvey Hawks. When the team went into the playoff schedule they unfortunately lost to East York in the first round.

The 1978 season was the last year for all of the senior team players. I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of them for their patience and dedication.

Good Luck and Happy Volleying,

Coach Williams

YORK CHAMPIONS 1978-79

This year, the Swim Team won the York Championships for the seventh straight year! Then, the Junior Boys, Junior Girls, and the Senior Girls went on to win the T.D.I.A.A. Team Championships as well. This brought Weston's total to eleven team championships this year alone.

In addition, Weston swimmers won all five high-point individual trophies too. These went to Kevin Stinson, Danny Jung, Harry Zandbergen, Marisa Umnuss, and Michelle Davies.

We answer you a) Not Much, b) This Book, c) We hope that we, by preparing this book, have in some way helped you carry at least one more memory along with you. If we succeed in doing that, then all of our late nights, warm pop, cold pizza and other frustrations have been worthwhile.

On January 25, we were confronted with a tragic experience. It was a date we will always remember, but we did not halt our year for it. We re-doubled our efforts to make this school year better. Mr. Irving said, "My hope is that . . . each of us; teachers, students, caretakers and secretaries, will consider a rededication of our efforts to truly communicate with each other, to sensitively co-operate with each other and to direct our energies so that each of us might reach our full potential as human beings. Even if we were to make small gains in these areas, what a memorial that would be." There was indeed a greater understanding. We noticed a greater closeness amongst the school body. Walking down the halls we saw more smiles and heard more "hellos" amongst the staff and students. Everyone realized the fragility of life and valued each other more.

We received numerous letters and cards from schools, parents, and friends from all over the province. We were overwhelmed by their concern and thank them sincerely. We also owe thanks to Barrie Hospital, who handled the situation so expertly, the Barrie High School, for setting up the coffee shops for the parents of the injured, and to all the ambulance workers who responded so willingly to the call. There were so many others who helped us during this time. They were all there when we needed them.

To the students who were involed in the accident, we are glad that they are still with us. May they respond as the Harris family did with strength and understanding. To Brent Newsome, Van Sanders, and Robert Scrace, may they recover quickly for we miss them greatly from our midst. May they, and their families and friends, know that our prayers and thoughts are with them constantly.

However, our greatest gratitude goes to Scott Cameron, Seth Gruber, Patty Harris, and Michael Hurley, for it is they who have created such a closeness and appreciation of life such as we had never before experienced, though we wish that it could have been accomplished some other way. May their family and friends know that our thoughts and prayers are with them. If we may quote the Harris family's letter, "If there is any lesson to be learned from this, it is that together we are strong and that together we can bounce as high as we are low."

The student council formulated a Memorial Fund, in which we were able to participate. Various businesses of Weston generously donated to this fund. A game between the Screaming Eagles and the N.H.L. Oldtimers was played and all proceeds went toward this fund. This is all well and good, but let us never forget that the most important memorial we could ever make, would be to make ourselves better people. May we always be determined to achieve this goal, and make this the greatest memorial.
